

Revised Flood Forecast To In New Report

PORTLAND — The Weather Bureau Friday issued a revised flood forecast, lowering by one foot its earlier predictions of the spring crest on the Columbia River in the Portland-Vancouver area.

The forecast was revised following word that water would be released from Grand Coulee Dam to enlarge storage space in the reservoir, providing a cushion effect for the flood waters.

The new predicted crest is from 21.5 to 27.5 feet at Vancouver, Wash., compared to earlier estimates of from 25.3 to 30.5 feet. Even at the new level there would be serious flooding.

The operation at Grand Coulee marks the first time the sealed outlets have been made available for flood control uses by the Bureau of Reclamation, the Weather Bureau said.

This release of water, to begin Saturday, will produce a one-day delay in the Portland-Vancouver harbor area next week. This is expected to anticipate the actual stages which would occur normally only a short time later, owing to the large increase in natural flows now under way as a result of the warm weather snowmelt in the Columbia Basin.

Forecasters said the Columbia is expected to rise to 18 feet at Vancouver by next Wednesday, three feet above flood stage. The 18-foot level in Portland, as expected by Wednesday, would be reached in the Portland-Vancouver area by next Thursday, after which the effect of Grand Coulee regulating will taper off.

Beck to Battle Any Move to Cut Teamsters

DETROIT — Dave Beck, international president of the giant Teamsters Union, said Friday he will battle in the courts if necessary any move to cut his organization from the AFL-CIO.

Beck spoke to a news conference in advance of a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner by union and trucking industry groups honoring James H. Hoff, midwest teamsters leader often mentioned as Beck's heir-apparent.

Beck was asked about a meeting of the newly-merged AFL-CIO executive council called for May 1 in Washington to discuss suspension of his union for its continued association with the International Longshoremen's Association. The AFL ousted the ILA on grounds it was dominated by racketeers.

"We can't let centralization interfere with our autonomy as a trade union," Beck said. "Our men have to drive back and forth across those docks in New York. We have the right to agreements to protect their right to work."

He added, "If we exhaust all remedies under the AFL-CIO constitution and the executive council repudiates our facts, we'll carry the matter to the courts."

Beck was principal speaker at the testimonial dinner, which drew 2,500 guests in the largest mass banquet of its kind ever held in Detroit. The estimated $250,000 proceeds will be used to build a children's home in Israel.

Carpenters Aim Blast at Racketeers

EUGENE — A resolution deploring "all types of racketeering" was approved by the Oregon State Council of Carpenters at the annual convention here.

Ivor Jones, executive secretary of the council, said the resolution stemmed from disclosures of a vice probe now underway in Portland.

He said the carpenters were "unalterably opposed to all types of racketeering whether it be participated in by labor, management or any other segment of society. We keenly feel that there is no place for racketeering of any type, or any activity bordering on racketeering, within a democracy such as we have in the great United States of America."

Five Killed in Gunfight in Cuban City

SANTIAGO, Cuba — Five persons died Friday from wounds suffered in a gunfight here Thursday night between students, National police and soldiers.

An Army statement charged a revolutionary attempt was being brewed against the government of Gen. Fulgencio Batista. Student disorders were reported spreading to other parts of Cuba.

Two of the dead were students, two National policemen and one soldier.

A statement from the Cuban Army General Staff charged that orders for disturbances to foment "an atmosphere of insurrection" had been issued "from La Chata"—the residence of former President Carlos Prío Socarrás. Students often are in the vanguard of Latin American revolutions.

Prío denied previous charges of revolutionary activity. He and Batista are bitter foes.

The gunfight in Santiago followed a student protest yesterday when police tried to disperse a crowd which tried to invade a courtroom where two students were on trial for illegal possession of grenades.

Four students in the courtroom were wounded.

The students who died in a Santiago hospital were identified as Orlando Carvajal and Carlos Diaz, both 21. A police statement said they had taken part in an attack on Army barracks in Santiago in 1953 in which 100 persons were killed in fighting between revolutionary students with their followers and troops.

Carvajal and Diaz raced through the streets in a rented car last night, machine-gunning police patrols, a government statement said. They were killed by pursuing motor patrols of police and soldiers.

Other student disorders occurred this morning in various parts of Cuba, and the government statement said this was in accordance with a general plan. At Matanzas students charged into the market and littered the vegetable stands and littered the surrounding square with the produce.

In Havana, reinforced police patrols were on duty surrounding the university.

H-Bomb With Thorium Said In Russ Hands

TOKYO — A Japanese scientist said Friday he believes the Russians exploded a new type of H-bomb using thorium in their mid-March nuclear test.

Dr. Seitaro Koyama of Niigata University said he came to this conclusion after analyzing radioactive rain and dust.

Koyama told a meteorological conference here that chemical elements he identified in his analysis differed greatly from those after the U.S. Bikini H-bomb test. He indicated, he said, that something chemically lighter than uranium was used in the casing of the bomb.

He reported the presence of rutherfordium, the lack of neptunium and uranium 237, and the presence of greater amounts of thorium than uranium pointed to the likelihood the Russians used thorium. It is a comparatively rare radioactive element occurring in combination in thorite, monazite and certain other minerals.

The attempt was believed to have been a protest by Arab nationalists at the French policy in Algeria.
