Dickinson-Wolfer Case Dismissed

Statesman News Service

DALLAS — A forcible entry and detainer action brought by Mrs. Lenora Dickinson against Russell and Irene Wolfer was thrown out of Polk County Circuit Court this week by Judge Val Sloper.

Judge Sloper replaced Judge Arlie G. Walker in hearing the case which was deliberated without a jury.

In making his decision, however, the judge allowed $300 to the plaintiff for back and allegedly due for use of beauty shop equipment by the Wolfers.

According to testimony, the defendants in 1932 leased equipment from Mrs. Dickinson, former operator of Sally's Beauty Shop, for the period of one year. The defendants claimed they notified the plaintiff to remove the equipment from the shop at the end of the lease period and subsequently ceased the rental payments. The real property was leased by Mr. and Mrs. Wolfer from Williams Investment Co.

The case was first heard in the West Salem justice court of Elmer Co. Judge, who ruled in favor of the defendants. It was appealed to circuit court by Mrs. Dickinson.

Buck Derby Prizes Listed

Statesman News Service

WOODBURN — According to Tom Ostrom, one of the judges of the buck derby held by the Woodburn Rod and Gun Club, the first prize for the biggest set of horns will be a 30-06 Remington rifle. The second prize, for the freak set of horns, will be an ice chest and the third prize, for the smallest set of horns, is a sleeping bag.

The 27th of this month is the final meeting during the derby. Horns to be considered must be brought to the meeting and be attached to solid skull.

Only this year's horns can be entered. Tickets must be purchased from any member of the club prior to hunting. Other judges are Ole Paulson and Cecil Omans.

Falcons Train As Mascots

DENVER (AP) — Five young falcons began training Thursday to be mascots for the U.S. Air Force Academy by feasting on mule and goat meat.

Capt. H.H.D. Heiberger, Jr., of the academy headquarters staff, explained that the mule is the mascot of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and the goat represents the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The falcons arrived here by air Wednesday from William F. Turner, a Washington, D.C. falconer.

There are 254 counties in the state of Texas.
