

Egyptian Dancers Rebuffed In Try for Red Arms Help

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Slee-eyed oriental dancers found their hip-swinging charms were not enough to get Russian financial support for Egyptian arms Saturday.

A galaxy of Egyptian movie stars and belly dancers called on the Soviet embassy for contributions as Egypt kicked off a big armaments week campaign.

A guard met them at the gate of the embassy, however, and politely explained "This is a political matter and the embassy prefers not to get involved."

The Russian refusal caused the dancers to cancel a plan to call on the United States and other foreign embassies for contributions.

But the dark-eyed beauties managed to stop traffic all over Cairo as they went from shop to shop and office to office to get contributions for arms from shopkeepers, street vendors, government officials and visiting tourists.

The campaign was suggested by popular enthusiasm for Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's announced deal to buy arms from Communist Czechoslovakia.

Police Claim Former Con Admits Slaying

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Ralph H. Reno, the ex-convict "with death in his eyes," was quoted by police Saturday night as admitting he killed his young reddish-blond stepmother at Los Angeles.

Ted Berrum, Reno police chief, and Los Angeles Police Sgt. Edward Kruger and C. C. Forbes quoted the 25-year-old car thief as saying "I hated her guts."

They said he had given no reason for the killing before they stopped questioning him and returned him to his cell for the night.

Reno had told police who questioned him repeatedly since his arrest Thursday night, that "trouble at home has been going on since I was 17 years old."

His stepmother, whose strangled and beaten body was found in a concrete culvert just west of the California - Nevada line Friday night, was just 11 years older than Reno.

Police quoted Reno as saying he fought with petite, plump Mrs. Stella Reno, that he strangled her and that he had another battle with his father, Andrew, 57, who came into the house while the first fight was in progress.

Reno's father had not been quoted thus far as telling anything about chancing upon the stepmother-son battle.

The son told police that after stabbing his father with a butcher knife he went to his room and got a gun that went off twice.

After that, police continued, he said he put the body of his 105-pound stepmother in the trunk of his car and left for Reno.

Tests will be conducted, officers said, to determine whether she had been raped.

Chief Berrum quoted Reno as saying "We got into a fight and I lost my head."

His father, calling in police after their fight Wednesday, advised patrolmen to "shoot him down like a dog" and described him as a man "with death in his eyes."

Korean Tot Reaches New Chicago Home

CHICAGO (AP)—A frightened little orphan of war arrived Saturday from Korea and found love and the prospect of peace.

Barbara Lee, 3, who has never known a home or a family, was greeted at Midway Airport with a shower of happy tears and kisses by her new foster mother, Mrs. Margaret Franklin of Benton Harbor, Mich.

She was escorted by Dr. Robert Pierce from Portland, Ore., where she arrived Friday with 11 other Korean war orphans.

Barbara, whose father was an American soldier, was left on a Korean doorstep after birth and brought up in an orphanage run by World Vision Inc. There are some 800 such children in the orphanage.

The child, whose Korean name is Lee Young Seon, clutched a bag of chocolate candy kisses as she met her foster mother and brother, Robert Franklin Jr., 8.

"What this child needs more than anything else is love," Dr. Pierce told Mrs. Franklin. "In Korea, these children of mixed parentage are outcasts."

As Mrs. Franklin picked up the tot, dressed in a colorful Oriental kimono, she said: "I'm happy to see you."

The other orphans were adopted by West Coast residents. They were brought from Korea by Harry Wood, a wealthy Oregon rancher. He and his wife, who have six of their own children, adopted eight.

Young Patient To Get Hair For Birthday

LEESBURG, Fla. (AP)—Little Lietta Spires is going to get some hair as a birthday present.

It hadn't arrived in time for her ninth birthday, which was Saturday, or for her birthday party tomorrow, but it's "for her birthday" just the same.

Lietta has a malignant brain tumor. Her head has been shaved several times for surgical operations.

Her hair had grown back only "in ugly patches," her mother, Mrs. D. J. Watson said. The girl has been very self-conscious about her appearance, even to the point of dropping out of school.

A few days ago Lietta marched down to a neighborhood beauty parlor and asked for some hair.

"I just couldn't take it," said the proprietor, Mrs. Jenny Swain. "I decided to take up a collection and get Lietta a blonde wig as much like her own hair as possible," Mrs. Swain related.

After raising $90 of the $100 needed, Mrs. Swain ordered the wig from a New York firm. She will pay the difference if no further donations are received.

Lietta is radiantly happy. As soon as the wig arrives, she intends to return to school. She is an alert student in the third grade and quite active despite her serious malady.

"We want her to have as much happiness as possible because of the seriousness of her trouble," the beauty operator said.

Lietta's stepfather is a truck driver. He and Mrs. Watson have two boys, 4 and 6.

Police Catch Rock-Tossing OSH Patient

Two state policemen dodged rocks and other missiles in a 15-minute chase Saturday morning to capture an escapee from the Oregon State Hospital.

State Officers George W. Simons Jr. and Norman Johnson started the chase when they answered a call to the area east of the hospital reporting that a man in blue denim clothing but no shoes was hiding in garages and automobiles. They chased him across the field east of the penitentiary and into Mill Creek where the fugitive took to throwing things at passing autos and pedestrians as well as his pursuers, according to Simons.

There he was cornered with the help of a prison guard.

Salem Police Cite D. Boone

The savage attacks of hostile Indians failed to halt the advance of famous pioneer trailblazer Daniel Boone. But Daniel Boone was stopped Saturday in Salem by a mild-mannered cop because of defective tail lights.

And he was forced to retreat in defeat when he found he could not produce a drivers license.

He said he had one but it was just mislaid, according to the police report, so he was cited to municipal court Monday.

Boone, who uses the middle initial "D" to avoid confusion, gave his address as 965 Leslie St.

Many Reported As Pro-Harriman In California

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic leader Carmine G. DeSapio, one of Gov. Averell Harriman's chief boosters for president, said Saturday he found a "surprisingly" large amount of pro-Harriman feeling in California.

DeSapio, who returned Friday night from the West Coast, added that the Democrats in the state of the Golden Gate who gave their backing to Adlai Stevenson—just before DeSapio got there—were guilty of "panicky and hasty" action.

The New York politician went out to California ostensibly to address a Columbus Day dinner. As the state's Democratic national committeeman and leader of the powerful New York County Democratic organization he has announced for Harriman many times.

Some have said his trip west was seen as really an effort to line up support for the eastern governor.

CHILDREN WARNED

Breakage of two windows in the Speed Shop, 340 Mission St., was investigated Saturday by Salem police on the complaint of Glenn Polz, proprietor. Children playing in the area were warned by police against further damage.

CHIANGS' JETS DOWN MIG

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist pilots in Sabre jets Saturday shot down their first Chinese Communist MIG in a dog fight about 120 miles north of Formosa, air force headquarters announced.

$50 PRICE OF LIFE

A South Salem woman Saturday turned over to police a typewritten letter demanding $50 or threatening death. Police said it seemed to be a children's prank.

'Ham' First to Tell of Wreck

Salem police received their first notification of an accident Saturday afternoon at 12th and State streets from a radio operator.

The message said the Oregon City police had been notified by an amateur radio operator who apparently had been in contact with an operator near the scene at the time of the accident.

Salem police a short time later received another message from the state police office at Milwaukee through the Salem district state police office. They also had been notified by an amateur radio operator.

The driver of the car halted but John got up and ran home, according to witnesses, and the car drove on before the name of the driver could be obtained.

Crash Hurts Young Cyclist

John Geren, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Geren, 1795 Berry St., received minor lacerations, a tooth was broken and his bicycle was damaged in a collision with an auto Saturday afternoon at Howard and S. Capitol streets, police said.

The driver of the car halted but John got up and ran home, according to witnesses, and the car drove on before the name of the driver could be obtained.

Portland Group Set Emmett Till Protest Rally

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People announced plans Saturday for an "Emmett Till protest rally" to be held here Nov. 10.

One of the speakers will be Mrs. Mamie Bradley, mother of Emmett Till, a 14-year-old Negro boy who was kidnapped and killed recently in Mississippi.

Mrs. W. H. Marple, Portland NAACP president, said that Portland churches were being asked to cooperate in "meetings of protest" over "hampering the Constitution of the United States."

Salem Youth Said Missing

The disappearance of a 13-year-old boy believed to be accompanying a soldier returning to a camp in California was reported Saturday to Salem police.

Mrs. Jessie Oden, 1790 Fairgrounds Road, said her son, Bob, 13, did not return home Friday.

Oden was described by his mother as 5 feet 4 inches, 120 pounds, with gray eyes, light brown hair, and wearing blue levis and a blue plaid shirt.

New Morocco Government Under Attack

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—A Moroccan council of the throne was finally formed Saturday night, but ran into prompt criticism from a spokesman of the most powerful of Morocco's nationalist parties.

Within three hours of Grand Vizier (Premier) Mohammed El Mokri's announcement of a four-man regency council appointed with French approval, acting Secretary Mohammed Lyaizidi of the Istiqlal (Independence) Party hotly attacked it.

Speaking after consulting other nationalist leaders now in Paris, Lyaizidi said the council as constituted was not in accord with the Aix Les Bains agreement worked out by Premier Edgar Faure's North African committee and representative Moroccan leaders.

He charged violation of the good faith of Istiqlal negotiators. The elderly Grand Vizier is one member of the council. Another who follows traditionalist policies is Tahar Ou Assou, 38-year old Berber chieftain. Appointees Mohammed Bekkai and Mohammed Sbihi, pasha (governor) of Sale, have nationalist leanings.

Lyaizidi said it was "a most curious thing" that the Grand Vizier presented the council as the guardian of the throne of Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, now retired in Tanjer. He said the Sultan's right to the throne had never been recognized by the Moroccan people.

Moulay Arafa was put in by the French two years ago after they had ousted Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, whom the nationalists favor.

The Istiqlal executive committee is expected to meet Sunday.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Citizen:

It is seldom, indeed, that the management of a Concert Series personally informs the public of a coming attraction. But this year, I personally feel that we have one of the most magnificent programs ever to appear in the Northwest. Our program includes—the "Carmen" from the Met—BLANCHE THEBOM, the Music Critic Award winner from the San Francisco Opera—CARL PALANGI, the eminent male choral group—THE WINGED VICTORY CHORUS, the world's most renowned pianist—ARTUR RUBINSTEIN and as an optional attraction, at a 10% REDUCTION to season ticket holders, the famed oriental dancing group—THE KABUKI DANCERS appearing April 15, 1956.

There you are!—Five splendid feature attractions appearing in one of the most beautiful auditoriums on the coast—THE WILLAMETTE AUDITORIUM. All the seats are RESERVED—plush and comfortable to give you five unforgettable evenings in concert. Remember, our first concert is next Friday night, Oct. 21, featuring Blanche Thebom.

It is sincerely a pleasure on behalf of the Concert Series at Willamette University to serve you in this respect. We hope you will choose to attend this year's program.

Sincerely,
BILL NELSON,
Concert Series, Manager
