

Georgia Tech Mob Storms Capitol After Governor Seeks to Rule Out Bowl Game

(Pictures on Wirephoto Page ATLANTA (AP) — Gov. Marvin Griffin's official residence and the Georgia State Capitol were stormed early Saturday by a howling mob of Georgia Tech students angered by Griffin's move to keep Tech out of the Sugar Bowl.

times burned Griffin in effigy, broke through a cordon of Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents and smashed their way into the Capitol.

But police lines reinforced with 25 cars of state troopers and held back the crowd of more than 2,000 at the governor's mansion.

The demonstration was touched off by Griffin's request to the university system board of regents to bar state colleges from playing opponents having Negro players or in games where spectators are not racially segregated.

Pittsburgh has a Negro, Bobby Grier, a reserve back, on its football squad. And segregation will not be practiced in sale of Pitt's block of tickets to the Jan. 2 game in the Deep South Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

Expected to Play However, a few hours after the student demonstration broke up, a source close to the governor, who declined to be quoted by name, said "Georgia Tech will be allowed to play in the Sugar Bowl."

There were other indications that Tech's Sugar Bowl contract will not be disturbed. Regent Quimby Melton, editor of the Griffin Ga. News and a close friend of the governor, first declined to comment on the matter, but later suggested that Tech be allowed to carry out its Sugar Bowl contract, but that the regents adopt Griffin's suggestion for all future athletic events of state colleges.

Tech President Blake Van Leer told John Earp, Chicago NBC sports editor in a telephone interview, "I'm 60 years old and I have never broken a contract and I'm not going to break one now."

From the Tech campus, where a handful of students began voicing their protest, Saturday's demonstration snowballed. 2,500 in Mob

Estimated by police at approximately 2,500, the crowd marched to five points in downtown Atlanta, then to the State Capitol a few blocks away, and finally to the huge old gray granite pile in the Prado which is the governor's mansion.

The marchers bore signs proclaiming "we play anybody" and "Griffin sits on his brains." They also sang "We'll hang old Marvin from a sour apple tree."

At the State Capitol, the demonstrators smashed two ground floor doors, overturning the lone guard, J. E. Rooks.

Didn't Use Gun Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson Jr., said the guard "wrestled with a few of them but didn't try to use his gun or anything like that."

Fortson reported sand-filled ash trays were overturned and some damage done inside the building while shrunken protesters pulled up historical markers overturned and a big can put on the head of the statue of John Gordon, Civil War hero.

Griffin took a light view of the mansion demonstration, which he said came in two waves, the last at 2 a. m.

"It was an orderly demonstration," he said. "They hooted and sang and hanged me from a sour apple tree, but it was just a bunch of college boys having a good time and I never get excited about that."

IT SEEMS TO ME

By Gladys S. Sprague

TIME magazine in its issue for Nov. 28th printed an extract from a contribution of Editor William Zukerman in the bi-weekly "Jewish Newsletter." Headed "U.S. Jews Hysterical over the Middle East," Zukerman was sharply critical of the "state of mind" prevailing among American Jews with reference to Israel. This "hysteria," he said, is "entirely without roots in the realities of American life."

He called it "completely artificial, manufactured by Zionist leaders, and almost foisted on a people who have no cause for hysteria by an army of paid propagandists as a means of avowed political pressure and of stimulating fund-raising."

Zukerman, as is evident, is not a Zionist. The non-Zionists are definitely in a minority among American Jews. The American Council for Judaism is non-Zionist, and while it is quite vocal it does not represent a large proportion of the Jews in America. Among American Jews there are, however, varying degrees of loyalty toward Israel. Some of its advocates are most intense in their loyalty; others moderately so; others naturally sympathetic with Israel but not involved deeply with its future either emotionally or financially.

3rd Honeymoon In Eight Months

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Chippendale, pretty 30-year-old brunette, left Saturday for a honeymoon with her third husband within eight months.

She became a divorcee in April, married again and became a widow a few months later when her soldier husband died, and wed again in October.

Three days after her marriage here to John Chippendale, he was recalled to his job in Malaya. She took a plane to meet him for their honeymoon.

Inebriate Finds Service Prompt

A Salem man who staggered in the rear door to the back room of a well-known local establishment found service as prompt and efficient as he had ever received.

Police officers on desk duty greeted him with open book and insisted that he stay overnight on a drunk charge.

State Okehs Federal Grant For Hospital

PORTLAND (AP) — A federal grant of $563,000 for a new 78-bed hospital at Medford was recommended Saturday by the State Board of Health.

The board said the money is available for this fiscal year under the Hill-Burton Act. Additional funds must come from local sources.

The board also recommended: $12,030 to complete an addition at Holland Park Hospital in Portland; $6,883 for an addition to the Blue Mountain General Hospital at Prairie City, and $175,000 to remodel and enlarge the Hood River Memorial Hospital.

Bandit Fires Shot At Store Manager During Robbery

PORTLAND (AP) — Two men made off with an undisclosed amount of cash Friday night in the fourth robbery of a Safeway store in recent days.

Jack L. Metcalf, assistant store manager, started to pursue them when the robbers left and one of them fired a shot at him. The shot missed, but Metcalf quit the pursuit.

The two men forced cashiers to empty three cash registers for them. There have been no arrests in the Safeway robberies. The total amount of cash taken has not been disclosed.

What Christmas Means to Me

(Editor's note: To the Salem area and the world over, Christmas has a deep significance. To reflect that significance The Oregon Statesman offers this series of personal appraisals of the meaning of Christmas. Representative Salem churches were asked to have the subject explored by a member of their congregation.)

By Mrs. Lloyd Reilly (Housewife: Member First Christian Church)

As I have been thinking about what Christmas means to me, memories of the happy Christmases I experienced as a child crowd my mind.

I recall the excitement that built up as we planned for our Christmas programs at school

Averell Raps Ike for Farm Price Decline

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — New York Gov. Averell Harriman, a "good faith" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Saturday night rapped President Eisenhower by name on agriculture and foreign policy.

Departing from his text, Harriman told a crowd of 2,000 at the national convention of Young Democrats that Eisenhower, not Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, is responsible for the administration's farm program.

The New York governor said earlier his name will be submitted as a presidential candidate at the Democratic National convention in "good faith" not as a "favorite son" candidate.

"Let's not talk about the Benson farm policy," Harriman declared. "Let's talk about it in its proper light — the Eisenhower farm policy."

Later he left his text a second time to declare: "It was a very unhappy experience to me when the President let it be known at the Geneva conference he considered that the Russians equally with us, sought peace."

At a third point he declared "Eisenhower has done nothing" about protecting average families against high costs of major illnesses.

Safe Driving Day Accident Victim Still Unconscious

Statesman News Service STAYTON — A victim of a "Safe Driving Day" accident remained unconscious and in "poor" condition here Saturday night, Santiam Memorial Hospital reported.

Richard A. Brown, 81, Lyons, suffered concussion and a fractured leg in the accident which occurred Thursday when he walked along a road at Lyons. Hospital attendants said his condition had not changed during the past 24 hours.

Camera Trick Brings Arrest For Burglary

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richard Bianco, 19, was arrested Friday night on a charge of burglarizing his neighbor's home on the basis of a picture taken of him standing in the bedroom of his victim, police said.

Detective Charles Hogarty said Joseph Bjuak set up the picture taking device after his home had been burglarized six times in the past year.

Bjuak told authorities he bored a hole in a panel of his second floor bedroom closet door big enough for the lens of a camera. Then he rigged it to a flash attachment which would take a picture of anyone entering the room through a window.

Knowing a burglar would seek the camera, he placed a dummy on a ledge attached to the outside of the closet door and adjoining the flash mechanism.

It worked, said Bjuak when he returned to his apartment after another burglary, he found the dummy camera gone.

When the film was developed it showed a clear picture of Bianco.

Clouds, Rain, Fog Forecast

Mid-valley areas should have occasional rain tonight with partly cloudy conditions today, according to U.S. Weather Bureau forecasters at McNary Field. Some fog is expected early this morning.

Today's high temperature should reach about 91 degrees while the low reading tonight is predicted to be around 36, somewhat higher than Saturday night's low of 32.

Cart Replaces Horse at Horsemen's Convention

Oregon's Horsemen Association can't be accused of putting the cart before the horse, but they can be accused of putting the cart instead of the horse. Its annual convention here Saturday and Sunday was positively horseless, but it wasn't carriageless. Several vehicles of the horse-drawn variety and era were on display at the armory where sessions took place. Features of the display was this ladies

HEREFORD, England (AP) — Farmer Jim Langford yawned Saturday and then discovered he couldn't close his left eye.

"It was a big yawn," he explained, and something seemed to snap in my face. Then I found I couldn't close my eye. The lid simply wouldn't budge."

The farmer hurried to a doctor and was told a nerve had snapped and that he was suffering from a temporary form of paralysis of the eyelid.

The doctor said it'll be about six weeks before my eye returns to normal," said Langford.

Salem Office Cuts Income Tax Service

New policy of the Internal Revenue Service will place the emphasis on enforcement with only one day a week set aside to give taxpayers information and advice on filing 'out returns,

District Director Ralph C. Granquist announced Saturday. Mondays of each week will be set aside for that service, but Internal Revenue employees will not prepare returns for taxpayers except for those persons who are physically or mentally unable.

Under the new program established by the regional office in San Francisco, local service offices will be closed other than Monday except at the Salem, Portland and Eugene offices. Those offices will furnish only counter and telephone service except for Monday.

Granquist estimated that the new policy of releasing enforcement personnel for collection of past due taxes will bring in an additional $1,000,000 in taxes. The new policy will begin Jan. 9.

Opera Star's Hands Scalded

LOCUST VALLEY, N.Y. (AP) — Opera star Patrice Munsel Saturday canceled a Monday night appearance, after severely scalding both hands in a kitchen mishap at her Long Island home.

Roberta Peters will replace the 30-year-old coloratura in the Metropolitan Opera production.

Miss Munsel, with both hands bandaged, was ordered to bed by her doctor. The singer's husband, Robert Schuler, offered this explanation of the accident Friday night: "It was cook's night out. She (his wife) went to the kitchen for tea. The kettle was on the stove, empty, even though the burner was turned on. She picked it up to fill it with water. Steam billowed up and scalded her hands."

Midwest Blizzard Brings Deep Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A blizzard lashed a broad section of the Midwest Saturday. It combined snow ranging up to 10 inches, strong north winds of up to 40 m.p.h. and stinging cold.

At least six deaths in traffic were attributed to dangerous driving conditions. Four were in Nebraska and two in Illinois.

The Weather Bureau labeled the onslaught a blizzard and "a real winter snowstorm" — although winter is 18 days away by the calendar.

Scottsbluff, Neb., had 10 inches of snow on the ground. Chadron, Neb., had 7 inches, and Goodland, Kan., 4 inches. Gregory, S. D., was burdened with a fresh 10-inch fall.

Blowing and drifting snow, with temperatures close to zero even at madday, dealt a staggering blow to the storm area.

Snow was forecast for Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. Skies began to clear in Wyoming and Colorado after the storm dumped up to 14 inches of snow on Wyoming and up to 6 inches on Colorado.

A mass of cold air moved into the Midwest after dropping the temperature to 12 below zero at Cut Bank, Mont.

Up to 10 inches of new snow was forecast for Minnesota through Sunday along with temperatures of zero to 10 above.

Crisis Due As Canal Permits Expire Dec. 31

BERLIN (AP) — A new squeeze on West Berlin threatened Saturday night from East Germany's control of inland waterways traffic.

The Russians have turned over control of permits for canal traffic between the city and West Germany, it was disclosed, and the German Communist regime appeared determined to use its new authority to wrest some kind of recognition from the Bonn republic.

West German officials said the problem may be acute when all old permits expire Dec. 31 and applications are made for new permits at the beginning of the year.

These officials said East Germany is insisting that problems concerning the canals be handled between the transport ministries of the two rival Germanies, and not on the level of lesser agencies. The object thus appeared to win quasi-recognition.

Part of "Sovereignty" Transfer of authority over barge traffic by the Russians to the East Germans was agreed upon in Moscow Sept. 20 after the Soviet-East German "sovereignty" treaty was signed.

Subsequently, West Berlin transport officials said, the Russians returned several British applications for canal traffic permits with word that East German officials were now responsible for issuing permits.

Apply to East When the West German waterways administration at Hamburg, a liaison office, sent the applications to the East German shipping administration, it was told the Bonn Transport Ministry must make application to the East German Ministry.

The West regards these permits as a technical matter, to be dealt with on a lower level.

Canal barges carry virtually all of Berlin's coal and about one-third of its other supplies. However, city officials said West Berlin already is supplied for coal for the winter.

The East Germans, too, would suffer from a barge stoppage inasmuch as about a fourth of the goods brought eastward by barges is for East German delivery.

Bid by Teamsters to Switch to CIO Side of Union Camp Rebuffed

NEW YORK (AP) — A bid by the big Teamsters Union to join the CIO subsidiary of the newly merged AFL-CIO was sharply rebuffed Saturday night by James B. Carey, a top leader of the former CIO.

Several officials of the 1,300,000-member Teamsters revealed their union planned to join the AFL-CIO's industrial union department (IUD). That is a unit intended primarily for former CIO unions.

Carey, asked whether the teamsters would be welcome, said flatly no. The former CIO secretary-treasurer and head of the Electrical Workers said: "Number one, the teamsters are not an industrial union. Two, they can't adhere to our objectives. Three, for other reasons they are not eligible. And four, we won't take them in."

Carey declined to elaborate on these points. The teamsters have been often criticized by both AFL and CIO unions for organizing outside teamster jurisdiction and for harboring alleged racket influences.

The teamster move appeared to have stirred up the first major quarrel in the reunited labor movement on the eve of its first convention Monday.

Walter Reuther, who had been top man in the CIO and is due to head the IUD, was inclined to minimize the whole situation. He said the IUD won't actually be established until authorized by the convention next week. (Earlier story, Sec. 3, Page 13.)

Fingerprints To Determine Ancient Artist

NEW YORK (AP) — Modern fingerprint techniques will go to work on 15th century finger marks next week to determine the identity of the sculptor who created a head of St. John the Baptist.

An anonymous art collector sent the terra cotta head to an appraiser here, in an effort to find out whether the sculptor was Andrea del Verrocchio, a 15th Century Florentine artist.

The head shows that the artist left several finger prints in the wet clay while modeling the sculpture. The collector believes that similar marks would show on other sculptures by the same artist.

The National Art Gallery in Washington has three clays by Verrocchio. They are terra cotta busts of Giuliano and Lorenzo de' Medici, a terra cotta infant nude and an adoration group.

Copies of the fingerprints on the head of St. John the Baptist will be taken by police, FBI agents or a private agency, the appraiser, Sigmund Rothschild, said.

Rothschild then will fly to Washington with the molds to take similar impressions of any fingerprints found on the three Verrocchio statues. Verrocchio was born in 1432 or 1425. Among his pupils were Leonardo da Vinci and Lorenzo Credi.
