Mrs. W. H. Bramley, 69, of 457 University St., injured Saturday when struck by an auto at 12th and State Streets, is "considerably better," her husband said. She will be confined in Salem General Hospital about 30 days, he said. Injuries were a broken pelvis and severe bruises.

B'Nai B'rith Conference in Salem Ends

A conference of Northwest B'Nai B'rith women concluded Sunday at the Marion Hotel with a luncheon and a series of workshops dealing with various topics.

The approximately 50 women from Northwest chapters of the Jewish organization heard a panel discussion of "This is B'Nai B'rith." Members of the panel were Mrs. John Golden, Salem, district committee chairman; Mrs. Allen Greene, Salem, state vice president; Mrs. Jerry Blum, Salem, general conference chairman; Mrs. John Colton and Mrs. Sidney Levene, Salem, counselor and former president of the Salem chapter.

Speakers included Mrs. Celia Lesman, Portland, northwest area chairman for district 4 and representative of the Supreme Grand Council; and Mrs. Joseph Feinberg, Portland, area chairman for Armed Forces and Veterans' affairs.

Chapters represented at the conference included Vancouver, B.C., Portland, Coos Bay, Eugene, Seattle, Spokane and Salem. Entertainment at the closing session was provided by pianist Karen Linn, Salem.

Mrs. Clingman Succumbs to Short Illness

Mrs. Irene Grace Bond Clingman, 91, died Sunday in the Methodist Home after an illness of about a month. A Salem resident since 1939, she lived at the Home about 10 years.

Mrs. Clingman was born Aug. 2, 1864, at Monroe. Her family moved in 1877 to Stevens County, Washington Territory, where she and Horace Clingman were married April 20, 1882. They lived on a farm near Fairfield, Wash., and later at Hatton, Wash.; Spokane, Wash.; and Shad, where Mr. Clingman died Sept. 27, 1936. A woman's circle of the Shed Methodist Church is named after Mrs. Clingman. She also was a member of First Methodist Church in Salem.

Mrs. Clingman leaves a daughter, Mrs. Lillian I. Arthur, Aumsville; two granddaughters, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Aumsville, and Mrs. Barbara Fish, Salem; three great-grandchildren, Trudy Lynn, Kathleen and Richard Miller, Aumsville; and numerous nephews and nieces in Washington, Oregon and California.

The funeral will be 10 a.m. Wednesday in the W. T. Rigdon chapel, the Rev. Brooks Moore officiating. Burial will be in Pine Grove Cemetery, near Halsey.

Record Price Predicted for Walnut Crop

Highest prices in the history of the walnut industry will be in effect this season, it was announced Sunday by the Northwest Nut Growers Association in Portland.

General Manager John E. Trunk advised that if opening prices can be maintained throughout the season, merchantable walnuts should return better than 10 cents per pound more to growers than last year.

Blue pirate large franquettes will be listed at 40 1/2 cents per pound—an increase of 10 cents per pound over last year. Other grades will show an even higher increase, it was reported.

200 Expected At Oregon U Conference

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene (Special) — Two hundred educators and school architects of the state will discuss current problems in school building and planning at the third annual School Plant Planning conference on the University of Oregon campus Oct. 27-29.

Sponsoring bodies for the meeting are the schools of education and architecture and allied arts in the university, the state department of education, Oregon Association of District School Superintendents, and the Oregon State School Boards association.

During the conference materials and plans submitted by school architects in Oregon and other states will be on display. School equipment and furniture will also be shown.

In conjunction with the main conference, district school superintendents will hold their annual fall meeting on October 27. The executive committee of the Oregon State School Boards association will convene just before the conference opening.

Dr. Miles C. Romney, associate professor of education in the university, is chairman of the planning committee for the meeting.

Dinner Club Speaker Due

Richard L. Evans, one of the "most listened-to voices on radio today," will be the next guest speaker for members of the Salem Knife and Fork Club. He will appear before the group Tuesday, Oct. 25, at the Marion Hotel.

School Readies Special Stickers For Halloween

The Salem school system again is taking steps to see that aged and ill persons are spared visits from "trick or treaters" on Halloween.

Available to such persons are special stickers to be placed in windows as a sign that occupants are not to be disturbed. The stickers can be obtained from elementary school principals and school children have been told to respect them, according to Charles D. Schmidt, assistant superintendent of schools.

The sticker is a black maltese cross on an orange background.

Commissions For Doctors Now Direct

Doctors and dentists subject to induction by Selective Service under the Doctor Draft Law now may apply for direct commissions in the Army Reserve and immediate call to active duty, according to Sixth Army Headquarters in San Francisco.

Others who have served less than 17 months in active military service are eligible to apply for commissions and assignments to units of the Army Ready Reserve. Inquiries concerning commissions may be addressed to the Commanding General of the Sixth Army, Presidio, San Francisco.

Stassen Asks Soviet Reply On Arms Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, presidential assistant on disarmament, Sunday night nudged Russia's United Nations chief to give a reply soon to President Eisenhower's plan for mutual air inspection.

Both Stassen and Arkady A. Sobolev, the Soviet's permanent U. N. delegate, appeared on the platform at the opening session of the annual New York Herald Tribune Forum.

Stassen said "I have several times asked my colleague, Mr. Sobolev, whether the Soviet Union would accept aerial inspection" as part of the President's proposals or as part of a permanent disarmament inspection system.

"I trust," Stassen added, "that he may soon be able to give the world the answer of the Soviet Union."

Sobolev, taking the microphone, did not specifically refer to the international aerial inspection idea, but he said he felt differences on disarmament between the two countries have narrowed.

He said it was unfortunate that the U. N. subcommittee on the subject "could not reach agreement" as yet, but he said Russia believed it possible for some mutually acceptable plan on reducing arms to be worked out.

"The Soviet proposals," he said, "provide for the establishment of control points in large harbors, railroad stations and airfields, the function of which would be to give

Swedes Vote to Retain Left-Hand Traffic Rules

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedes have voted to keep on the left side of the road, in traffic that is.

They turned out in the first blizzards of the season to register at the ballot box their convictions on a 40 million dollar question: Should Sweden change to right hand driving, like most of the rest of the world, or continue, like Britain, to have her traffic leftist?

By 10 p.m. it was evident the overwhelming majority preferred to keep things as they are. Returns from city areas showed a count 4-to-1 in favor of the status quo. In the countryside, it was 9-to-1.

The referendum is not decisive, but is meant to show public feeling in the matter before parliament takes a final stand on whether the change should be made. Forty million dollars is the estimated minimum that would be required for such things as replacing traffic signs, rebuilding street car tracks and revamping cars, buses and trucks to fit them for the right side of the road.

And a change would be mighty confusing to Swedish cows and poultry, which are used to walking on the left.

Advocates of the change emphasized it would increase Sweden's attractions for motor tourists and fit her better into the continental traffic pattern.

Utah Students Win First at PI Exposition

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A group of students from Utah State College took top team honors in the livestock judging contest at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition Sunday.

California State Polytechnic College was second. Then came University of Idaho, Brigham Young, Washington State, Oregon State and Fresno State.

Competitors from Utah State took high individual honors. Robert Olsen was first. Brent Thorer, second, and William R. Moss, third.

High individual honors in judging divisions were:
Cattle — Claude Swanson, Oregon State; hogs — Darrel Kalbfleisch, University of Idaho; and sheep — Ted Buile, Fresno State.

Warning of any dangerous concentration of military forces.
This, he said, would remove the threat of surprise attack.
