HOLLYWOOD -I have been asked to prepare, for the purpose ample, talented musicians playing of general public edification, a short treatise on a subject close to my heart and to yours. If, at the outset of such a serious task I may be permitted a small please-try, I might say the subject is close to my nerves and to yours, for it is no other than "Neuro TV? Tremens" we may best conquer the palpitations, heightened pulse, cold per-spiration and similar hypertension symptoms which afflict some 100 per cent of those faced simul-taneously by a TV camera and the prospect of proffering the correct answer to a query and thereby garnering a measure of additional personal security in the form of I approach this task with a deep understanding of its importance to people everywhere, and therefore will make no effort to prescribe a general panacea, for indeed none exists. I am no charlatan medicine man hawking a cruet of cure-all elixir. Nor have I reached that scientific pinnacle from which I have been able to produce a pill, pellet, capsule or vaccine guaranteed to immunize a con-testant against "Neuro TV? Tre-

SEWING PRIZE GOES STRAIGHT TO SAVINGS!

When Mrs. J. Floreine Doss brought her $25,000 national sewing championship prize home to Oregon, she knew there was just one place to put it. The money went directly into the family savings account at the First National Bank Branch in her neighborhood.

The idea of setting aside extra money in a bank savings account isn't new to the Doss family. They have been saving ... a little at a time ... for years. The extra cash from the prize boosts the savings in a big way, of course, but Mrs. Doss fully intends to keep the savings habit.

To her, it means a backlog for emergencies, education for her children, and the comfortable security of money in the bank when it might be needed for many other things. She knows that even a big amount like $25,000 (or what is left after taxes) can dwindle away if the family doesn't continue saving.

The point is this: You don't need to be a big prize-winner to have the safe, comfortable feeling that comes naturally when you have money in the bank. Start your own savings habit today at First National ... it's Oregon's favorite place for savings.
