Salem C of C Preparing for Busy Year

Four major divisions of the Salem Chamber of Commerce have scheduled meetings this week and early next week to begin planning for what Chamber officials anticipate as a very busy year ahead.

Scheduled to meet this week are the publicity and public relations division on Monday; agriculture-natural resources division, Wednesday; metropolitan planning, Friday; and membership relations, next Monday.

All meetings are scheduled for the Marion County Court chamber and will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Committee chairmen for the eight new Chamber divisions are James L. Payne, publicity and public relations; Junior Eckley, conventions, visitors and recreation; Sidney A. Boise, membership relations; Clair Brown, industrial committee; Edmund Attebury, commercial committee; Robert D. Gregg, metropolitan planning; Edwin Schreder, civic committee; and F. R. Hobart, agriculture and natural resources.

The new committee structure is geared to the expanded activity program the Chamber is undertaking after a successful membership and finance drive this summer.

Canby Youth's Conservation Exhibit Wins

A rack of fish food specimens, plus photos of the insects in their natural habitat, brought top honors to Wesley Todd, 14, Canby, in the 4-H conservation exhibit competition at the Oregon State Fair this year. This was the first year of such competition.

Included in Wesley's exhibit were samples of a snakefly larvae, diving beetle pupal, water boatman and stonefly larvae.

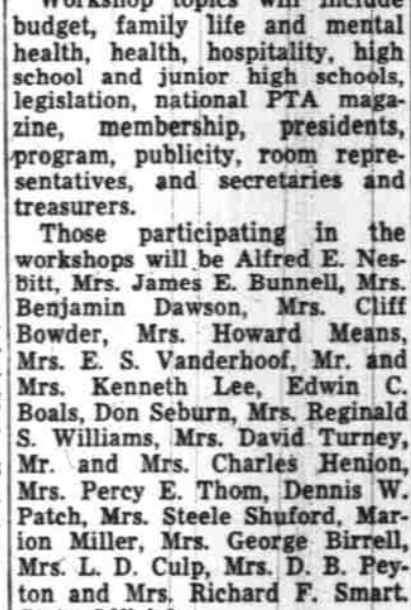

Most of this year's exhibits were of fish food essential to keeping the streams stocked with game fish.

Japanese Movie Scheduled Here

A Japanese movie, "Genbaku Noko," will be shown Tuesday at 8 p.m. at First Christian Church under sponsorship of the Salem Fellowship for Reconciliation.

The film has English subtitles and was reviewed by the Manchester Guardian as "... simply the most moving human document I know (apart from Hershey's Hiroshima book) against atomic war as such."

Top Cooking Talent at Oregon State Fair

Top cooking and canning talent in 1955 State Fair competition is personified in the accompanying photos. Crowned "Queen of the Kitchen" in the Fair's Food Department contest was Mrs. John Schweizer (left), of Tillamook, whose total of 153 points from 53 exhibits was highest of any entrant. In top photo two Salem women and a Silverton entrant show tasty exhibits that helped make them top contenders in the queen contest. At left is Mrs. James Turnbull, superintendent of the Food Department and presenting awards at right is Helene Huges, director of the Fair's revue. The three happy contestants are, left to right, Mrs. Olson, Silverton, second with 142 points; Mrs. Tom D. Pomeroy, Salem, third with 138; and Mrs. Dale Mallicoat, fourth with 118 points. Vehicle Hurts Pedestrian

A pedestrian sustained minor leg injuries about 12:30 a.m. Saturday when hit by a car at State and Commercial streets, city police said.

The injured person was listed as Robert Lee Evans, 2823 Brooks St., and officers said driver of the vehicle was Louis Edward Kurth Jr., 495 W. Browning Ave. Evans' injuries reportedly consisted of knee abrasions and bruises. He did not need hospitalization. Police said Kurth told them he was making a left turn and did not see Evans.

Old Age Catches Oregon City Historical Tree; Cutting Due

Old age and disease have caught up with a historical Oregon tree. The State Highway Department said Saturday it was regretful to announce that the Abernethy Catalpa tree near the west edge of McLoughlin boulevard at 18th street in Oregon City must be cut down.

The tree recently developed a lateral crack near its base which has caused considerable concern as the tree leans far out over the heavily traveled Pacific Highway.

The tree was planted more than 100 years ago by George Abernethy, provisional governor of Oregon from 1845 to 1849. It was set in his backyard at the time when the road northward out of Oregon City ran along the edge of the Willamette river in front of his home. The residence was destroyed by high water in the flood of 1861.

Several years ago the Susannah Lee Barlow Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution called the attention of the Highway Department to the historic value of the tree. Steps were taken immediately to give it maximum protection by building a curb around the tree and placing a heavy chain above the main crotch to prevent the tree from splitting.

Catalpa trees normally reach maturity in about 100 years. Because of the age of this tree, increment borings were made by Alvin Parker, farm forester for Clackamas county and they disclosed that the trunk was badly decayed. So the Highway Department decided to cut down the Catalpa to prevent further hazard to highway traffic.

Morse Asks ICC Probe of Car Shortage

Sen. Wayne L. Morse wants the Interstate Commerce Commission to conduct a "very searching investigation" into the freight car shortage problem in Oregon.

In a letter to the ICC chairman requesting the investigation, the Oregon Senator said his information indicates the shortage is "most acute in the areas of Oregon where the Southern Pacific Railroad offers the sole source of rail freight transportation."

He also asked the agency to reappraise the whole rail freight transportation system at the earliest possible date.

Morse said figures showing net railway operating income lend support to the charge that railroads are concentrating too heavily on amassing profits and too little on rendering the public the kind of rail service to which it is entitled.

C of C to Hear Prison Head

Warden Clarence T. Gladden of Oregon State Prison will speak at the Salem Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday on "Penal History of Oregon."

Gladden made a study of the state's prison history when he was called out of retirement to become warden here in 1953.

He became warden after 25 years' federal prison work including service at Leavenworth as top assistant warden. He started his career with city police and state prison guard work in California.

New Franklin Stamp Due

A new one-half cent stamp bearing the likeness of Benjamin Franklin will be placed on sale for the first time Oct. 20, the opening day of the Washington Jubilee Exhibition.

The stamp was designed by Charles R. Chickering and the Franklin likeness was reproduced from a portrait in pastel from the book "The Pictorial Life of Benjamin Franklin, Printer."

Stamp collectors can get first-day cancellations by sending addressed envelopes to the Postmaster General, Arthur E. Summerfield, with money order remittance to cover the cost of the stamps.

Eight assumed business names were filed this past week with the Marion County clerk.

Those filed were: Four Corners Barbecue, Salem, by Claude Kilgore and Emery Hendrickson; Harold's Barber Shop, Woodburn, by Harold L. Buchanan; C & C Farmer's Market, Salem, by Frank and Ethel Coates; Summer Line Equipment Company, Salem, by Emmett Summersville Jr.; Al Clemons' Mobil, Silverton, by Alden Clemons; Salem Morse Sewing Center, Salem, by N. H. Smith; Center Street Trailer Court, Salem, by J. H. Thompson; and The Gift Box, Salem, by John H. and Genevieve Kolb.

Articles of incorporation were filed by the Turner Logging and Trucking Company a firm to do hauling and transporting logs and timber products and other freight goods.

Incorporators of the firm were R. J. Turner, Gayle Sikinger and William Dohson.

Independence Youth Top in Shearing Feat

Dewey Cummins, Central High School, Independence, managed to get his sheep de-wooled in 5:50 minutes to beat out Everett Decker, Corvallis, who made it in 6:25 in the annual sheep shearing contest held as one of the final FFA events at the 1955 Oregon State Fair which closed early this morning.

Cummins did the shearing job with a score of 90.8 against Decker's score of 89.1.

Newberg FFA chapter was top place winner in three of the herdsmanship contests held Saturday afternoon. This chapter won out in swine, sheep and beef.

High individual scorer was Ron Brooks of Newberg in swine; Gary Wholgemuth of Newberg in sheep and David Ornduff, Newberg, top in beef. Howard Bennett is the instructor in the Newberg vocational agriculture division.

Jefferson FFA team was the top in poultry judging. Central of Independence, the top in dairy judging and McMinnville to top in livestock.

Driver Cited After Wreck; Tot, 4, Injured

A Salem area man was cited Saturday afternoon following a collision at Silverton and Fisher roads which resulted in minor injury for a small boy, state police said.

Elmer Conn, 2565 Ward Dr., was given a citation for failure to yield right of way, according to officers. The 4:15 p.m. accident apparently occurred, said police, when Conn drove from Fisher road and collided with a vehicle driven by Bobbie Jean Budlong, 686 Morgan St. Dennis Budlong, 4, son of the woman, suffered a leg bruise but did not require hospitalization.

Farm Home Unit Concludes Salem Meeting

The Oregon State Advisory Committee for the Farmers Home Administration completed a two day meeting Saturday at Salem according to K. W. Sawyer, state director, Portland. Members in attendance were Mrs. B. Josephine Fox, Silverton; James A. Leslie, Ontario; Owen M. Cook, Albany; John L. Niedermeyer, Medford; and J. R. Beck, Corvallis. Also in attendance were Grove Peterson, Independence, and James S. Smart, Salem, members of the Polk County Committee.

One of the main problems discussed was that of assisting family type farmers to enlarge their present farms or complete development of under-improved farms.

It was pointed out that 24 farmers in Oregon received loans to enlarge their farms and 100 farmers received loans to develop their land or buildings this past fiscal year. There will be additional funds available for this type of loan this year as a result of a recent Congressional action that will encourage banks and other local lenders to make additional funds available for insured farm enlargement and farm development loans.

Other personnel in attendance at the meeting included B. W. McVeigh, county supervisor, Salem; Cecil Youngstrom, area supervisor, Oregon City; and Walter L. White, farm loan officer, Portland. The State Advisory Committee will meet next March in Grants Pass to review problems prevalent in the Southern Oregon Area and make necessary recommendations for possible changes to adapt the program to the needs of the area.
