State Hospital Receives Lad After Blazes

INDEPENDENCE—A 17-year-old Independence boy who admitted setting fire to his own home three times in 24 hours was committed to Oregon State Hospital Tuesday for examination, state police said. Investigation of the case brought charges of incest against the boy's mother and her father, also residents of the house. Polk County Sheriff Tony Neufeldt said. The charges were filed by Neufeldt. Charged were Mrs. Doretha Williams, 39, and Lafayette H. Bradley, 65, Neufeldt stated. Bail was set at $2,000 each and preliminary hearing was scheduled at 10 a.m. Wednesday before Justice Kenneth Shetterly in Dallas.

Some scientists believe that warming of the earth will cause melting of enough polar ice to raise the level of the oceans and flood some low coastal areas within the next 50 years.

Washington Correspondent Visits Here

Statesman Columnist Visits Salem

"Oregon certainly is in the national limelight politically, and may be even more so," A. Robert Smith, the Statesman's Washington, D.C. correspondent, said Tuesday. Smith is on a tour of the west coast, partially to study the current public vs. private power controversy and partly to ascertain the trends in politics. "Flip-Flop" noted "Walter Norblad's flip-flop from the congressional to the gubernatorial race and vice versa stirred up considerable interest, and now with Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay potentially a candidate against Sen. Wayne Morse, this state is in the limelight for certain."

Smith said "The Statesman is being microfilmed at the Library of Congress, and is highly respected in Washington. I am proud to be on its staff, from a standpoint of its journalistic excellence and its journalistic integrity."

The Washington correspondent was last in Salem 3 1/2 years ago. "Oregon voters have quite a reputation for individual independence," Smith said. "Even if I were in the business of prognosticating primaries and elections, which I am not, I would hesitate to put all my eggs in one basket in this state. Maybe that is why I so much enjoy trying to keep The Statesman readers apprised of what is going on behind the scenes—I never know what they are going to do with or how they are going to assess, the information available."

Smith, who also is correspondent for two newspapers in Washington and two in Alaska, has his office in the National Press Building at Washington, D.C. and is accredited to the White House and all other federal departments.

Sheepmen Told of March 31 Shear Deadline in Plan

PORTLAND — Sheepmen who want to get in on the 1955 wool program will have to shear and sell their wool by March 31, when the marketing year ends. Those coming under the 1955 marketing year will get their incentive payments next summer. Those who wait to market in the 1956 year will get payments in the summer of 1957. E. Harvey Miller, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for the state, said the 1955 wool clip may be carried over after March 31 and still be eligible for the payment, although there will be a year's delay in getting the money. Applications for payments under the 1955 program must be mailed before May 1.

Realtors Plan Meeting Here On Saturday

From 300 to 400 Oregon real estate businessmen are expected to attend a meeting Saturday in the Marion Hotel which will feature James C. Downs, Jr., housing and redevelopment coordinator for Chicago, as guest speaker. The meeting is sponsored by the Oregon Real Estate Department as part of its education program designed to bring national authorities in contact with the practicing real estate brokers and salesmen of Oregon. Downs is senior partner in one of America's largest management firms, director of the Chicago Title and Trust Co., president of the Real Estate Research Corporation and author of "The Principles of Real Estate Management." He will participate in a mortgage finance forum with six real estate experts following his speech. Heading the forum will be Ragnor Johnson, state real estate commissioner. Other members of the panel and their subjects include Ernest Smith, state department of veterans' affairs, who will discuss state G. I. loans; Cecil Gartrell, vice-president of Portland's First National Bank, business, commercial property, farm and acreage loans; Ernest Goehrand, vice-president of Portland's U. S. National Bank, FHA and Federal G. I. loans; Fred Keeler, vice-president of Salem's First Federal Savings, residential loans; and Robert Powell, executive vice-president of Salem Federal Savings, construction loans.

Grand Jury Gets Birthday Bandits

Salem's two accused birthday-party bandits were bound over to the Marion County grand jury on a charge of armed robbery after a preliminary hearing Tuesday before District Judge Edward O. Stadter. Bail for Luverne Francis Truitt and Earl Eldon Lane was continued at $5,000. They were arrested shortly after a group of 15 women and children attending a Marion birthday party were held at gun point and robbed of about $50. Lane subsequently admitted some 12 other crimes, sheriff's deputies said.

Women Treated After Tumbles

Two women were treated Tuesday for falls on downtown sidewalks, first aidmen said. Mrs. Fred Dickman, West Stayton, reportedly received a wrist fracture in a fall about 3:30 p.m. in the 200 block North Liberty street. Mrs. Alma Hatfield, 915 Judson St., was treated for arm bruises and a laceration over an eye after a fall about 4:15 p.m. in the 200 block South High street, they added.

Two of Six State Hospital Escapees Held

Two of six men who escaped from the State Hospital Sunday and Monday were returned Tuesday, leaving four at large. None was considered dangerous, hospital attendants said. Returned Tuesday were Benjamin Lobdell of Roseburg, committed as a psychotic, and Kenneth Edgar of Salem, listed as alcoholic, attendants said. Both were reported found in Salem. Still at large Tuesday night were Clifford L. Mulkey, 41, Silverton; Kenneth Donald Ridenour, 39, Philomath; Vernon Plate, 36, Portland, and George Humphries, 34, Tacoma, Wash. Mulkey, Ridenour and Plate, all committed as alcoholics, escaped Sunday night with Edgar, apparently with a key obtained from an unknown source, attendants said. Humphries, listed as psychotic, escaped Monday night by means of knotted bedsheets from a third floor window, they said.

Circuit Court Jurors Listed During April

Marion County Clerk Henry Mattson issued a list Tuesday of 50 county citizens who will be called for circuit court jury duty April 3. The prospective jurors will be given instructions by Circuit Judge George Duncan on that date. They are: Frank Peter Adelman, Elmer C. Aline, Walter I. Allen, Charles E. Allenbach, George M. Hunt, Vivian C. Jones. Roy L. Kremer, Ernest Lafky, Thomas Ledniczy, Marvin Long, Phillip J. May, Sylvia C. McGee, Oscar Olson, Naomi Radcliff, Lytton E. Rice, Lillian Rue, Susan Schaecher, Bruno L. Schmidt, Elsie M. Spencer, Elsie E. Volkel, David B. Ward, Galda M. Wheeler.

Rose Society's Show Set for June 22, 23

Salem's annual rose show will be held in the auditorium of the Meier & Frank store this year in action taken by the Salem Rose Society at its meeting at the YMCA Tuesday night. Dates for the show are June 22 and 23. The varieties Peace and Charlotte Armstrong were selected by the society membership for special sections in the show. This will be the 11th exhibition to be sponsored by the Salem group. George Candeaux, society president, said the show will be open to entries by any amateur rose grower regardless of membership in the sponsoring organization. Fred Edmunds Jr., of Wilsonville, one of Oregon's largest growers of rose plants, addressed the Tuesday night meeting, describing a number of the newer introductions most of which are being imported from Europe.

West Oregon Log Market Quiet

CORVALLIS — The log market was quiet in Western Oregon last week, with some logging roads still closed, Oregon State College said Tuesday in its weekly report. Long No. 2 second-growth Douglas fir sawlogs sold mostly at $5 a thousand at Willamette Valley mills.

County Court May Reverse Order

The County Court will probably have to reverse an earlier decision to authorize construction of a drainage ditch to carry surface water from portions of Hawthorne Street to a state-owned ditch just east of the penitentiary. The reversal was based on a report by County Engineer John Anderson which said the state's requirement of a guarantee against excessive flooding of the state's drainage ditch could not be fulfilled. Court members advised Anderson to inform property owners along Hawthorne St. of the situation.

Legal Action Threatened in Drainage Plan

Marion County Court was threatened Tuesday with legal action unless court members order construction halted that would drain an area in which Berg's Keizer market is located. Herman Refus, who owns property in the vicinity, asserted that the county was merely shifting water from one property owner to another. He alleged that his property would be more susceptible than ever to flooding if the county's project were completed. Assistant Engineer Ted Kuenzi said Tuesday that the Refus property has always been under water during the winter months because of its relatively low position. The court decided to drain the area in question after public hearings in the matter several weeks ago.

Gas Heating Rates to Take Biggest Drop

Heating customers will receive the greatest reductions in proposed gas rate changes filed Tuesday by Portland Gas & Coke Co. with the State Public Utilities commissioner. A residential customer paying an average of $27.70 monthly for gas will receive a reduction of about $5.25. The monthly minimum of $3.30 for nine therms will not change. The proposed price of the next 31 therms, however, is 16 cents each, and at that point the cost will drop to 11 cents. Present rates are 20.5 cents a therm for the next 25 therms after the first nine, and 15.3 cents on additional amounts. Average Bill Customers who use gas for cooking and one or more appliances pay and average bill of about $6. Their reduction will be about 35 cents, or 5.8 per cent. Those who use more gas will get a higher reduction. The minimum for this type of customer will remain $3.30 for nine therms. Additional therms will be at 17 cents. Present rates are 19.5 cents on the next 16 therms after the minimum, and 18.6 on additional therms. Rates will not change for homes with gas automatic water heaters or refrigerators but not using gas for heating or cooking. These rates are already in line with the new schedule, company officials said. "Convenience" customers, with only a non-automatic water heater or hot plate, will receive reductions averaging 1.1 per cent. The monthly minimum will remain unchanged at $1.30. 14 Per Cent Drop The 142 single-meter gas-heated apartments, motels and business buildings in the Valley will receive reductions averaging more than 14 per cent, according to the company estimate. Nearly 600 restaurants and gas-heated stores in the Valley will save about 9.2 per cent, the company estimates.

Corvallis Farm Pheasants Free of Pullorum Disease

All pheasant breeders on the E. E. Wilson state game farm at Corvallis, for the sixth straight year, have been found free of pullorum disease, the state agricultural department reported Tuesday. More than 2,000 breeding pheasants were bled tested last week under direction of Earl Reitsma, supervisor of the department's poultry improvement program. The program of testing pheasants at this game farm started in the spring of 1951.

German Youth Gives Best Wishes To Gov. Smith

Best wishes in his new position as governor were received Tuesday by Elmo Smith from a German youth entertained in the Smith home at John Day four years ago, while on a tour organized by the University of Oregon School of Journalism. "The memorable dinner party and later house party in your home has made John Day one of the outstanding experiences in what I call most typical, the American spirit of understanding and friendship," Jurgen Debnicke said in his letter from Westfalen, Germany.

Girl Jailed In Car Theft

A 15-year-old Junction City girl is held at Marion County jail, charged with possession of a stolen automobile. Dr. James Ashbaugh, county juvenile department director, reported this is the first instance in his experience of a juvenile girl being involved in auto larceny. She admitted the theft of the car from Junction City shortly after her arrest Monday night, officers said, when she fled from a Salem service station without paying for gas, police added. The police report also stated that the girl was prevented from disposing of a suicide note addressed to "dear mama." Dr. Ashbaugh said Tuesday the car's Junction City owner had signed a stolen car complaint against the girl.
