

Twenty-Nine Brooklyn Policemen Subpoenaed by Grand Jury in Ambulance Chasing Racket Inquiry

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-nine policemen have been subpoenaed before a Brooklyn grand jury investigating an alleged ambulance chasing racket.

Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver said the probe centers around the law firm of Fallick & Conolly, headed by a fire department lieutenant and a former policeman.

Four of the subpoenaed policemen are members of Silver's own racketeering squad.

Silver said he did not know whether any of the 29 policemen engaged in illegal activity but that all "had some contacts with Fallick & Conolly."

He said the firm handled 282 negligence cases last year and received more than 100 negligence retainers in a two-month period this year.

He named the senior partners as Joseph Fallick, 36, of Brooklyn, a former policeman, and John J. Conolly, 42, of Seaford, N.Y., a fire lieutenant.

Silver said one source of cases was among service men patients at St. Albans Naval Hospital in Queens.

He cited an instance of somebody representing himself as a lieutenant commander telephoning an enlisted man who had been in an automobile accident and offering aid in obtaining a lawyer. The telephone caller then contacted the law firm, Silver said.

Oklahoma Panty Raider Expelled

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—One student was expelled and another suspended indefinitely at the University of Oklahoma following a series of attempted "panty raids" Wednesday night.

President George L. Cross promised further disciplinary action in connection with the disturbance in which as many as 300 students gathered near sorority and women's dormitories.

Police and school authorities kept most of the disturbance under control. The dismissed student was a junior in engineering and the suspended student is a freshman.

Bells, Buzzers Signal Direction Of Street Traffic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A new traffic signal that even the blind can "see" went into operation Thursday at Seventh and Howard Sts.

The safety device is designed for the sightless. A bell rings when traffic is flowing East and West. A buzzer sounds as traffic is released north and south. Both audible signals are synchronized with the regular traffic lights.

The particular corner was selected because so many blind persons cross there going to and from the Blindcraft Division.
