Fire Ladder Required as Vandals Act

Assistance of the city fire department's extension ladder was required after vandals observed Lincoln's birthday in reverse fashion at South Salem High School.

The call for firemen came Monday morning after discovery that a rope on the school's flag pole had been severed and the knob atop the pole bent. The vandalism, attributed to juveniles, apparently occurred sometime Sunday night.

Firemen, who scooted up the ladder to repair the damage, surmised that the guilty parties must have shinned up the pole.

Also discovered at the school Monday morning were several real estate signs, scattered about the premises.

7 out of 10 of your neighbors use Low Cost Electricity for both cooking and water heating

Do you... Could you afford not to?

There are several reasons why homes in the PGE area are among the "most electrified" in the nation. First is low cost. Ours is a region of low-cost power. PGE customers enjoy its advantages for a cost of less than half the national average. Next is speed. Recent advancements in element design have made electric cooking and water heating as fast or faster than any other method known. And then there's safety. There is no flame to worry about . . . no flues to connect—electricity is a worry-free fuel. Lastly is cleanliness. There are no fuel by-products to soil floors and ceilings. Furniture and curtains stay fresher and cleaner.

NO WONDER SO MANY OF YOUR NEIGHBORS HAVE GONE ALL-ELECTRIC. IT'S THE SMART THING TO DO.

It's the MODERN thing to do.
