HUMBOLT, Tenn. (AP)-An escaped mental patient armed with a pistol barricaded him-self in his tenant home Friday night and held off officers for four hours before he was shot and killed by a state trooper.

Sheriff Guy Bradshaw identified the patient as Murray Brooks, 62-year-old farmer who fled the West Tennessee State Mental Hospital at nearby Bolivar about 10 days ago.

'After tear gas failed to force Brooks from his home, several troopers sneaked through the dark to a window. As they started through the window, Brooks came out from sociation, said Friday night. Daniels, speaking to about 50 new association chapter officers, said the results of a survey of state salaries and wages will be available about Aug. I and will be referred to the State Civil Service Commission.

"There is to be no forgotten man in state service," Daniels said at an evening session devoted to training of new chapter officers of OSEA.

The salary and wage survey of state employes is under the di-rection of James May of the Oreogn State Game Commission and M. Brandt of Oregon State College.

Friday's meeting was held in the Salem Woman's Clubhouse. It was part of a training program designed to instruct OSEA chapter officers in organization matters.
