To Make Home in Salem

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Warno Empey (Mary Catherine Reeh) whose wedding was an event of July 14 at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Portland. The couple will live in Salem. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Merrill J. Reeh of Portland and Mr. Empey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Warno Empey of Salem, formerly of Springfield. (Edris Morrison Studio.)

St. Mary's Church Setting for Schwab-Johnson Ceremony

MT. ANGEL—All-white hydrangeas and daisies made a pretty setting for the wedding of Miss Ruth Anne Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin H. Johnson of San Diego, and Thomas H. Schwab of Mt. Angel in St. Mary's Catholic church Saturday morning, July 21. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwab of Mt. Angel.

The Rev. Father Edward Spear officiated at the 9:30 o'clock nuptial high mass and double ring ceremony. Alter servers were Leon Ficker, cousin of the groom, and Ronald Wolf.

Miss Helen Keber was the organist and St. Mary's choir sang the mass.

The bride wore a gown of white silk crystalate over taffeta with pointed, fitted bodice and scoop neckline, trimmed with sequins, and ballerina skirt. Her circular, fingertip veil of nylon net was held by a tiara of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis and a linen and lace handkerchief of her great aunt's, Mrs. Georgia Myers, Pikesville, Maryland.

Proceeding her down the aisle were Miss Margie Schwab, maid of honor, and Miss Judy Ficker, bridesmaid, sister and cousin respectively of the groom. They were dressed in light blue crystalline gowns over taffeta, styled similar to the bride's, but with daisy trim. They wore matching hats with daisy trim and blue slippers and carried nosegays of white Esther Reed daisies.

John F. Schwab of Portland was best man and Joseph Schwab, Mt. Angel, was groomsmen. Both are brothers of the groom. Ushers were William Hendricks, Sublimity, and Arnold Otter, Mt. Angel.

Mrs. Johnson chose a blue and white nylon sheer afternoon dress for her daughter's wedding, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a shaded blue dress with navy and white accessories and white carnation corsage.

A family breakfast in St. Mary's dining hall followed immediately. Serving were Mrs. Joseph Ficker, Mt. Angel, and Mrs. Emil Scharbach, Woodburn, both aunts of the groom.

Reception in Afternoon
A reception was held in the same hall in the afternoon with Mrs. Walter Kruse, aunt of the groom, as hostess. Mrs. Ernie Beyer, Eugene, and Mrs. John F. Schwab, Portland, cut the cake, and Mrs. Fred Prosser and Mrs. Leonard Ficker poured. Assisting were Mrs. Artie Dummer, Corvallis, Miss Jeanette Griesenauer, Miss Lucille Bentz, Miss Marlene and Miss Pat Seifer.

After a wedding trip north, the newlyweds will leave for San Diego to make their home, and the groom will attend San Diego State College. He graduated from

The Allied Arts Fair, sponsored by the Salem Art Association, will take place on the beautiful grounds of Bush Museum on Saturday, July 28. As in former years the art exhibits will mingle with trees and grass, shade will sprout paintings, bush and clothes lines will become museum and gallery. It will be a fine little affair but one that is in every way and sense, still a-borning. Not that the Salem Art Association hasn't worked at it; it is just that the community as yet does not seem to realize that the Bush Museum belongs to all the people.

There are more amateur painters, sculptors, weavers, etc., working in Salem than are ever represented in the Allied Art Fair, there is abundant skill and imagination but Salem's craftsmen, amateur and professional alike, have not made concerted effort enough to give evidence of the existence of those skills. Just as the members of the community as a whole have not given any evidence that they are concerned with the talent hidden here in Salem and the unused creative potential waiting to be used and enjoyed.

The Bush Museum is in the position that the Willamette River was for a long time. Salem seemed incapable of realizing that the river was a great potential both for the community and for the moving commuters of her summers. The success of the River Days surprised almost everyone in Salem, probably most of all those who had boats. . . . Now an art center cannot expect to bring a crowd of 10,000 to an exhibit or art fair, (however it has been done) but there are enough people of talent who hold in their united efforts a community expression that was typified by the River Days.

Subtle Need
We watch with interest the Museum and its grounds and wonder if in a subtle way that the lack of paint on the museum implies more than just a lack of important concern on the part of the city; that the grounds blossom beautifully about the grass cut and watered, the rose gardens flowering exquisitely all around the beautiful house that needs a coat of paint and an understood purpose. It seems to say, "unused because of an undiscovered need," or perhaps it would be better to say, an overlooked need.

Of course to have a need one must understand what one lacks, and apparently it has not dawned on either the city or the community as a whole that they need the museum; and as with her other intangible needs, it must be supported. That a portion of the community's spiritual life is stultified just because the need is a modest and hidden one. It can't race down the river with great speed, it does
