KLAMATH FALLS (AP) — Prospector Earl Sheridan, who Friday staked out a uranium claim at the busiest downtown intersection of this Southern Oregon city, suspended mining operations temporarily Saturday.

He says he wants to give his attorney, State Sen. Harry Bovin, an opportunity to prepare his case for an expected legal clash with public officials.

Sheridan, who had pitched a tent in the street and started digging, kept his shotgun close by Saturday morning as he prepared a breakfast of bacon and eggs on a camp stove.

He contends that he is a descendant of George Nurse, founder of this city of 17,000. He said that Nurse deeded lands for the streets but didn't give up mineral rights to the real property which has a market value of more than $3,000 a foot along the curb.

Sheridan says he has located uranium under the street. He contends it belongs to him as a descendant of Nurse, and says he intends to mine it.

Police Friday tried to make Sheridan move his tent and equipment off the street. But on advice of City Atty, Henry Perkins, the attempt was dropped.

Bovin apparently is anticipating some legal maneuver to evict Sheridan from the claim and is preparing a case to restrain the city from such action.

Sheridan's only complaint concerning his self-imposed vigil at his diggings is the noise of traffic at night. But he added, "I can take it. Just realising I soon may be a millionaire keeps my spirits up."

Sheridan said he discovered the strike last week while making a survey of the area with a Geiger counter.

"You should have heard it click when I got over the spot where I staked my claim," he said. "It sounded like a machine gun."

Historic Old Church to Be Busy Locale

JAMESTOWN, Va. (AP) — Jamestown's historic "Old Church" will close to the hustle and bustle of government business July 4 for the first time in 254 years.

U. S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk will convene his court in the church that day for one purpose—the swearing-in of more than 100 immigrants as new citizens of the United States.

After that, the silence of the centuries once more will close in around the stone building erected by the new world's first permanent English settlers in 1607.

Not since 1608, when Virginia's capital was moved from Jamestown Island to Williamsburg, has the government function taken place in the "Old Church." Once, though, it served as both church and legislative hall.

Portland Man Faces Attack Accusation

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A 20-year-old air national guardman from Portland, Ore., has been ordered to appear in justice court Monday to say whether he wants a preliminary hearing on a second degree kidnapping charge.

Fred Hopp is accused by Mrs. Sharon Blackburn of Boise of being one of three men she said abducted and raped her. He is being held in Ada County jail here in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Officers said they had no clues to the identity of the other two men.

Hopp was with a national guard unit which has been engaged in summer training maneuvers at nearby Gowen Field.

Mrs. Blackburn said the men dragged her into their car as she was walking on a downtown street, took her into the foothills and raped her. Then, she said, they dropped her off at her home and told her to "be a good kid and forget about it."

Poles Demand Better Living Conditions

(Story also on Page One)

BERLIN (AP) — Polish workers launching the uprising in Poznan, Poland, shouted for bread, called for the Russians to leave and demanded better living conditions, reports here said Saturday.

The rebels apparently were equipped with plenty of weapons at the outset.

Some unconfirmed reports said Polish troops abandoned their tanks and turned them over to the rebels on the second day of the uprising. Three Frenchmen arriving from Poznan said they saw communist militiamen join the rebels.

Selton Delmar, London Daily Express correspondent, said in Warsaw two tanks and "several units of infantry" helped workers capture the Poznan radio station Friday morning.

The rebellion "is just about over," Delmar told Merrill Mueller, NBC correspondent at Rome, in a telephone conversation.

A German businessman returning to Hannover said the shooting seemed to end after noon.

Frightened by what they called the "revolution," a steady stream of Westerners, caught in Poznan where they were attending an industrial fair, continued to come through the Iron Curtain Saturday. They brought fresh accounts of the strike and riots which flared Thursday into bloody street fighting and suppression. It seemed doubtful if many of these sources would long be left in Poznan.

There was no indication that the outbreak had spread to other cities or developed into a major rebellion threatening Red rule, though there were many rumors and reports of unrest at several places.

Communist officials contended everything was "quiet and back to normal" in Poznan Saturday, but admitted there had been fighting Friday, hours after the Warsaw government claimed the revolt had been crushed.

But Western businessmen who left the city Saturday morning declared "the rebellion has not yet been fully suppressed."

The unofficial reports indicated bands of rebels still were holed up in various places in the heart of the city with machine guns, rifles and grenades or had been dispersed by tanks and troops to strongholds in the outskirts where they engaged in sniping.

Lucien DeLain, a buyer from Muedon, France, one of the few travelers to permit use of his name, said he heard the Red artillery firing sporadically on the center of the city at 9 a. m. when he left Poznan.

"It took an hour and a half for Polish police to escort a group of foreign cars through the military patrols in and around Poznan," he said. "I saw artillery concentrations on the outskirts of Poznan and from time to time I could hear them firing on the center of the city."

He declared the rebellion was "very terrible" and the number of dead and wounded "must be very high."

Two Portuguese businessmen said that when their train pulled out of Poznan at 4 a. m. Saturday, the "shooting was still as strong as ever." They said foreigners in Poznan were convinced the outbreak was not mere rioting but a full-fledged "revolution."

They said the taxi driver who took them to the train station Friday night mentioned the same figure of 400 to 600 killed, that they had heard at their hotel. They said they were "convinced that 99.9 per cent of Poznan's population (of 365,000) supported the revolution."

The Portuguese said they left their hotel for the train at 6:30 Friday night but had to wait until 1 a. m. for the train to depart.

Mayflies Blanket Sidewalks, Cars

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — One of the thickest swarms of mayflies seen here in years blanketed sidewalks, streets and cars and blotted out streetlights in an invasion of the Hannibal area Thursday night.

Parts of the business district Friday were covered several inches deep with the dead insects. Crews with three dump trucks spent five hours removing them from the downtown section alone.

Actor Accused Of Designs On Designer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Edward G. Robinson Friday accused her actor husband of spending their community funds on New York fashion designer Jane Adler.

The estranged wife of the movie star's Little Caesar also demanded the Los Angeles County museum pay her $1,200,000 damages and return 74 paintings she says Robinson either sold or loaned.

The civil suits were filed by Mrs. Robinson's attorney, Samuel Hurwitz. She sued for divorce Feb. 25, 1955. At that time she valued community property at 2 1/2 million dollars and asked for half that amount.

Mrs. Robinson demanded that Miss Adler return gifts valued by the actor's wife at more than $25,000. A plea also was made to compel the designer to account for everything received from Robinson, now starring in a Broadway play.

Mrs. Robinson said a court order was obtained last year restraining the 62-year-old actor from disposing of any community funds except for necessities, pending trial of her divorce suit.

As for the pictures, Mrs. Robinson charged her husband violated the restraining order by selling one for $25,000 and making the museum a "permanent loan" of 73 other paintings valued at $2,849,500.

President Out Of Hospital

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A slightly pale but smiling President Eisenhower came to his country place Saturday to continue convalescing from his operation. Mamie Eisenhower, radiant, rode at his side on the two-hour drive from Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

Two questions were obvious after Eisenhower's three-week hospitalization: How does he look? And is he going to run again? The answers, in the general opinion of newsmen who watched him leave the hospital and arrive at the farm:

1. He has lost some of the rudeness of complexion which has characterized him for years. He walks slowly and deliberately — as anyone does who has undergone major surgery lately. His face looks thinner.

2. If anybody knows whether Eisenhower will stand by his decision to run again, nobody is saying. "He'll let me know in his time," said presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty.

CLARE C. KRUSE was installed as head of the Salem Optimists Club at ceremonies held at Chuck's Steak House this week.

Other officers installed at the dinner meeting Thursday evening were Frank Yeager, first vice president; J. Ed Savage, second vice president; Wesley G. Goodrich, third vice president; Fred Russom, secretary-treasurer; and Robert H. Chown, sergeant-at-arms.

New officers of Opti-Mrs., the group's auxiliary, were also recognized. They are Mrs. Hartley, president; Mrs. Richard S. Ostrin, vice president; and Mrs. Clare Kruse, secretary-treasurer.

Charles W. Terry, former president of the Mobile, Ala., Optimist Club, now a member of the Salem group, presided. Installing officer was John Free, Wichita, Kan., past president of Optimist International.

Retiring president of the Salem chapter is Al Pfeiffer.

The ceremonies were followed by dancing.

Salem Police Find No New Clues in Kidnap Report

Salem police Saturday had turned up no new information on a possible lead here in the kidnaping of three-year-old Stephen Daman in New York last October.

Police were told Friday that a man, woman and child registered at a Salem hotel. The man spent the night at the hotel but the woman and child disappeared, the report said. Officers were doubtful that the descriptions of the persons seen here would fit those involved in the kidnaping.

Washington, Arizona Demos Pick Delegates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democrats in Arizona and Washington lined up their delegates to the Democratic national convention Saturday while Republicans in Tennessee completed their choice of 28 delegate votes.

Arizona's 16 and Washington's 26 Democratic delegate votes pushed the number selected thus far to 1,222 of the convention's 1,572 total.

In Kentucky, meantime, opposing forces of Sen. Clements (D-

Convention of NEA Today In Portland

PORTLAND (AP) — The National Education Assn., claiming to be the world's largest professional organization with a membership of 630,000 school administrators and teachers, opens a six-day convention here Sunday.

Hundreds of the more than 10,000 expected already have arrived for the 94th annual meeting which begins with a Sunday afternoon vesper service to be addressed by Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy of Los Angeles.

Attending will be 5,000 official delegates from the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico. This figure will be more than doubled by members of their families and convention guests.

They are taxing the city's hotel and motel accommodations and hundreds will be housed in rooms in private homes, offered after an appeal by convention officials.

In addition to general sessions, 24 departments affiliated with the NEA will be holding meetings in 40 buildings.

Topics to be discussed range from federal school financing to classroom behavior of pupils. "Proud to Teach" is the convention theme.

Scheduled Speakers

Among scheduled speakers are John L. Buser, Mt. Vernon, Ill., NEA president; Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America and special ambassador to the Middle East; Samuel Brownell, recently resigned as U.S. Commissioner of Education; J. Addison Wagner, Battle Creek, Mich., national commander of the American Legion; and Lee A. DuBridge, president of California Institute of Technology, Pasadena.

One estimate is that Americans own 28,600,000 musical instruments.

Ex-Opera Star Okeh After Operation

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ross Posselle, former Metropolitan opera star, was reported in "quite satisfactory" condition Saturday after an operation for a pelvic tumor at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The former dramatic soprano, in her mid-50s, entered the hospital Thursday and was operated on Friday. A hospital spokesman said doctors pronounced the surgery a success.

Miss Posselle, who has been living at her country home in Baltimore County, Villa Pace, has been active recently in work with the Baltimore Civic Opera Co.

She made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Co. in 1918 and was the first American to do so in a leading role with Enrico Caruso.

For an Englishman, auto nuts and bolts are fittings.
