

Auto Racing Returns to Hollywood Bowl Saturday Night; Midgets to Make Debut

After one weekend of idleness, following the 1956 opener of April 22, auto racing returns to Salem's Hollywood Bowl Saturday night, the first night card of the new season. Night racing is to be held at the big arena each Saturday night throughout the season.

Ducks Lose First Game to Idaho '9' Bailey Sets Meet Record

BAILEY—Although running against gusty winds, Jim Bailey of the University of Oregon breaks the tape in the mile run in 4:11.7, a new Oregon-Washington meet record. The old record was set in 1950 at 4:12.4 by Ralph Hill of Oregon, Oregon won the meet. (AP)

Pilots Snare Four Way Track Meet at Linfield; OCE Fourth

McMINNVILLE—(Special)—Portland University won a four-way track meet here Saturday by running up 47 points. Second was Linfield with 41 1/2, followed by Eastern Oregon with 32 1/2 and Oregon College with 24 1/2.

Brooklyn Tops Pirates, 5-2

(Continued from preceding page) fine relief pitching by rookie Dave Stier paid off for the Sox. Vernon's 400-foot shot scored Billy Goodman ahead of him for a 4-3 lead in the seventh inning.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Central High Nips Molalla Club, 6-5

MOLALLA—(Special)—Central High defeated Molalla, 6-5, in a Willamette Valley League baseball game here Friday afternoon.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

Idaho Thinclads Trim Whitworth

SPOKANE ID.—Idaho took 10 firsts and showed even strength in beating Whitworth 75-55 in a track meet Saturday. The win came despite a gallant 17-point performance by Pirate Ward Woods.

The Weather Just Wasn't Cooperatin'

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Statesman-Capitol Alleys . . .

Registrations are now well underway in the annual Statesman-Capitol Alleys doubles bowling tournament. First round in the tourney must be bowled by May 5. Three rounds and the finals are rolled during the tourney.

One-third of the original entry list will be eliminated by the end of rounds one and two. Eight doubles teams will enter the finals.

Round two runs from May 6 to May 13 and round three from May 13 to May 20. Finals are scheduled for Saturday, May 26.

An even larger number of entries than last year is expected. Reservations for alleys and additional information can be obtained at the Capitol Alleys or by calling 3-3575. Rules governing the tourney are posted at the Capitol lanes.

Averages for handicaps will be determined by scores up to May 1.

NEW YORK—Four major league baseball cities will remain on standard time when the others turn their clocks ahead an hour to daylight saving next Sunday.

The Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Redlegs will continue to start their games on eastern standard time and the Milwaukee Braves and Kansas City Athletics will use central standard.

The Chicago Cubs and White Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, the only other teams in the central time zone, will operate on daylight saving New York, Boston, Brooklyn, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh and Cleveland will use Eastern Daylight time.

Hit by pitcher: Mouser by King, Swanson by King, Swanson by King, Krause by Mouser, Anderson, Krause by Segovia, Williams, Lashby, Carrabba, Vanni, Williams, Koepf, Rivas, Carter, Swanson, Lashby, Anderson, DP, Segovia by Lashby, T. 3:12, U. Ted Howe and Bill Clark, A. 1:29.

Winning pitcher: George, Losing pitcher: Marshall.

ABOVE: The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Other kids reported good success on the stream, which is closed to all but teen-agers during the fishing season.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Beavers Defeated In Track

Cougars Snare 73-58 Victory

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Washington State broke the discus and javelin marks and showed surprisingly strong in the sprints to take a 73-58 track win over Oregon State Saturday.

Sophomore Darrell Pearson, who took only four throws because of a bad leg, shattered the javelin meet record by more than 13 feet as he unleashed a toss of 225 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Frank Brown set a new record of 149 feet 7 1/2 inches in the discus.

Wesley Point Galer

The Cougars John Midtbo turned in an endurance performance as he won both the mile and 2-mile races.

High point man was Sam Wesley of Oregon State with wins in the 100 and broad jump and a close second in the 200.

The most thrilling race of the day was the one Wesley didn't win. Floy Richmond, whose best time this year was 3 of a second slower than Wesley's, beat the favored Beaver sprinter to the 220 tape by an inch in a clocking of 21.8 seconds.

Summary: Mile—1. John Midtbo, WSC; 2. Larsen, OSC; 3. Kirschner, WSC. 4:28.1.

200—1. Floy Richmond, WSC; 2. Wesley, OSC; 3. Hayes, WSC. 21.8.

100—1. John Midtbo, WSC; 2. Wesley, OSC; 3. Larsen, OSC. 9.47.

Low hurdles—1. Bill Fredericks, OSC; 2. Engle, OSC; 3. Toomey, WSC. 24.4.

Javelin—1. Darrell Pearson, WSC; 2. Hittner, OSC; 3. Clay, OSC. 225 feet 1 1/2 inches, new record—old record 212 feet 1/2 inches by Church, OSC, 1953.

Discus—1. Frank Brown, WSC; 2. Wesley, OSC; 3. Grindol, WSC. 149 feet 7 1/2 inches, new record—old record 145 feet 11 1/2 inches set by Morse, OSC, 1950.

High jump—1. Wayne Moss, OSC; 2. Manlike and D. Presley, both WSC. 5 feet 4 inches.

100—1. Sam Wesley, OSC; 2. Richmond, WSC; 3. Fredericks, OSC. 10.1.

Relay—Won by Washington State (Richmond, Gribben, Rueli and Duncan), 3:22.2.

Bevos Select Rookie Hurler

PORTLAND—Manager Tommy Holmes, trying to find a winning combination for his seventh-place Portland Beavers, will turn to a 20-year-old rookie right-hander to pitch the first game of Sunday's doubleheader against the Sacramento Solons.

The Beavers dropped their opening day-night twin bill to the Sacs Friday, bowing 9-10 at night. Despite the disappointing results, the team attracted a record Pacific Coast League one-day attendance of 34,450.

The rookie pitcher is Darrell Martin from Bell, Calif., who hooked on in the last stages of spring training and pitched five creditable exhibition innings against Seattle. Holmes says the youngster is fast and has a good curve ball.

RAIN HALTS GAME

PORTLAND—A scheduled Northwest Conference baseball doubleheader between Pacific and Lewis and Clark was postponed because of rain Saturday. The games were rescheduled for Monday afternoon.

Tide Table

(Compiled by U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Portland, Ore.)

High Water Low Water
Time Height Time Height
April 29 2:12 a.m. 4.1 9:31 a.m. 4.8
5:14 p.m. 4.8 10:09 p.m. 2.8
30 2:55 a.m. 4.7 10:16 a.m. -0.3
4:21 p.m. 4.5 9:10 p.m. -0.7

DeMarco Wins Bout

BOSTON—Tony DeMarco stalked, boxed and paced his way to a colorless but effective unanimous 10-round decision over ring-walker Arthur Persley of Red Cross, La., Saturday night at Boston Garden.

DeMarco weighed 146, Persley 140.

Freeman vs. Donovan in Main . . .

Mat Midgets to Show At Armory on Tuesday

The mighty mites of the mat—the ultra-popular wrestling midgets—make their annual visit to the Armory Tuesday night to highlight Matchmaker Elton Owen's weekly card. The powerful little guys, each under 100 pounds in weight and all around three feet in height, will appear in a special tag team squabble.

On one side will be Ivan the Terrible, a whiskered 96-pounder, and Otto Bohman, who has appeared here before. On the other will be the dynamic Pez Wee James and Tiny Roe.

The hilarious mites are full of fight and action, and have never failed to please local fans.

Three Regular Matches

Owen has a regular card of three matches lined up for Tuesday also. In the main event will be the powerful Herbie Freeman and "Red" Donovan, the latter the rough and tough brother of "Dirty Doug" Donovan, of the Montana Donovans.

"Dirty Douglas" himself appears in the semifinal, against Irish Jack O'Reilly, the arrogant Australian who is just as villainous as either Donovan and will be glad to demonstrate at most any time.

The opener, at 8:30 o'clock, puts Boise Bill Fletcher against Al Warsawski, 205-pounder from Detroit, Mich. This will be a single fall mix, while the other two are labeled best-two-of-three.

Freeman Going Good

Freeman has been making great progress here as a topnotch grappler. He's big and powerful and last week knocked over Pedro Godoy, the South American nasty. The younger Donovan went to a stormy draw with Larry Chene on the same card.

There will be no advance in prices for Tuesday's extra-special.

Senators Eye Fish Program On Columbia

WASHINGTON—Because money isn't being spent fast enough, a Senate appropriations subcommittee may recommend that the lower Columbia River fish sanctuary program be extended to the upper tributaries of the river.

The possibility was suggested by Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) and readily accepted by Chairman Ellender (D-La.) Friday after William Hagen of the Fish and Wildlife Service testified there would be $500,000 in unobligated money remaining as of June 30.

The program is set up in cooperation with Washington and Oregon agencies to handle fish problems arising out of dam construction on the river.

Hagen said the Oregon fish commission was the "slowest" of the cooperating agencies in obligating money because of difficulties in obtaining land and engineering assistance.

With disclosure of unspent money, Ellender said he wanted to "put them on notice" that if any money remains unspent at appropriation time next year "we're going to cut it out."

Dworshak then suggested that as an alternative, money be diverted into the upper tributaries in Idaho for fish studies.

Asked if the program could use "a couple hundred thousand" for the upper tributary work, Hagen said it could. Dworshak then suggested the committee could earmark something for Idaho this year.

WSC 315 432 000—18 17 1
000 000 010—1 8 6
LW
Bartow, Freeman (6) and Rich, Whiting (7), Peterson, Mullikin (4), Panches (7) and Brady.

RADIANT GLASSHEAT

By Continental "The Sunshine Heat"

No Fire Hazard
No Noise
No Dirt or Odor
No Maintenance

The only fully automatic heat guaranteed by Good Housekeeping

For Free Estimate Phone 4-6263

1540 Fairgrounds Rd., Salem

DeMarco weighed 146, Persley 140.

DeMarco weighed 146, Persley 140.

DeMarco weighed 146, Persley 140.

DeMarco weighed 146, Persley 140.

DeMarco weighed 146, Persley 140.

The fish were few and the raindrops many during Saturday's opening of the 1956 angling season. If you think not, ask these four kids, who tried their luck on Mill Creek. From left to right are Nicola Looney, Steve Ashton, Dale Mallicoat and Michael Summerfield. They blamed the rainy weather on the scarcity of the fish, and insist the 2,000 trout planted in the stream by the Game Commission "moved away Friday."

Statesman-Capitol Alleys . . .

Registrations are now well underway in the annual Statesman-Capitol Alleys doubles bowling tournament. First round in the tourney must be bowled by May 5. Three rounds and the finals are rolled during the tourney.

One-third of the original entry list will be eliminated by the end of rounds one and two. Eight doubles teams will enter the finals.

Round two runs from May 6 to May 13 and round three from May 13 to May 20. Finals are scheduled for Saturday, May 26.

An even larger number of entries than last year is expected. Reservations for alleys and additional information can be obtained at the Capitol Alleys or by calling 3-3575. Rules governing the tourney are posted at the Capitol lanes.

Averages for handicaps will be determined