

Trip to Washington a Treat for Entire Family During Summer

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Our city fathers are ballyhooing Washington, D.C. as one of the nation's best summertime family vacation spots, with bargain rates, bigtime entertainment and air-conditioned lodging as "come-ons." They're calling this season a "summer jubilee" with an "exciting package of historic sights, bright lights and brilliant fun for everyone."

This new bid to lure tourists to the capital in the summer is proclaimed in a pamphlet issued by the Greater National Capital Committee and the Washington Convention and Visitors Bureau.

During the summer months the visitor will find Washington less crowded and the parks and tree-lined avenues at the peak of their splendor. The wonders that only the capital offer—the White House, the shrines, monuments, and government buildings—are all open to the public as usual.

In addition visitors will be able to see Broadway plays and musicals during the third season of "Entertainment Under the Stars" at Rock Creek Park's Amphitheatre.

Also billed are the "world's biggest fireworks display" for the fourth of July on the Washington Monument grounds, free military band concerts on the capital steps and musical programs at the Sylvia Theater and Watergate cruises down the Potomac; and aquatic sports highlighted by the President's Cup Regatta, which annually attracts more than 100,000 during August and September.

Big League baseball, including the All-Star Game, amusement parks, the zoo, even sport fishing on nearby Chesapeake Bay, are being touted as among the "wonders" that only Washington offers to fill every moment of your vacation with thrills and excitement.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is it proper for a girl to borrow another girl's lipstick?

A. While this is frequently done, I still think that lipstick is just a bit too personal an item to borrow.

Q. Are there any kinds of food that one may convey to the mouth with the knife when eating?

A. Most certainly not! The knife is used only for cutting anything that the fork will not cut.

Q. Is it all right for a bride to carry a bouquet if she is being married in a traveling dress?

A. It would be better if she wore a corsage.
