Martin, Lewis Sign Contract

NEW YORK — Comedians Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis have signed a new five-year contract with the National Broadcasting Co., the network announced Monday.

Flood Takes Man

EUREKA, Calif. — An elderly man was swept away by Eel River flood waters and presumed drowned Monday night when a car in which he was riding submerged in a flooded road. Henry Jensen, about 70, was swept away while other occupants of the car saved themselves by climbing on its top.

The new contract gives NBC exclusive rights to the comedy team's television and radio appearances. They have been appearing on the network since 1948.

A couple of months ago the two reportedly had a fall-out which threatened to break up their team. But the differences, which friends said were merely of temperament, were patched up in a few weeks.

One acre out of every 10 planted in the United States still is lost to insect damage.
