Princess Curtsies

Royalty Meets LONDON—Princess Margaret curtsies to King Faisal of Iraq as the Middle East monarch arrives at London's Victoria Station Monday for three-day state visit in Britain. Queen Elizabeth II and her mother complete the royal quartet. Visible in left background is Sir Anthony Eden, British prime minister. (AP Wirephoto).

Defense Huddle PARRIS ISLAND, S. C.—Marine 5/Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon sits between two of his defense counsel, Emile Z. Berman (left) and Morton L. Janklow, who are in a huddle before start of second day of the sergeant's court martial trial in which he is accused in the deaths of six marine recruits when he led a platoon through marshes and waters here last April. Blacklisted PHILADELPHIA—Actress Gale Sondergaard claps her hands as she tells the House Committee on Un-American Activities here Tuesday that she was "blacklisted" by the motion picture industry for her refusal to testify before the committee. Since 1951, when she invoked the Fifth Amendment before this committee, she said she has not appeared in a single motion picture. (AP Wirephoto).

Mostly Clear It will be mostly clear Wednesday on Atlantic and Pacific seaboard and in most of northwest. Elsewhere it will be partly cloudy to cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers. South Atlantic states and Texas will be warm; cool weather is forecast for New England and the Great Lakes. (AP Wirephoto Map).
