Salem Golf Club Professional

The SGC Men's Club doesn't waste much time going from ournament to tournament. Having just finished the annual Fall Handicapper last Sunday, some 40 stalwarts have now signed up for the start of the always popular Flubber-

Dubber Tournament the coming Sunday. field likely will number around 80 by starting time Sunday, and it is reminded that play is open to all men. The Flubber-Dubber is the most popular form of entertainment in this bailiwick because it gets the less proficient golfer an opportunity to mix in with some of the better the guiding fight for North Marion's base post. The high handican players are paired with the lower handicappers and they then play Scotch foursome matches . . . A Scotch foursome is a two-ball match where the partners take and Gonzaga: turns hitting the same ball rather than both playing an individual ball. It gets its name not from the ancient imported popskull that is some- Linfield as starters this semester, times used to ward off the creature, but from the fact that golf balls are conserved in this type of play . . . The players are divided into teams, and the winners are given the honor of eating at the expense of the losers. The entry is free and will be open until Thursday. So get with it, enter and have some fun .

Dr. John R. Wood was consistently too much for Pat Miklia in the Fall Handicap finale, wearing down the mighty mite with a long string of par golf. One would naturally expect a man to slip a hole once in a while, but Wood got his slip out of his system early, and then poured on the coal. Wood got away to a bad start on the first hole with a bogie six, and hit a bad hook off the second tee that ended up in the trees against a root. It looked at that time like Miklia had a patsie for this But Wood pulled out of the situation brilliantly and came in with a par-4 for the hole. He chipped out of the trees, hit a long iron to the green and rammed in a long putt to do it.

This sort of thing would take the wind out of most anybody's sails, and Miklia was no exception. He started out looking as if he'd be a sure winner on No. 2, but finished up the loser. From hit a free toss for a 60-57 lead. that point on Wood never missed a shot and never had a bogie. His birdie on the 12th was the only deviation from straight par. Pat played well all day, but he just couldn't hole those putts that he needed in the tough spots. Some days the ball just won't fit into the cup. It acts as if it has a mind of its own . .

Dentists Well Represented in Win Circle

The dental profession is well represented in the throne room this year, as Dr. Bob Moe dumped Vern McMullen in the other feature match. Mac just didn't have it Sunday, and that was that. He holed some good putts but missed some easy ones Moe has played better, but he had enough stuff Sunday . . . We had a pretty fair gallery for the sun-flooded match . . .

Dr. Ralph Gordon lost a tough one in his final match with Langdoc. The boys were all even going to the last hole and Gordon was the recipient of a stroke. They both hit good drives into the early morning fog, but Gordon hooked his next two shots out of bounds, hanging himself as far as a victory on the important hole was concerned .

The winter golf tour has started already, with the Havana Open having been completed. Big Mike Souchak picked up the marbles in this one, and you can bet a new hat that he will win a lot more this season and in those to come. This should be a banner year for the Duke monster.
