Salem Hubcap Thieves Strip Four Vehicles

Twelve hubcaps were taken from four cars parked in the 900 block of 1st Street between 1 and 4 p. m. Friday, city police reported.

Owners of the vehicles were all working at the Oregon Fruit and Produce Company, 900 1st St., at the time of the thefts, officers said.

Four of the missing hubcaps were recovered near the cannery a short time after discovery of the losses. Police said three hubcaps, valued at $30, were taken from the car of Roy Fowler, Jr., 288 N. Cottage St.

Four hubcaps valued at between $30 and $60 were removed from a car belonging to Edwin L. Frankhauser, 1680 S. Commercial St. Frankhauser's hubcaps were found about 5:15 p. m. by cannery workers.

John S. Anderson, 634 Calapooia St., Albany, lost four hubcaps valued at $60. Mrs. Leo Olson, 875 Cross St., reported the theft of one hubcap worth $10.

Bill Pickett, 335 S. 14th St., told police that an attempt had been made to remove hubcaps from his car but a locking device prevented the theft.

Wheat Quota, Soil Bank Set For Outline

Marion County farmers will have an opportunity to learn about the new Soil Bank and the forthcoming Wheat Marketing Quota Referendum at an information meeting to be held Monday night, July 9 at 8 o'clock at Mayflower Dairy Hall.

The purpose of the acreage reserve program of the soil bank is to assist farmers to direct a portion of their cropland from production of excessive supplies of wheat by compensating them for reducing wheat acreages below their allotments, says Earl Johnson, manager of the Marion County program.

Deadlines for participation in the 1956 program are near at hand, Johnson adds, "so it is important that wheat farmers become informed immediately."

Of equal importance is the Wheat Marketing Quota Referendum to be held July 20. This will also be explained at the Monday night meeting, reports Johnson.

Playgrounds on Parade Swimming Pool Area Offers Other Recreational Facilities

Editor's note: Here is another report of typical activity at one of Salem's 11 public playgrounds, as presented in a Statesman series by former school reporter Barbara Boniface. A different playground is presented each week.

By BARBARA BONIFACE
One of the lesser populated of the summer playgrounds is Olinger play area, situated on the grounds surrounding Olinger swimming pool near North Salem High. An average of 10 to 15 children ranging from 5 to 9 years in age are supervised by Marilyn Olson, a senior in elementary education at Oregon State.

Aside from the regular attendants, many children stop to investigate the recreation on this playground to and from their way to use the nearby swimming pool.

Interesting Games

Games are the primary interest of the youngsters with Chinese checkers and regular checkers played often. Started this week was a challenge game of Chinese checkers involving Ricky Boone, Jimmy Simila and David Ditterick. The winner of this trio will be open for challenge.

Youngsters have been busy at home preparing their dolls and stuffed animals for Doll Day, but they have also spent some of their play time designing posters for the event.

Painting posters for Doll Day were Ronnie Steinmants, Paul Freder, Roger Schmidt, Kenton Edwards and Wesley Goodrich.

Doll Day is not primarily for the girls, for, at this time the boys are asked to prepare stuffed toys for judging, while the girls bring dolls.

Planned for a warm day in the near future is an afternoon Treasure hunt, which will see the children divided into two teams on a search for a treasure to include candy kisses, suckers and other sweets.

Aug. 25 will be the closing date of the Olinger area playground.

Mrs. LaRaut's Rites Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucy LaRaut, member of an Oregon pioneer family, will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the chapel of the Clough-Barrick funeral home, the Rev. Brooks Moore officiating.

Mrs. LaRaut died at a Salem hospital Saturday following a heart attack. She was 83.

Born Oct. 27, 1872, at Kellogg, Ore., near Elkton, Mrs. LaRaut was the daughter of Zibe and Jane Dimmick, who crossed the plains to Oregon. Mrs. LaRaut was a lifetime resident of Oregon and had lived in Salem since 1920.

She was married to Narcisse LaRaut at Wilbur, Ore., in September, 1892. He died in 1949.

Mrs. LaRaut was a member of the First Methodist church in Salem.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Wreen, Minneapolis, Minn.; a sister, Mrs. Mary McKay, Wilbur, Ore.; five granddaughters, Mrs. Althea Luttrell, Tacoma; Mrs. Wilma Moskal, Salem; Mrs. Alta Bartram, Mrs. Aileen Loomis, and Mrs. Berna Lee Meade, all of Roseburg; two grandsons, James LaRaut, Roseburg, and PFC Robert L. Wreen with the Army at Albany.

Salem One of 11 Emergency Areas in Test

Salem has been designated as one of 11 emergency aid areas to be manned and operated during Civil Defense's Operation Alert 1956 in which Portland will be one of 74 target cities.

Oregon's role in the July 20-26 nationwide civil defense exercise will be that of helping hand for simulated evacuees from Portland.

City, county and state civil defense organizations will participate around the clock during the first 36 hours of the operation with the state agency continuing to plan, the problems another 24 hours. Federal CD will then continue the operation until July 26.

The operation will take up where Operation Greenlight of last fall left off. Then a large portion of downtown Portland was actually evacuated. At the beginning CD organizations throughout the state will begin work in preparing for reception and caring of "evacuees."

Assign Housing
At reception and welfare centers evacuees will be registered, assigned housing facilities and in some cases sent to mass feeding centers.

All county communication centers and staging areas will be manned and operative. A traffic control plan, calling for manning of several hundred traffic control points, will be put into effect.

Other operations will include manning bus and truck assembly points, simulating assembling and dispatching of transportation. Supply committees will assemble and play the problem with other units. In some cities air raid warnings will sound.

CONELRAD Alert
In addition there will be a fifteen minute CONELRAD alert over the entire nation. All standard, FM and TV broadcasting stations will go off the air, and only official stations will return to the air to broadcast CD messages. This is scheduled for 12:10 p. m. July 20.

Other emergency aid areas for the operation have been designated at Canby, Sandy, Molalla and Carlton in Yamhill County, Newberg and Carlton in Yamhill County, Hood River in Hood River County, and Banks and Forest Grove in Washington County.

Medical installations will be manned and will handle a normal percentage of volunteers playing the role of sick or injured evacuees.

An estimated 5,000 to 7,000 persons are scheduled to take part in the exercise.

Plans Form For Jehovah Witness Meet Sports Car in 99E Accident

Eighty-five ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses from three states met Saturday in Salem for organizational planning of a District Assembly expected to attract more than 4,500 members to Salem Aug. 2 to 5.

Committees were named to staff a cafeteria capable of feeding 1,000 persons an hour, first aid room and housing department, and to insure carpenter, steamfitter and plumbing service for installations necessary at State Fair Grounds, where the convention will be held.

Plans also were made for a cleanup of the grandstand area July 21 by 100 members from the Salem and Portland areas.

The meeting was in charge of John A. Green of California, convention director.

A 1956 sports car received extensive damage in a two-car collision about 1:45 p.m. Saturday at the junction of Highway 99E and the Woodburn-Molalla road, state police reported.

Portions of the fiber-glass body of the sports car, driven by Thomas Igo, Portland Air Force Base, were completely shattered, police said.

Police listed the driver of the other car as John Franklin Coleman, Woodburn. Coleman was charged with failure to yield right of way, officers reported.
