The widow and children of Robert Short, Salem log truck driver-hero who died in an Oregon City crash last week, were introduced Wednesday to Gov. Paul Patterson (right) by an Oregon City eivic delegation. The group obtained the governor's support of their application to the Carnegie Foundation for recognition of Short's heroism in staying with his out-of-control truck to avoid hitting street crowds. Pictured with governor in his office at the Capitol are (left to right) Linda, Richard, David and Mrs. Short. (Story on Page 1.) (Statesman Photo.)

Access Roads

The Hayesville problem, Snyder said, is caused by access roads to the expressway, and interchange just south of the school. The superintendent said "it is grade school children to safely cross the fast-traveled roads twice in order to get to and from school. The cost, he said, would be about $1,000 a year. Patrolman Removed

The board was also told that Snyder had received a letter from the city stating it could no longer provide a patrolman for duty at a school crossing at 23rd and State Streets.

No action was taken by board members on 15 bids received to supply the district's fuel oil and petroleum products. Bids, which reflected a slight increase over last year, were submitted by Howard J. Smalley, Standard Oil Company, Tidewater Associated Oil

County Studies Road Opening

Work probably will be done this fall to provide a county road connecting Market Road 56 with the Oregon gravel and rock operation south of the airport, County Engineer John Anderson said Wednes

The county court approved work on the road Wednesday morning after Anderson submitted a survey of the area and pointed out the county already has right of way for the road although only a small part has been improved. About 800 feet of the road requires work.

The road will go westward across the main line of the Southern Pacific tracks to connect with the market road. The county has yet to seek railroad permission to cross its right of way.

Crooner's Wife Seeks Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (UP) - Singer Mel Torme was sued for divorce Wednesday by his wife, former actress-model Candy Toxton, 29, who charged him with unspecified acts of cruelty.

The divorce action was filed in Santa Monica Superior Court only seven weeks after the birth of the couple's second child Melissa. They also have a son, Steve Michael, 2. The couple was married in Chicago Feb. 11, 1949, and separated Aug. 15, the complaint said.
