

Post 136 Nips Dickson, Stays Unbeaten; Steinke Tops Lions

American Legion Post 136 kept its undefeated string in the Class C division of the Junior Baseball League Monday by defeating second-place Dickson's Market, 4-3, and Steinke climbed into a tie for second with Dickson by dumping the West Salem Lions, 6-1, in the day's other two games. Nameless Market defeated Fields Master Service 7-4 and Jackson Jewelers topped Berg's Keizer Market, 5-3.

Post 136 squeaked by Dickson with only two hits off Warren Harvey. Dan Bevens, the winning hurler, gave up three. The victors tallied three runs in the fourth on three walks, a ground out and Bevens' single. Their winning run in the fifth came when Darrel Morgan walked, stole second and scored on John Stiller's double.

Steve Serine singled in the first Dickson run. Bob Morrow singled in the third and scored on a passed ball for another run and the final tally was a homer by Harvey.

Steinke tallied five runs in the opening frame for all they needed to clip the Lions. The runs came on three singles by Loren Whittaker, Lynn Erstaard and Pat Loy, the winning pitcher, and a double by Dave Olson.

Loy allowed only one hit, to Skip Kellout, who scored on a leaders choice for the only Lion run.

Nameless scattered their runs in trimming Fields. Three came in the first off a walk, singles by Steve Stewart and Mike McKinson and McKinnon's steal at home plate. Two more scored in the second and fourth, which saw a double by Bob Brown. McKinnon got his third hit of the day in a two-run fifth.

Bert Wright singled in two runs for Fields in the third and Ron Basinger, single home another in the fifth.

Jackson scored three in the first inning and two more in the second to down Berg's. Jim Compton hit 3-for-3 for the winners and Larry Haskell got the other Jackson hit. Tom Griet was credited with the win after relieving Compton in the second.

Berg's got two of their runs in the second off two walks and two hits by Roger Dinehart and Tom Yunker.

But Williams Threatens . . . Mantle, Bailey Hold Mid-Season Bat Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and Ed Bailey of Cincinnati held mid-season leads Monday in the major league batting races. But the smoking bat of Ted Williams may stand in the way of Mantle's bid for the triple crown.

Williams, 37-year-old Boston slugger, is hitting at a .368 clip. He has, however, been to the plate only 155 times and would need to average slightly more than three at bats a game to finish with the 400 necessary for consideration for the title. The Red Sox have 79 games left on their schedule.

Mantle, who returned to the lineup Sunday following a leg injury sustained in Boston July 4, has a .371 average. The switch-hitting center fielder is well out in front in homers with 29 and in runs batted in with 71.

Maxwell Trails Mantle

Charley Maxwell of Detroit is Mantle's chief batting competitor among the players who have had a minimum of 175 trips. Maxwell, a journeyman outfielder until this season, dropped one point to .361 last week while Mantle dropped eight points before he was sidelined.

In the National League, Bailey has a comfortable margin over runner-up Ken Boyer of St. Louis. Bailey dropped eight points to .333 last week while Boyer lost 17 points and fell to .321.

Rip Repulski of the Cards has come back strong after a season injury and shows a .335 mark (same as Bailey's) with 167 times at bat.

Frank Robinson of the Redlegs remained in third place in the senior circuit despite an 11 point drop to .313. Hank Aaron, who picked up four points, advanced from ninth place to fourth at .310. Wally Moon of St. Louis is fifth with .309.

Kuenns Yakes Climb

Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers also is a hot challenger for the American League batting lead. He climbed five points to .354 with 14 hits in 36 trips. Mickey Vernon, twice an AL batting champion, moved into the No. 4 spot at .324 followed by Bill Skowron of the Yankees with .323.

Big Ted Kuszewski of Cincinnati enjoyed a most productive week before the all-star break. The muscular first baseman took over the National League home run lead. He belted five to give him 22 for the season, one more than Ernie Banks of the Cubs.

Kuszewski also drove in 11 runs to move into third place in that department.

PeeWee-Midget -- Baseball --

Monday's games in the Midget baseball leagues had these results: Eastern League, Leslie Pirates 14, Richmond Royals 12; Leslie Indians 18, Candalaria Cardinals 9; Western League, Barrick Dodgers 7, Hoover Hornets 6; Olinger Eagles 4, Washington Senators 7.

Tuesday games: Eastern League, West Salem Cubs vs. Leslie Yankees at West Salem and West Salem Chiefs vs. Leslie Orioles at Leslie; Western League, Highland Hijackers vs. Barrick Braves at Barrick. Monday's line scores:

Senators 111 31-7 4-3
Eagles 119 31-8 3-3
Davison and Patzer: Shepherd and Davis.

Cards 122 31-8 5-7
Indians 124 8-13 6-6
Cobb and Dirkin: Biever and Hamilton.

Royals 132 31-12 5-5
Pirates 153 09-14 8-2
Applegate and Egeland: Johnson, Gunderen (3) and Martin.

Hornets 230 02-4 4-4
Dodgers 203 04-7 2-9
Erdnart and Nitchie: Vick, Walding (3) and Epping.

Stock Toppers Next at Bowl

The stock hard tops of the Capital Auto Racing Association return to Hollywood Bowl action this week, putting forth with a full program Saturday night. Time trials will get under way at 7:45 p.m.

The Capital Auto Racing group last week put on the 40-plus car destruction derby at the bowl, one that lured one of the biggest auto racing crowds in the history of the Salem arena.

Promoters Ron All of Valley Sports, in charge of auto racing here, will have the complete list of cars and drivers for this week's event in a day or two. All of the winners in other stock hard top programs at the bowl this season will be included.

All is also working on a special event to accompany the regular card and will announce it later.

All-Star Game Slated Today

Cincinnati lefty, is the likely third pitcher.

Lineup shifts will depend on the pitching. Alfons said he hoped to get as many as possible into the game without hurting his club. Stengel, a horn manipulator, always manages to get everybody but the hat boy into the lineup every day.

Game time is 9 a.m. (PST) with a sellout crowd of about 29,000 due to park the Stadium and millions following the game on television radio (Mutual) and television (NBC).

The weatherman is encouraging with a forecast of "mostly sunny, less humid and a high of 85."

of rolled pipe will then be placed on the walled platform, and accompanying refrigeration units will be put in water after sand is sprayed over the pipes and packed solidly. Water will then be added, and four days later the project will be ready for skating.

But that isn't all. Three more KVA transformers are to be added to the stadium power plant for additional lighting, and extra telephone poles will be erected to handle the necessary overhead lighting for the extravaganza.

Asked if this procedure might be a new one for the company, Rice told that it is merely routine. "We are faced with it 48 weeks out of each year," he tells.

The Portland show is but one of six units traveling all over the world. The great Santa Henle is now with one of the units in San Paulo, Brazil. Star of the Portland show will be Hayes Alan Jenkins, the 1954 Olympic Games champion who is being brought to Portland expressly for the 19-night production and who will depart for Switzerland immediately after his conclusion.

Tony Ross Now a Wrestling Promoter

In answer to the numerous "What's happened to Tony Ross?" inquiries, we've been able to find out that the former village rascal has now quit as an active matador and is now a promoter for the game in Texas. Anthony hailed from the Lone Star State in the first place. . . . And speaking of former rascals turned promoters, remember Panvo Ketonen the rugged Finn of many a campaign in the Army ring years ago is now doing the matchmaking in Tacoma, and is promoter for the forthcoming Pat McMurry-Ezard Charles little battle this week. . . . Young golfer Kent Myers, the only Salem entry in the recent National Open, goes into the Army next week. He's now spending his last few days of freedom over at Hinesburg, and has been giving Al Hughes' fine Neskewin course a daily drubbing. It was our good fortune to team with Kent in a Saturday links battle with Salem Senators director Dr. Vern Miller and Generalissimo Luby, and we had 'em dancing a costly jig when it was over. It took us 10 years to find a partner like Myers, and now the guy has to go into the Army. Phooey!

PCC Will Get Bowl Receipts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Rose Bowl football game receipts that UCLA, USC and Washington have been banned from sharing will go, ironically, toward enriching the Pacific Coast Conference which cracked down on them.

The three conference schools have been deprived of their share of Rose Bowl money as part of disciplinary action by the Conference, which says the schools made illegal payments to football players.

Method Unchanged

Actually, a PCC spokesman said Monday, the method of apportioning the receipts is unchanged. He gave this explanation:

The PCC and the Big Ten each get a 50-50 share of what's left over after expenses. The PCC then pays the expenses of the PCC team in the game. Then it decides how much it needs for its budget for the coming year and sets aside that amount. What's left would normally be apportioned among the member schools — 5 per cent to Idaho and 11 1/2 per cent to each of the eight others.

Back to Treasury

But under the penalties prescribed, the 11 1/2 that would have gone next year to UCLA, USC and Washington will instead be diverted to the PCC's treasury. The spokesman said this hasn't been decided how these funds will be used.

UCLA is ineligible to share for the next three years, Washington and USC for the next two.

Protests Made In USC Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A great cry of resentment arose over the Pacific Coast Conference's crack-down on University of Southern California.

Players, coaches and other athletic figures joined in a bitter protest against what most of them called unfair treatment of USC gridders.

The conference meeting in San Francisco Sunday, banned the Trojans from Rose Bowl competition for two years, placed the school on probation for two years, declared 42 players ineligible for taking illegal financial aid and fined USC $10,000.

Withdrawal Suggested

Jim Hardy, former USC All-American, called upon USC and UCLA to withdraw from the conference unless it agrees to a quick re-examination of the entire athletic problem on a realistic basis. UCLA already had felt the wrath of the Conference.

One Los Angeles newspaper said USC, UCLA and Washington, also previously penalized, were ready to pull out of the conference.

Dr. Fred D. Fagg Jr., USC president, demanded an immediate review of the PCC code and re-examination of the penalties.

Meadows Set For Last Week

PORTLAND (Special)—Portland Meadows enters its final week of a fifty-day spring horse race meeting Tuesday, with the eighth running of the "Oregon Breeders Futurity" to decide the final stakes program of the meeting on Saturday. A special race matching both quarter horses and thoroughbreds is scheduled for Friday, July 13, at a distance of one-half mile, with the top quarter and thoroughbred sprinters participating in the special event.

The Oregon Breeders Futurity is styled for 2-year-olds, bred in Oregon, and will be contested at a distance of five furlongs for a purse of $1,500 Added.

Post time for the first race Saturday afternoon, 1 p.m., and a ten-race program will be offered with the popular quarter horses starting the afternoon's program. Post time for the Tuesday-through-Friday cards is 6 p.m.

Oregon Tennis Meet Begins

PORTLAND (AP)—The 58th annual Oregon State tennis tournament opened here Monday with all the top-seeded players posting easy victories or winning by default.

Top-seeded Earl Baumgardner of Oakland, Calif., was awarded a victory when his opponent didn't show up. Also default victories were second-seeded Glenn Bassett, Los Angeles; sixth-seeded Jack Neer, Portland; and seventh-seeded Bob Sherman, Los Angeles.

California's two other top men's hopefuls, Clifford Vickery and Gregory Grant, third and fourth-seeded in that order, advanced to the second round with easy victories over Portlanders.

Clyde Knox, Portland, fifth-seeded, easily defeated John McLoughlin, Seattle, 6-1, 6-2, and Bill Rose, Portland, eighth-seeded, drew a bye.

The huge field of 176 competing in 14 divisions will be narrowed again by Tuesday's action.

Lincoln Bows To Sioux City

By The Associated Press

Sioux City reached a long arm from the bottom of the Western League standings last night to hook Lincoln down a notch.

The Soos' 8-6 win, in the second game of a doubleheader, didn't do them much good, but put Lincoln within grabbing distance of Amarillo, two games behind, and of the improving Des Moines Bruins, only two and a half games out.

Lincoln won the opener at Sioux City 19-3 in a game which counted on the first half standings of the split season.

Amarillo pushed up a full game on the strength of its 9-0 shutout of Colorado Springs and Lincoln's loss. Des Moines whipped Topeka 6-4 and Pueblo measured Albuquerque 5-3.

Some teams move around tonight with doubleheaders scheduled between Colorado Springs at Amarillo and Albuquerque at Pueblo. Sioux City visits Topeka and Des Moines is at Lincoln.

NW Junior Horse Show July 27-29

The 3rd Annual Pacific Northwest All-Junior Horse Show has been dated for the West Highland Hunt Club and the Highland Junior Hunt Club at 3225 S.W. Canyon Court, Portland, on July 27, 28 and 29. It was announced here Monday.

All events are open to anyone under 21 years of age unless otherwise specified in the classification lists. Trophies will be awarded in all events, ribbons to four places. Eldon Fairbanks of Pasadena will judge the show, which is recognized by the Oregon Horsemen's Association and the Associated Hunt Clubs of Oregon.

Troy, Ken Lane In Ring Victories

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Troy started out slow but gained momentum as the bout wore on and came out with a split 10-round decision over Jerry Ludee at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night. Troy weighed 161 1/2, Ludee 163 1/2.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Southpaw Kenny Lane of Muskogee, Mich., jumped into lightweight title contention Monday night with a 10-round split decision over Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, the No. 2 lightweight contender. Lane weighed 138 1/2, Dupas 139.

Death Claims Dick Glendon

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP)—Richard A. (Dick) Glendon, 86, whose crews at Navy and Columbia paced eastern racing in the first three decades of the century, died Sunday night at Cape Cod hospital after a cerebral hemorrhage.

Glendon was an exponent of the body swing or the Glendon layback. His crews swung the body far back for extra power.

Friends said Glendon had had several heart attacks and was a hospital patient several times in recent years. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage on Saturday, seven days after entering the hospital.

Hundreds of future officers became his lifelong friends. Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz stroked his 1905 crew and Adm. James Ingram was stroke of the '07 crew.

Glendon's son, Richard J., succeeded him at the Academy in 1923 and when young Dick moved to Columbia at the end of the 1925 season the father went along as assistant.

Old Dick was called back by Navy in 1929. He closed out his career by winning the Poughkeepsie regatta in 1931.

Cockell Drops Boxing Crown

LONDON (AP)—Don Cockell, British heavyweight champion, said Sunday he decided to give up his title and retire.

The British Boxing Board of Control had called a meeting for this week to consider Cockell's future after his second round knockout by Kiltone Lave in a non-title bout two months ago.

A week after that defeat, the committee deprived Cockell of his empire title.

Kennel Club Asks Fairgrounds' Use

PORTLAND (AP)—The Multnomah Kennel Club, beset with financial difficulties, Monday asked the Multnomah County Commission for permission to use fairground facilities for dog races.

Murray Kemp, general manager of the club, said the county would receive one per cent of the gross parimutuel handle if the plan is accepted. The club also would pay for construction of the track.

Work on the club's proposed track east of Portland halted recently when the club ran out of money.

Three belt handlers have won ABC bowling titles. They are George Wade of Steubenville, Ohio, the 1956 champion; 1955 winner Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee and Marshall Levey of Indianapolis, 1907 victor.

Troy, Ken Lane In Ring Victories

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Troy started out slow but gained momentum as the bout wore on and came out with a split 10-round decision over Jerry Ludee at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night. Troy weighed 161 1/2, Ludee 163 1/2.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Southpaw Kenny Lane of Muskogee, Mich., jumped into lightweight title contention Monday night with a 10-round split decision over Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, the No. 2 lightweight contender. Lane weighed 138 1/2, Dupas 139.

Five Players Tied For Lead in PGA

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Five players were jammed in a tie for the lead Monday after the first of two 18-hole qualifying rounds for the Men's Pacific Northwest Golf Assn. championships at the Marine Drive course here.

John Russell, Alvin Thompson, Gordon MacKenzie and George Drew—all of Vancouver—and Erv Marten of Seattle were tied with two-under par 69s.

The women's section of the PGA championships are being held concurrently at the nearby Point Grey course. For the semifinal and final matches, the women will move to Marine Drive.

Seattle Woman Leads

Mrs. Edean Anderson Ihanfeld of Seattle, two-time women's winner of the championship—in 1949 and 1951—and current Seattle city titlist, took red medal honors with a one-under-par 76.

Women with scores of 90, and under in their single qualifying round will begin match play Tuesday.

Second lowest score in the men's field were 70s posted by 20-year-old Norm Boden of Victoria and Ben Hazlett of Olympia.

Boden, who beat Bob Fleming for the Victoria city championship this year, said he found Marine Drive's fairways to his liking. He had a 33-37 on the par-36 layout. Hazlett is a 5 handicapper from the Olympia Golf and Country Club.

Yost Shoots 71

Bunched in behind them were 10 players with par 71s. Among them were defending PGA champion Dick Vost of Seattle, a former United States Walker Cup player, Bob Kidd and Peter Bentley of Vancouver, Blake Crumb of Powell River, B.C., and John Lynch of Tacoma.

Rod Funseth of Spokane was another stroke off the pace with a 72.

Funseth, British Columbia open champion since he defeated MacKenzie at Victoria six weeks ago, said he was "hitting all over the course."

Four of the 69s were turned in by youthful Vancouver players—Russell, a 22-year-old with a 3 handicap at Point Grey; clubmate Drew, a 4-handicapper who has just moved into intermediate company; MacKenzie, a 21-year-old with a 2 handicap also from Point Grey; and Thompson, until recently assistant in the pro shop at Marine Drive.

Grace DeMoss of Corvallis, Ore., fired a 40-37-77. Carole Jo Kabler of Sutherlin, Ore., United States junior women's champion, had a 40-38-78 and JoAnn Gunderson of Seattle, western U.S. junior champ, also had a 78.
