Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q I am a member of a group of church women who, after a meeting, usually stop somewhere for a bite to eat. Since I don't eat between meals, all I ever order is coffee. However, the bill is always divided equally among us. Do you think this is fair?

A No; but there's nothing much you can do about it without appearing "close." The best solution is to order nothing at all—then you can hardly be asked to share the bill.

Q I have heard conflicting opinions on whether or not it is correct for a young man to ask his father to serve as his best man at his wedding. What do you think about this?

A I think it is fine! Not only is it perfectly proper, but it most certainly implies a good comradeship between father and son.

Q If a close friend of a bereaved family attends the funeral, is it necessary to wear black clothes?

A No. However, one should wear subdued clothes, and avoid any gay colors.

How to look your best for your husband's business occasions!

What are the things to look for? What color is right? What will flatter you most?

Read what six well-dressed women from all over the country have learned about dressing. See what they choose for luncheons, evening and all occasions.
