Adlai Blasts Tank Shipment To Mid-East

(Story on Page 1)
LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said Sunday night he assumes the Eisenhower administration "is not unmindful of Israel's peril."

The Democratic presidential aspirant issued a five-line statement on the U.S. shipment of 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia several hours after a conference with Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.), Stevenson's chief marshal in New York.

Stevenson's statement neither backed nor opposed the lifting of the embargo on arms shipments to the Middle East.

Stevenson and Lehman met for luncheon at Stevenson's farm home near Libertyville. The Chicago Sun-Times said that "presumably they worked over a Middle East policy statement." But the statement issued was signed by Stevenson alone.

Stevenson returned home Saturday night from a four-week tour during which he spoke in six Western states whose delegations will cast a total of 150 votes at the convention. They were Arizona, California, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Utah.

In 10 days, he plans to make the second of three swings into Minnesota where he is supporting a slate of convention delegates favorable to him in the March 20 primary.

Dead was Mrs. Fanny Seeborg, 67. Her husband, Victor, 73, was hospitalized with critical injuries.

State policemen said Seeborg apparently was the driver of one of the cars. The other driver, believed to be a sailor from the nearby Tongue Point Naval Station, was not immediately identified. He was taken to the Navy hospital.

The other injured, in the Seeborg car, were: Mrs. Olga Wirkkenen, 60, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ojala, both in their 70s. Their injuries were not immediately determined.

The accident happened in heavy rain. Wreckage and debris clogged the highway almost two hours before it was cleared.

a woman on a remote island of Rarotonga last Dec. 27. Whether he has yet identified the two, he declined to say.

Sketching in some details of the crime, however, he told newsmen that some of the steamship Waitemata's crew went ashore at Rarotonga. Two went to the home of Mrs. Aini Vakaiti, 44, but she was absent.

Served Beer
Her 14-year-old daughter, Auisie, served the two men beer. After awhile they asked her to accompany them to another village, but she refused. The two men began struggling with her as Mrs. Vakaiti appeared and went to her daughter's aid.

One of the men struck the woman several blows and she fell unconscious or dead. Inspector Finlay said. He said the two crewmen forced two Polynesian youths to help steal a taxicab, transport Mrs. Vakaiti's body to a lagoon and throw it in.

Body Recovered
Her body was recovered after the ship sailed next day. Inspector Finlay flew to Vancouver to meet it. He said the 10 officers are not suspected, nor are two crewmen now in Vancouver hospitals.

Each crew member claims innocence and an alibi for the time of the murder.

Finlay has vague descriptions of the killers from the girl. He plans to have her try to identify the culprits.

The Waitemata, now loading general cargo, sails Tuesday toward Rarotonga—and justice.

12,000 Strike At Republic Air Company

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP)—A strike of 12,000 production workers Sunday hit Republic Aviation Corp's four Long Island plants.

The company has a backlog of some 500 million dollars in orders from the federal government, its only customer. It produces parts for guided missiles and a variety of planes, including the new supersecret F-105, which flew faster than the speed of sound in tests last August.

The walkout over a contract started at midnight and pickets were posted at the main plant here and the other three in Hicksville, Port Washington and Greenlawn.

Republic employs approximately 18,000 at the four plants. The striking International Assn. of Machinists represents 12,000 of these. The rest are engineers, scientists, supervisory workers and office employees.

Only 60 hangar workers, all represented by the union, were scheduled to work Sunday. They did not show up.

The company promised that the doors would be open for all wishing to work Monday.

An estimated $43.55 grocery bill was avoided by burglars who apparently entered Oaklodge Market Saturday night by breaking the glass in the front door.

Police said Mrs. H. D. Robinett, proprietor of the store at 1155 S. 14th St., listed as missing an assortment of cigars, cigarettes, beer, crackers and canned meat valued at that amount. A small amount of change in a cash drawer was undisturbed, they said.

When he made his unexpected break, two companions reportedly took off in the car.

Stanley Montgomery Miller, 19, of Salem Route 4, Box 332, wound up with charges of illegal possession of liquor, driving without a license and misuse of license plate. A 16-year-old faced charges of illegal possession of liquor and misuse of his driver instruction permit.

Death Claims Secretary of State in Idaho

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ira H. Masters, Idaho secretary of state and a former newspaper owner, died Sunday. He was 79.

Masters entered the National Institutes of Health Oct. 28 as a cancer patient and underwent surgery Nov. 21.

He died in the institutes' clinical center.

A native of Newton, Kan., Masters was active in newspaper work and Democratic politics in Idaho and Utah for nearly 40 years.

One of few Democrats consistently elected to state office in Idaho, Masters served four terms as secretary of state but lost two races for Congress. His first election for a two-year term as secretary of state in 1936 was by a 40,000-vote majority.

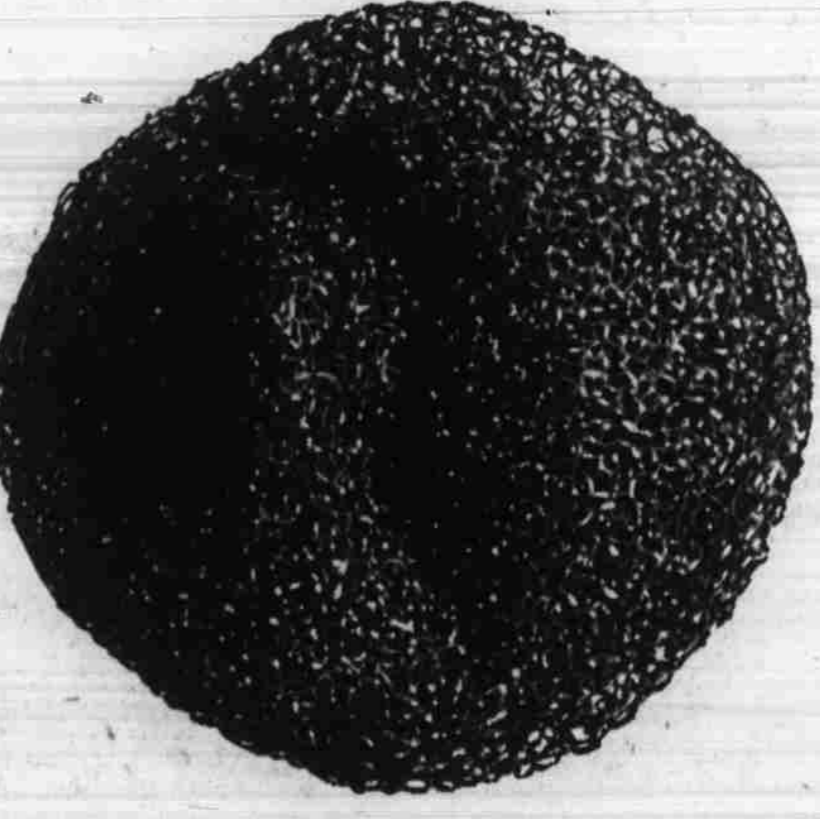

The voters returned Masters to a second two-year term as secretary of state in 1944. He was re-elected for four-year terms in 1950 and 1954.

FOR SALE

EVER BUY ONE OF THESE?
Sure you have, it's a metal scouring pad. It looks strange all by itself with no advertising to explain what it is, what it does, how much it costs and where to buy it.
Just about everything would look strange in a world with no advertising. When you went into a store to buy, your chief source of information would be the clerk behind the counter...and he would need a fabulous memory to recite the uses and advantages of the thousand and one products carried in stock.
Prices would be higher, too. Without advertising (to tell you and millions of others about products of all kinds) there would be less mass demand so there would be less mass production to cut manufacturing costs. A metal scouring pad might sell for a dollar—and be found in only one store within miles.
When you think about it, you realize advertising brings you the news you need about the products you want—and helps keep prices down as well.
