

United Fund 'Kickoff' Scheduled on Sept. 19

Salem's 1956 United Fund campaign will be "kicked off" at a meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 19, it was announced following an organization meeting of the United Fund at the Marion Hotel Thursday.

The kickoff meeting will be addressed by the Rev. Larman Sherwood of Dayton, Ohio, a retired minister with a national-wide reputation as an outstanding speaker. The Rev. Mr. Sherwood addressed "kick-off" meetings at Cleveland, Dayton, Toledo and Columbus, Ohio, last year. It will address the Portland kickoff meeting at a breakfast Sept. 19, coming to Salem for the luncheon the same day.

Thursday's meeting was attended by all but one member of the cabinet which will direct Salem's drive for funds this year. They include William H. Hammond, general chairman; H. E. Barker, special chairman; Elmer A. Berg, chapter plan; Philip Hamer, chapter plan; Ben Little, education and government; Mrs. W. Rector, residential and urban; Fred McKinney, automotive and transportation utility; E. Burr Miller, special events; E. S. Ritter, contractors and builders; Elton H. Thompson, general gifts and professional; Otto J. Wilson, speakers' bureau and Kenneth Fotts, at large. A sub-committee was named

Growers Ask Tariff Aid For Cherries

The Salem cherry industry is dependent on a protective tariff, industry leaders reminded Thursday as they asked Salem Chamber of Commerce to support their position.

Legislation is now pending in Congress to authorize U.S. participation in an international organization for trade cooperation. The cherry growers' industry groups have taken a stand against this legislation on the grounds that it might lead to changes in the tariff now imposed on foreign cherries now coming into this country.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is conducting a referendum on the legislation among local chambers. Cherry leaders have requested the Salem chamber to vote against it. The chamber board of directors is expected to act on the matter next month.

Cheap labor in foreign cherry growing centers accounts for the prices which, without tariff, might undersell American cherries.

Railway Mail Service Cited

Postmaster Albert C. Gragg Thursday warned those who use the train mails that only two daily mail pickups are made by trains passing through Salem.

Northbound mail is picked up at the Southern Pacific depot at 5:15 o'clock each night and southbound mail at 11:15 p.m. "If patrons cannot deposit their letters by 5:15 p.m.," said Gragg, "they should drop them at the downtown post office. This mail will get to Portland the next day. Otherwise it will rest in the depot drop box until the following night's pickup."

Two Trucks In Collision at Wreck Scene

Salem police officers had their hands full Thursday morning when two pickup trucks collided while driving around the collision of two other vehicles.

Police were checking an accident in the 1400 block of North Capitol St. about 8:45 a.m. when the second collision occurred at the intersection of Capitol and Shipway Streets.

Minor damage was received by all four vehicles, police said. Drivers in the first accident were listed as Joseph Albert Johnson, 5165 Liberal St., and Henry Albert Shute, 2640 N. 5th St. Police said drivers in the second collision were James Delbert Moliney, 501 S. 15th St., and Melvin Milton Henderson, 218 Evergreen.

The sheriff's office listed him as Charles Lawrence Faulkner Jr., 47. He was arrested near the intersection of Chemawa Road and 99E, the office said. No bail was set.

Editor From Indonesia to Visit Salem

Salem Monday will spread the welcome mat for a visiting editor from Indonesia. A week-long schedule of tours and other events is planned.

Thio Oen Sik, chief editor of the Java Post at Surabaya, Indonesia, is sponsored by the State Department on his visit here. Official host to the visitor will be a Salem Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Charles A. Sprague.

Sik will be guest of honor at the Monday noon luncheon of the Chamber at the Hotel Marion. Through the week he will be conducted on tours of city schools; county, city and state offices; stores, businesses and industries; and the Statesman-Journal newspaper plant. He will leave by plane Saturday, June 2.

Sik, chief editor of the Java Post since 1953, is particularly interested in economic affairs, labor-management relations and newspapers and magazines on his visit to this country. He is a member of the Indonesian Journalists Association and the Chinese Labor Association.

Two Silverton Women Hurt In Accident

DALLAS, Ore.—Two Silverton women were hospitalized at Dallas and three other persons received medical attention following a two-car head-on collision early Thursday on Valselt Highway about three miles west of Falls City.

In Dallas hospital are Mrs. Joe Marsh, 59, with forehead bruises, and her mother, Mrs. Janet McEwen, 84, who was treated for forehead bruises and a small bone broken in her right arm above the wrist.

They were occupants of a car driven by Joe Marsh, who was treated for minor abrasions. The three had been at Valselt and were returning to Silverton when their car collided with one driven by Joseph Hopkins, a Dallas logger.

Hopkins and his passenger, Dennie Garland, Dallas, were on their way to work. Both men were treated at the hospital and released. Hopkins suffered a sprained foot and bruised knee, Garland a forehead cut that required stitching.

An Ohio farm study showed an average farm inventory value of $29,500.
