Usual Excitement of Convention Lacking

By ARTHUR EDSON

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago — The motto of today's Democrat seems to be: "Everything in moderation, including the excitement." For their national convention began Monday, and while few of these political shindigs are breath-taking in their early stages, these Democrats were, for Democrats, unbelievably subdued at their afternoon session.

It almost seemed as if it were planned. Usually there is a simple way to bring any Democratic convention to life. Just play "Dixie" and listen for those rebel yells. But neither the organ nor the orchestra let out a peep, of "Dixie" or anything else, while the delegates were settling in their seats.

no doubt — blowing enthusiastically and pungently from the cow yards. Speaking of Stevenson, after dashing madly about, he finally made his way wearily to his hotel headquarters. There were two patrolmen, Jesse Valle and Don Gannon, who guard his suite. Stevenson shook hands with both and said, "you must be getting sick and tired of me."

Demos' Gavel From FDR's Famed Resort

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago — The Democrats' official gavel, presented to the national convention Monday by Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, was made from hickory grown on the grounds of the former little White House at Warm Springs, Ga. The mention of the man who made Warm Springs famous, Franklin D. Roosevelt, brought the first rousing cheer from the delegates.

Senator Kennedy Boosted for Veep Stevenson, Darkhorse Johnson Confer

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago — Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts Monday got the first favorite son demonstration for national office at the Democratic National Convention.

(Picture on wirephoto page.) CHICAGO — Adlai E. Stevenson conferred Monday with the man who holds the largest cluster of favorite son votes, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Stevenson emerged from the 45-minute closed-door parley and said that Presidential candidacies had not been discussed at all.

He told newsmen the discussion included talk about the Democratic platform and the need for a "united party" in November. Stevenson, who is leading the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination, walked from his campaign headquarters to Johnson's quarters on the same floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. After the meeting, Stevenson controls the state's 56 delegate votes. Stevenson and Johnson both reported they had reached no decisions bearing on the Presidential nomination contest.

"PROFILE BREAD IS A TERRIFIC IDEA FOR WEIGHT CONTROL"

Says JIM DAVIES, Trainer of Paramount Studios Of Top Hollywood Stars: "Long work hours, tension make overeating a problem. Appetite appeasement with a slice or two of Profile Bread before meals is a happy solution."

"I switched from expensive tablets to Profile Bread. And it's grand for helping me control my appetite."

Wife of Adlai's Son Seen As Hostess in White House Hope Fades For Boaters

By MARTHA COLE
CHICAGO — A 21-year-old girl may help with the official White House entertaining if Adlai Stevenson wins the Democratic presidential nomination and then the election.

CHICAGO — Search continued Monday with little hope of finding three men missing in a small boat since Thursday off this Southern Ore. coastal town. The missing men are two Grants Pass, dentists, Thomas A. Monahan and J. M. Houston, and their guide, Lloyd Morrison. They were last seen near Bird Island in a rough sea late Thursday.

Northwestern Solons' Vote Said Liberal

WASHINGTON — Each of Washington and Oregon's four Democratic senators had a perfect or near perfect record of consistent liberal voting during the recent Congress, in the opinion of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA).

CHICAGO — Mrs. Stevenson's sister and her official hostess during his term as governor of Illinois, told a reporter young Adlai would like to live with his father if he gets a four-year lease on the White House. Mrs. Stevenson indicated she herself would be official hostess in Washington at that event, and added it was her brother's decision.

Meet Mac McCoy of the "Telephone Patrol". You may not know them, but men like Mac McCoy have a lot to do with your telephone service. Their job: patrolling cross-country lines to spot potential trouble before it can affect your service. Their work goes on in winter or summer, bad weather or good... and mostly off the beaten path. Mac patrols transcontinental lines crossing the desert in Southern California. You might see some of his buddies patrolling in a railroad handcar in Oregon's timber country. Others ride Sno-Cats in California's High Sierra, or a cable car over the Columbia River, or a helicopter in Nevada. All are on the lookout for anything that might threaten cables or poles. Their aim: To keep your service ready to go whenever you need it. Pacific Telephone.

One of the reasons why your out-of-town calls go through so fast and dependably is that the "Telephone Patrol" time and again beats trouble to the punch.

Your local calls—to merchants, friends, and the like—are protected in the same way. Line crews and testboardmen keep a close check on voiceways all over town.

Day or night, every part of your telephone system is under watchful eyes whose job it is to safeguard your service. This is one reason you can count on help from your phone in so many ways.

The telephone men and women of Salem work to make your telephone more useful every day
