Vandals 92-73 and 78-61 for the only sweep in an opening series. Everybody else up and down the line, except Oregon which played nonleague, divided a pair.

Morris Taft sank 52 points of the Uclans' 170 total, with 31 coming Saturday. Willis (The Whale) Nauhs hit for 46 total. Idaho was virtually helpless before this one-two punch.

Bears Lose Forfeit

Stanford, after taking its first licking for the year, 45-37, bounced back to down Washington, 58-46. George Sellick, Indian guard, paced Stanford's attack with 17 points. Jim Coshov of Washington tallied 21 for high honors.

The California Bear rosters, noted for their unrestrained tactics, went too far for Referee Al Lightner Saturday and he called the game and gave the SC Trojans a 77-64 victory with 3:15 remaining. The forfeit was called against the rooting section.

Lightner took the unprecedented action, he said, to protect himself. (Cont. page 2, col. 2)

Mangrum Has Lead in Open

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three-time winner Lloyd Mangrum Sunday shot his third successive sub-par round of golf, a three-under-par 68 for a 94-hole score of 206. He goes into the final round of the $30,000 Los Angeles Open Monday with a five-stroke lead over his nearest challengers.

Mangrum's magnificent performance knocked Tommy Bolt further back out of contention and into a second-place tie with little Jerry Barber.

Bolt came in with a par 71 and Barber a 67, each with a total score of 205.

Late Bogeys Hurt

Mangrum, who won this rich event in 1949-51-53, toured the Rancho Municipal Golf Course's par 36-35-71, 7,048 yards in 34-34 for his 68, and but for bogeys on the last two holes would have been in even better shape.

He started Sunday's round, played under bright skies, two strokes in front of Bolt, who had startled the tournament with an electrifying 63 Saturday.

Mangrum thus might be called a cinch, if such were possible in golf, to win the $6,000 top money when the shooting ends Monday afternoon.

Talk Refused By Johnston

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charley Johnston, president of the International Boxing Guild, snapped "no comment" when asked Sunday about Al Weill's resignation from the New York guild under pressure from State Athletic Commissioner Julius Helfand.

Johnston arrived here Saturday noon after Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, announced in Los Angeles he was pulling out of the New York managers guild and "going along with Julius Helfand and the New York State Boxing Commission."

Helfand outlawed the New York guild, touching off hot controversy, when he announced that after Jan. 16 managers belonging to the organization—under fire for rumored criminal associations—won't be acceptable for lucrative New York fights.

Johnston listened in dead silence when the news was read to him by phone, together with Helfand's exultant comment in New York: "The guild is broken. This minute." (Cont. page 2, col. 6)

Schamback Wins FDR Trophy

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (AP)—Dean Schamback, 23-year-old New York City actor, won the Franklin D. Roosevelt jumping trophy and the Harold Nelson Trophy Sunday on Bear Mountain's 50-meter hill.

The Class B competitors outdistanced six Class A competitors before 12,500 and had the best standing jump of 148 feet.

Thor Frantzen of the host Norway Ski Club won the regular Class A tournament and finished second in the FDR jump-off.

Salem Archers Defeat Newberg in Bow Shoot

Two Salem archers took high point honors in the team shoot at the Salem Reg Wing Bowmen and the Chehalis Archers of Newberg. Bob Norton topped the men with a score of 418 and Jean Bennett led the women with 233.

A team scores for Salem were North with 418, Chuck Anglin with 417, Vern Bennett with 411 and Ed Issit with 412. Salem's total of 1,658 topped the Newberg total of 899.

In the B Team shoot, Salem won 1,130 to 961.

By DON HARGER

Duck and goose shooting will end today (MONDAY), January 9, at sundown. A check with the U. S. Weather Bureau gives us 4:49 p.m. as official sundown. We repeat—Waterfowl shooting ends today, MONDAY, January 9, at 4:49 p.m. The one exception to this is the black brant season which extends through February 10, 1956. That's this year.

The close of waterfowl season this evening or late this afternoon will mark the curtain-fall on one of the best waterfowl seasons the Willamette valley has experienced in a number of years. Not only were the ducks plentiful throughout the entire Willamette river bottom but the quackers were for the most part, in excellent table condition. Even the widgeon were rolling in layers of fat. The flavor of the ducks was difficult to beat after weeks in the corn fields and grain stubble. We only hope that the next waterfowl season will see as many ducks and geese in the valley.

The steelhead angler is not faring so well as did the gunner. The coastal streams have been high and muddy for the better part of the current winter season and now with a good fall of fresh snow on the coast range there is little likelihood that the fishing will improve much in the near future. The streams may drop some but there will be the snow water to foul up the water temperature.

Start Preparing for Trout Season

About the best thing to occupy our time now during the winter months is a try at getting ready for the trout season which will be rolling around before we know it. We can get our rods and reels in repair now before the last minute rush is apt to delay things a bit.

Best of all we can sit down with fur, feathers, and steel and produce a batch of flies which will pay off during the spring and summer months to come. Anglers fishing the local Santiam river will need small patterns in size 12 and 14 in brown and gray mayflies. These for early in the season. As the weeks roll by we can change to a near black sedge fly in a size 12 supplemented with a size 12 or 14 pale yellow or cream colored mayfly.

A few size 12 and size 10 nymphs in colors ranging from pale yellow through dark brown will add to the productive selection in the fly box. A few small wet flies of the same color ranges will also be useful at times and will often pay off when fish are not visibly feeding on the surface.

For Outdoor Sports; Painting Houses

Fly lines can be dug out and greased into readiness. Leaders can be repaired and sorted out to their various lengths and tests. Get that old split willow creel out and give it a good scrubbing. After it is dry you can improve it with a coat or two of varnish stain.

There is plenty to do to ready us for the coming months and it is best to get it done now before the bulbs need planting or the lawn needs mowing. The house will have to be finished where we left off painting last September. There will be trees and shrubs to trim and scores of odd jobs to keep us busy once our ever loving wives start thinking them up. Relax now and get ready for summer. The peace and quiet won't last.

San Francisco, Dayton Still Flying High; Others Defeated

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dayton's sky-scraping Flyers continued to ride high along the collegiate basketball horizon, but such well-regarded teams as North Carolina State, North Carolina, George Washington and Iowa State came down to earth Monday after Saturday setbacks clouded their national rankings.

Dayton, the No. 3 club in the weekly Associated Press poll listings, outclassed Iowa of New Rochelle, N. Y., 83-64 for its 11th straight victory. Second-ranked North Carolina State, however, fell from the unbeaten list as the Wolfpack absorbed a 68-58 loss at the hands of Duke, No. 11 in the nation.

North Carolina, No. 5, bowed to Wake Forest 76-71; George Washington, No. 7, succumbed to Richmond 79-67 and Iowa State, No. 8, was knocked off by Kansas State 68-64.

Dons Stretch Streak San Francisco, the country's top-rated team, was idle Saturday. The Dons stretched their winning streak to 37 over a two-year span with an easy victory over Pepperdine Friday.

Prisco meets Santa Clara Tuesday and Fresno State Friday and if the Dons win both, they will equal the longest winning string in major college cage history. Long Island University (1935-37) and Seton Hall (1939-41) share the record at 39 each.

Dayton sees action only once this week, facing Canisius in Buffalo Memorial Auditorium on Saturday. Duke provided Saturday's big upset by jolting North Carolina State. The Wolfpack had been streaking along on the crest of a 23-game winning skein over two seasons before being upended by the Blue Devils in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

N. C. State also had won 11 in a row this season, including the Dixie Classic.

Lightner Returns, Not Hurt

By DUSTY FLOG Statesman Sports Writer

Al Lightner, veteran Pacific Coast Conference referee and sports editor of The Oregon Statesman, returned to Salem by plane Sunday looking almost no worse for wear after his encounter with a penny shower at the Berkeley, Calif., gym where he called a forfeit victory for USC in their game with California.

Lightner sported a slight bruise on his right eye from a penny that sailed through the air during the second half of the game and smacked him in the unus peeting optical.

It was after this that Lightner had the game's announcer tell the crowd that if the shower of debris continued he would be forced to call a forfeit. But the announcement was greeted with boos and later, more coins—one of which struck the Salem referee on the back of the neck while he was facing away from the California rooting section.

Game on TV Thousands of television fans who were watching the PCC game of the week in their homes then saw Lightner stroll to the forfeit's table and call the game forfeited to USC with the score left at 77-64 for the Trojans' and with slightly more than three minutes remaining.

The game's forfeit, the only one on record in the PCC, is bringing the Statesman's sports editor more notice than if he had kayoed Rocky Marciano in the first round of an exhibition bout with 16-ounce gloves.

California sports pages had a heyday with the game's result; Lightner refused comment on the stories—even for his own paper but one article in the San Francisco Chronicle and the Oakland Tribune brought a curt denial.

Cop Tells Story Quoting from the Chronicle, the article reads: "Patrolman Dino Airale, who was on duty in the California gymnasium yesterday, said, 'I saw the incident when Referee Lightner was struck in the eye since I was assigned to that particular area. The object was thrown by a youngster 13 or 14 years old and (Cont. page 2, col. 7)

Hawaiians Nab Easy Hula Win

HONOLULU (AP)—Quarterback Y. A. Title of the San Francisco 49ers threw six touchdown passes Sunday to lead the Hawaii All-Stars to a 31-20 victory over the College All-Stars in the 10th annual Hula Bowl game.

Fullback Carrol Hardy, Title's 49er teammate, electrified 24,000 fans with a 97-yard run in the second half.

The Hawaii All-Stars, playing with a full team of mainland pros for the first time, turned the tables on the college seniors who usually have dominated the Hula Bowl.

Hirsch Grabs Passes

The Collegians got off to a bad start. On the first play a 15-yard clipping penalty set them back on their 1-yard line. End Merrill Jacobs of the Marines, playing with the pros, spilled halfback Bill Tarr of Stanford in the end zone for a safety.

Title launched his pass parade in the first quarter with two touchdown tosses to Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch of the L.A. Rams that went for 72 and 32 yards.

Bearcats at Whitman Tonight In Last Tilt of Eastern Trip

Willamette University completes its three-game swing through the eastern portion of the Northwest Conference Monday night when it plays the Whitman Missionaries at Walla Walla. It will be the third game in four nights for both teams.

Coch Johnny Lewis' Bearcats lost their first two games in the NWC when they bowed in a pair of close ones to defending champion College of Idaho, 55-60 and 71-63. The Coyotes, who went undefeated in NWC play last season, will also play again Monday night when they meet Linfield at Caldwell.

Whitman and Linfield split in a pair of close weekend games at Walla Walla. Linfield won Friday night, 77-22, and the Whits (took the Saturday night contest, 82-81.

Lewis will likely start Pete Reed and Jack Bishop at forward, Neil Causbie at center, and Jerry McCallister and Vic Backlund or Ron Taylor at guard. McCallister was the scoring leader in the C of I encounters, getting 34 points in the two games. Two other members of the NWC split weekend—Linfield topped Lewis and Clark Friday, 63-58, but the Pioneers took Saturday night's somewhat slower game, 43-41. Both are idle Monday.

After the Whitman game, Willamette returns to Salem where the team will rest until Saturday, when they play host to Linfield that night.
