

County School Vote Turnout Said Light

Valley communities in Marion and Polk counties went to the polls Monday to elect school board directors and in a few cases decided school budget issues. In a majority of districts, voters turnout was light.

DALLAS, Ore. — Dallas School District voters Monday approved by a substantial margin a school budget calling for expenditure of $205,141 above the six per cent tax limitation. Vote on the item was 290 to 92.

Dr. L. V. Casey was elected director on the school board at the annual election, beating out Dwight M. Webb and Frank Neufeld who collected 129 and 110 votes respectively.

FALLS CITY — Directors were chosen in five Western Polk county school districts Monday in light voter turnouts.

Orin Frink will succeed Ross Bowman who he defeated 21-19 on the Falls City School Board.

In the Guthrie district Tom Fisher will succeed W. S. Tilgner who was not a candidate for reelection.

Walter Laudahl was reelected to the board of the Oakdale district where voters also authorized transfer of $1,716 in surplus school funds from a checking to savings account.

Two directors were chosen at the Bridgeport district where Mrs. Nade Runkle was elected for a two-year term to succeed E. E. Lucas who has moved, and Alton Opmeier was elected to a five-year term to succeed Mrs. Runkle.

Nazarenes Urge Secret Prayer Daily

KANSAS CITY Y — Laymen of the Church of the Nazarenes Monday urged to engage in secret prayer for at least 15 minutes a day in the future.

The challenge came from Dr. Gideon B. Williamson as he gave the report of the board of superintendents at the 14th annual quadrennial assembly of the church. In it he set forth the goals of the denomination for the next four years.

"We are confident," he said, "that as a result of such a prayer program we shall witness the greatest advance in spiritual victory and soul winning we have ever known."

One of the goals set forth in the quadrennial address was the establishment of an average of five churches a week for the next four years.

Dr. Williamson pointed out the church had established 700 new churches in the past four years, between three and four a week.

Other aims for the quadrennium are 150,000 new members on profession of faith; 50,000 new members in the foreign missionary society and 25,000 new members in the Young People's Society.

Distributing Firm to Move To New Site

Valley Distributing Company headed by Stephen Tabacchi, is in process of moving to new quarters at 1483 Johnson Street.

The firm, which handles soft drinks and beer, has been quartered for the past several years in former Slick's brewery property at 275 South Liberty Street.

Tabacchi said the firm will have more space in the new site, which is located in a warehouse owned by Russel Pratt. Equipment had been "90 per cent moved" Monday.

Tabacchi said there will be some expansion of the company after the move is completed, including addition of two employees and one more truck.

Death Claims Ex-Leader of Eugene Paper

EUGENE — Joseph M. Koke, 75, former publisher of the Eugene Daily News, died here Monday.

A partner in the Koke-Chapman Printing Co., Koke was co-owner of the News in the 1930s. He was active in civic affairs and was a past president of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, the Security Savings and Loan Assn., and the Lane County Credit Assn.

He leaves the widow, Elvan, and four children: Philip and John of Eugene, Mrs. Helene Gales of Portland, and Mrs. Gertrude Tolenberg of Salem.

Arrangements for last rites are pending.

Phenix City 'Vice Lord' Surrenders

PHENIX CITY, Ala. — After eluding officers for two years, Clarence P. (Head) Revel gave himself up here Monday to answer a long list of charges resulting from Phenix City's vice cleanup of 1954.

State authorities also were waiting to question him about the A.L. Patterson murder two years ago Monday that touched off the wholesale vice crackdown and brought an end to the racketeering empire that flourished at Phenix City for years.

Revel surrendered to U. S. Commissioner O. K. Parker at Columbus, Ga., on federal income tax charges. He was released on $5,000 bond in the income tax indictment and later was taken in custody at Phenix City by sheriff LaMar Murphy.

19 British GIs Die in Blaze During Chase

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Nineteen British soldiers of a 2,000-man force trying to capture the Cypriot rebel high command perished in a forest fire on the mile-high Troodos Mountains, British authorities announced Monday.

Eighteen others were injured Sunday, some seriously, in this greatest single blow to the army's campaign against militant union-with-Greece advocates since the rebellion flared across this Mediterranean island colony April 1, 1955.

Throughout their long struggle, the rebels had killed 37 soldiers with bombs and bullets.

Lewis River Hides Fate of Two Youths

KELSO — A search party was being organized here Monday night for a start at dawn Tuesday into rough country on the upper Lewis River to find two youths unreported since they left on a short hike Sunday afternoon.

Fragmentary information received by Forest Service radio identified the apparently lost pair as William Reese, about 18, and Rocky Hendricks, age and address unknown here, Reese, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reese of Yale, was described as an experienced woodsman.

Cowlitz County sheriff's deputies, part of the sheriff's posse and members of the Mt. St. Helen's Ski Patrol and Rescue unit planned to start a search early Tuesday.

Red Bargain Denied by Tito

MOSCOW — Marshal Tito said Monday night he has not made any arrangements for military cooperation with the Soviet Union during his reconciliation visit here.

He denied reports that Yugoslavia would manufacture MIG jet fighters under Soviet license. But he left the way open to change his mind when he added "as to what will happen in the future, I am no prophet."

Tito spoke with correspondents at a party he gave in the Soviet-skaya Hotel near the end of his tour of the Soviet Union.

Columbia Still Shows Decline

PORTLAND — The Columbia River continued Monday to drop, easing the pressure on the one known weak spot in dikes along the lower part of the river.

In that weak spot water has been boiling back up a dike protecting the Portland Meadows horse race track north of Portland. Pumps have been carrying off the water. The flow in that leak lessened materially Monday.

The river is expected to be down Tuesday about five feet under the crest of 26.8 feet.

Tourists Take Spotlight as Guests of Salem Chamber

Two tourists and "a native" meet in downtown Salem Monday, just after Salem Chamber of Commerce observed Tourist Day at a luncheon meeting. A word of greeting is passed here from Salem Princess Neva Seams (left) of Willamette River Days to tourists Mr. and Mrs. Marion A. Park, Columbia, S.C. The Parks stopped to see the Oregon Capitol during transcontinental motor tour. (Statesman Photo.)

Inspecting a section of Salem's riverfront occupied this tourist couple briefly Monday as they saw some Salem sights en route to Albany from Idaho. Miss Gladys Jones, Genesee, Idaho, and her fiance, Henry Timberlake, Pullatach, Idaho, were en route to visit his mother, Mrs. Hugo Trygg, Albany, when they were invited to the Salem Chamber's Tourist Day luncheon program in the Marion Hotel. (Statesman Photo.)

Tourists had their day, and had their say, in Salem Monday. Special recognition that the 1956 tourist business is now going strong came at a Salem Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting at which six tourists from South Carolina, Illinois and Idaho were guests.

Their presence was symbolic of the state's third-largest industry, the tourist trade worth $127 million last year and probably more this year, the chamber was told by Carl Jordan, state travel information director and one of the tourist-recreation theme speakers.

A spokesman for the tourists, M. A. Park of Columbia, S.C., rose to the chamber occasion to tell the chamber how pleased he and his wife were by the friendliness and hospitality of Oregon after a pleasure trip through many states.

W. C. Williams, deputy state highway engineer, told the chamber that modernizing highways, especially through the new federal aid program, will do much for Oregon's tourist business. Four-lane divided highways geared to present traffic volume will mean shorter driving time, less strain and reduced mileage, Williams said. That means more tourists can drive from the East to Oregon, he added.

Leslie Davis of the chamber introduced the court of princesses for Willamette River Days. The girls were at the chamber's head table.

Two Youths Injured as Auto Flips

Two youths believed to be exchange students at Oregon State College escaped serious injury Monday evening when their car catapulted from the Salem bypass at Market Street, state police reported.

Taken by Willamette ambulance to Salem General Hospital for treatment of head lacerations was Kheng Wong, 21, whom officers said was a passenger in the 1949 Oldsmobile, Somal Vongsuri, 21, listed as driver, was taken to the hospital but later released.

Hospital attendants said Wong's condition was "fairly good."

The two young men, both residents of Corvallis, reportedly were southbound from work in a Woodburn cannery at time of the 7:50 p.m. accident.

Police said the spectacular mishap apparently occurred when the car went into a skid on rain-washed pavement after passing a truck.

The vehicle reportedly hit a retaining wall of the Market Street overpass and bounded over the wall, it dropped some 20 feet, hitting a fir tree before coming to rest upside down. The vehicle was a total wreck.

Man Waives Assault Count Indictment

DALLAS — Walter Wilbur Phillips, Independence, waived grand jury indictment when arraigned Monday morning in Polk County Circuit Court on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The man was booked on the charge June 9 after a knife was pulled on an Independence police officer. Phillips had been taken into custody after investigation of a disturbance in an Independence tavern.

He is being held in Polk County jail under $2,000 bail.

BAPTIST PLAN OPPOSED

Teacher Rolls Through City in 'Blaze' of Glory

DALLAS, Tex. — A mild-mannered Georgia teacher drove through Dallas Monday in a red-hot blaze of glory.

E. S. Lunsford, Roswell, Ga., agriculture teacher en route to an educators' convention in Portland, Ore., drove through rush-hour traffic with the trailer his car was pulling turned into an inferno.

"Flames were blazing up 10 feet in the air," said Deputy Sheriff O. G. Smith who curbed Lunsford.

"Traffic gave him a wide berth," the officer said. "Cars honked at him. Lots of drivers waved and pointed. Almost everyone he met pulled off onto the shoulder to let him by. But he never noticed anything was wrong."

"Blazing pieces of tarpaulin and clothes whipped off behind the pavement. They started five grass fires along his trail. It was amazing," Smith said.

When Smith waved the teacher to the shoulder of the road, the intense heat had already melted the car's tail lights.

"My goodness," Smith quoted the flabbergasted teacher as saying. "I didn't know. I didn't know."

Dallas firemen doused the fire. Only one wheel and the metal frame were left of the two-wheel trailer. Gone were four spare tires, six bags of clothing and two mattresses.

TURNER ROAD CRASH

A motorist escaped with a slight neck injury Monday night when his car rolled over on Turner Road east of the Salem airport, state police reported. The man, Calvin LeRoy Butler, 1445 B St., was treated by city first aidmen but did not need hospitalization they said.
