

1,500 Europeans Battle Police To Storm Algeria Rebel Haunt

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Fifteen hundred Europeans Saturday tried to storm the Casbah, the old Arab quarter used as a hideout for rebel hit-and-run attacks. They were dispersed by police and troops armed with tommyguns.

The outbreak, followed by rebel violence and police countermeasures, left 6 persons dead and 16 wounded in Algiers. Military patrols with tommyguns guarded the streets Saturday night.

Dead were two Europeans, three pro-French Arabs, and one nationalist. Eleven Europeans, 4 pro-French Arabs, and 1 nationalist were wounded.

The violence erupted at the edge of the Casbah after attacks by a four-man rebel commando band from the native quarter killed two persons.

Merchant Killed
The commandos killed a European merchant in the lower Casbah district, then shot and wounded three Europeans near the Algiers cathedral. The rebels also killed a pro-French Moslem and wounded a European cafe owner. Crowds of Europeans formed, beginning with the mourners at the funeral for a young European killed by the rebels.

The demonstrators screamed for arms to fight the nationalists and marched toward the Casbah, chanting the "Marseillaise." They forced several police barriers.

Reinforced patrols finally broke up the riots, but incidents mounted. Tension continued high in the

Four Injured In Accident

Four persons were injured in a two-car collision near the Bonneville Power sub-station on the Dallas highway about 7 p.m. Saturday, state police reported.

Taken to Salem General Hospital by Willamette Ambulance Service were Mrs. Harriet Baker, 1905 W. 30th Hill St., Salem; Patricia Wright, 4 Gladstone; Mrs. Lloyd Wright Gladstone; and Kirk Haley, an employee at the Oregon State Hospital.

Ambulance attendants said Mrs. Baker received a possible fractured left knee. Injuries to the other three were reported to be minor.

Drivers of the cars were listed by state police as Haley and Lloyd Wright, Gladstone. Both vehicles received extensive damage, officers said.

A 300-pound man would weigh only 74 pounds on Mars.

Crash Damages Three Vehicles

Three cars were damaged in a collision about 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the 300 block of South Commercial Street, city police reported.

A car owned and operated by J. H. Truesell, 548 S. 17th St., received extensive damage to the front end, police said. Minor rear-end damage was received by parked vehicles owned by Walter H. Hicks, 6224 Crestview Dr., and Harold Elbert, 1915 Dallas Rd., police reported.

Taft Couple Pace Bridge Tourney Here

A couple from Taft, Ore., playing in one of their first major tournaments, led the experts at the end of the open pair afternoon session of the Willamette Valley sectional bridge championship held in the Salem Elks temple Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peck paced 39 other teams entered in the open pair competition. Competition continued in an evening session Saturday night but late scores had not yet been compiled.

Other leaders in order were: Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kurzets, Portland; Leonard Blumenfeld and Lyle Hasselink, both of Oceanlake; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bussey, Portland; Mrs. A. M. Cannon, Carmel, Calif.; and Mrs. Lucretia McCorkrie, Corvallis; and Mrs. Grace Ness, and Daryl Wood, both of Portland.

North Africans Ready to Ask U.S. for Cash

PARIS (AP)—The United States may be asked very soon to pump dollars into Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria.

American diplomatic representatives are already preparing for the first request — from Morocco. The second may come from Tunisia and the third from Algeria, where France is straining its military resources to the utmost against nationalist Arab rebels.

But no French official will talk about the possibility of American aid except in the case of Morocco. They have seen how it worked in Indochina, where Americans and American aid moved in and the French moved out.

France's expenses in Algeria must be running above a billion dollars a year. When the war in Indochina was costing that much the United States picked up the bill. But this has not been done thus far in North Africa.

The United States has four air bases in newly independent Morocco. They were authorized by the French without consulting the sultan during the hurried period of the Korean War. Now France is moving out and the Moroccan government is preparing to find out how much it can make the United States pay to keep the bases.

Britain Readies New Plan To Settle Cyprus Demand

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain is preparing a "generous" new proposal to settle the Cyprus demand for self-government and may ask the United States to help sell the plan to the Turks.

An informed source said Saturday.

This indication of the direction Britain is taking in moves toward a showdown in the 14-month old rebellion by Greek Cypriots who want a union with Greece came as Sir John Harding, the British governor, returned from nearly three weeks of consultation in London.

He was reported to have discussed the new proposals while in London.

The informed source said Britain was approaching the problem "generously" from the Greek point of view "but the Turkish minority on the island was a stumbling block to a solution because of its resistance to the idea of a Greek majority in a Cypriot parliament.

Therefore, he said, "Britain may ask the United States to help sell the plan to the Turks, for there is a delicate question in balance. Both Greece and Turkey are members of NATO. Obviously Britain does not want to alienate NATO ally and she could conceivably be tried to force her point. Thus Britain may ask the United States to act as a sort of middle man in convincing the Turks that their interests will not be neglected."

Of Cyprus' population, about 400,000 are Greeks and 100,000 Turkish. The island, only 40 miles from the coast of Turkey, was Turkish from 1878 until 1924 when it was signed over to British administration.

British Hero, 81, on Way to Visit Queen

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Mickey O'Rourke, an 81-year-old Victoria Cross winner who skipped a dinner in 1929 with the Prince of Wales, is trying now to keep a date with Queen Elizabeth.

A one-legged veteran who said he can't afford to pay the air passage to London for Mickey and his sister, Mrs. Sadie King.

"Mickey has the VC. He should be here," said the veteran, a Vancouver doctor who lost a leg at Dreppe. His name was not disclosed.

All Mickey needs now is a passport. Trans-Canada Air Line officials asked Montreal authorities if he could board a plane here without one.

Will Take Chance
If the answer is "yes" Mickey will take a chance on United Kingdom immigration authorities allowing him in.

Mickey had to promise to behave. The last time they got him ready to meet royally, when the Prince of Wales held a dinner for VC's in 1929, he disappeared for three weeks.

Mickey was officially invited to attend the centennial of the Victoria Cross months ago but he had refused because he thought it was a trick. Then at the last minute he changed his mind.

Balk Ends
But Mickey balked again when told he would have to fly. Then somebody asked him how long he hesitated before acting back in 1917 that was when Mickey, a stretcher bearer, ignored machine guns to rescue 40 wounded men and earn his VC.

That did it. Mickey's dignity had been insulted.

"Let's go," he said.

Guardsmen Parade Before 2,000 Visitors

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—Oregon and Washington national guardsmen paraded for their staff officers and some 2,000 visitors here Saturday in the annual Governor's Day review of the 41st Infantry Division.

More than 8,000 troops and assorted vehicles passed in review at Gray Field. It was the Sunset Division's eighth annual review since World War II.

At its top, postwar strength—having gained more than 1,000 men since last year's summer camp—the division paraded for Lt. Gov. Emmett Anderson of Washington and Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, the adjutant general of Oregon. They represented NATO ally and she could conceivably be tried to force her point. Thus Britain may ask the United States to act as a sort of middle man in convincing the Turks that their interests will not be neglected."

Of Cyprus' population, about 400,000 are Greeks and 100,000 Turkish. The island, only 40 miles from the coast of Turkey, was Turkish from 1878 until 1924 when it was signed over to British administration.

Portland Man Elected by Oil Dealers

Oregon fuel oil dealers elected Fred McDonald, Portland, president at the annual state Oil Heat Institute held at the Marion Hotel Saturday.

Other officers named at an afternoon business session were Al Loucks, Salem, vice president; Sam Stinebaugh, Grants Pass, secretary; Roy Lindsey, Portland, treasurer.

Retiring president is Henry Auld, Eugene.

Al Loucks was also named to the board of directors of the group.

Host for the event, which drew about 100 dealers and wives, was the Salem Oil Dealers association. The group held a banquet Saturday evening following panel discussions, elections of officers and a business meeting in the afternoon.

Nazarenes To Increase Evangelism

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A new department of evangelism will be created by the Church of the Nazarenes as the result of action taken at the concluding session of the church's 14th Quadrennial General Assembly here Friday.

Delegates voted to create the department to give the Nazarene "Crusade for Souls," started in 1948, official and continuing status.

They also:
Approved a goal of 1,000 new churches in the next four years.
Approved a provision, effective immediately, for an extended call of up to three years for a district superintendent.
Adopted a resolution calling the liquor industry a "giant octopus" and pledging all members "to a positive program of action and to a battle to the death of this monster of misery, immorality and crime."
And adopted a resolution calling for the exercise of "discriminating selection" in television viewing.

The general board was to meet Saturday to organize, elect an executive secretary for the new department of evangelism, and discuss the budget and general church program.

Spellman Nearly Injured During Festival Mele

NEW YORK (AP)—A wild scramble among some 20,000 Puerto Ricans attending a religious festival "The Green Hat" here Saturday night after a long illness. He was 61.

GOP Moves in Northwest Indicate 'Battle Strategy'

By LEROY HITTLE
OLYMPIA (AP)—The way GOP leaders lined up their big guns this week, it became clear they plan to make the Pacific Northwest a major battleground in their fight to gain control of the U.S. Senate.

At stake are the two Senate seats held by Democratic Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, both of whom have been described as thorns in the side of the Eisenhower administration.

Signs of the impending struggle came early.

Douglas McKay of Salem resigned from President Eisenhower's cabinet to take on Morse and Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington subsequently went out after Magnuson.

Both moves reportedly were at the President's behest.

Last week Sherman Adams, the President's chief assistant, was lined up for a trip to the Pacific Northwest where he will be keynote speaker at the Republican state convention in Seattle July 7.

Langlie received a further boost Friday when Republican leaders selected him to make the keynote address at their national convention in San Francisco Aug. 20.

The Democrats have been getting their heavy artillery ready, too.

Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma had kind words for Magnuson when he visited the state last month; Magnuson will keynote the Democratic state convention in Tacoma next Saturday, and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan will be principal speaker at the state convention banquet.

Both sides are lining up other national leaders for support in the Pacific Northwest battle for the two Senate seats.

Snake River Dam Hearing Due Monday

PENDLETON (AP)—Public views on the Pacific Northwest Power Co.'s $213,000,000 plan to develop a giant new source of Snake River power will be aired before the Federal Power Commission in hearings scheduled to start here Monday.

The generating company last September filed for a license to build a 1,183,000-kilowatt project at Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley on the middle Snake 75 miles south of Lewiston, Idaho. It would be the largest power development ever undertaken in the Northwest with private capital.

The FPC has set June 25-26 for a hearing here, to be followed by a similar two-day hearing at Lewiston June 28 and 29.

The sessions are being held to permit introduction of local views and evidence of a non-technical nature. Hearings covering the technical aspects of the project will start in Washington, D.C., July 24.

More than 100 witnesses are expected to make statements in favor of the Snake River development plan. Paul B. McKee, president of Pacific Power and Light Co., announced PPL is one of four regional utilities in the Pacific Northwest power group.

The two Snake River dams, located between Oregon and Idaho about the mouths of the Salmon and Imnaha rivers to protect fish migrations, would have an ultimate capacity of 1,446,000 kilowatts—an output second only to Grand Coulee.

The Pleasant Valley structure—534 feet high—would be the tallest of its kind in the United States, and the third largest in the world. Turbines and generators would be the biggest ever manufactured.

The dams would back up water to Hells Canyon Dam, but would not interfere with construction of either a high or low dam there.

Sponsoring companies in addition to PPL are Portland General Electric, Washington Water Power, and Montana Power Co.

Timber Stock Reported Sold

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Purchase on June 5 of the capital stock of the Sage Land and Lumber Co., involving about 70,000 acres of timber in Humboldt and Mendocino Counties, was announced here Saturday by W. E. Lawson, vice president and general manager of the Simpson Redwood Co.

Lawson announced also that Simpson Redwood Co. had been established as a separate corporation although it remains a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Simpson Timber Co. of Seattle.

Timberlands involved in the Sage purchase in Humboldt County as adjacent to and intermixed with existing Simpson holdings, Lawson said, while those in Mendocino County are outside Simpson's operating area and are therefore being sold in the Union Lumber Co. of Ft. Bragg.

No operating properties are involved in either area, Lawson said.

TRASH FIRE QUELLED
A trash fire at 17th and Center Streets brought Salem firemen about 10:50 p.m. Saturday. The blaze was quickly controlled, reports indicated.
