Scandinavian Exchange Students Become 'One of Family' in Salem

By JERRY STONE
Staff Writer, The Statesman

New sights, new experiences widened the eyes of two young Scandinavian exchange students Monday as each became "one of the family" in two Salem homes.

For Ellen Hauge, 17, of Oslo, Norway, and Anders Frykholm, also 17, of Stockholm, Sweden, there will be a period of adjustment to American customs as they prepare to enter Salem schools this fall. This is their first trip to this country.

Blonde, smiling Ellen, who will study as a senior at South Salem High School, will reside during the school year with the C. A. Schaefer family, 1310 Strong Rd. Brown-haired, quiet-natured Anders Frykholm will live with the P. H. Brydons, 1809 Park Ave., during his year of senior year at North Salem High.

Lions Sponsor Stay
Miss Hauge's Salem stay is sponsored by the Salem Lions Club and sponsorship of young Frykholm is by the Salem Rotary Club. The exchange program is conducted by the American Field Service.

Among exchange students arriving in other mid-valley cities over the weekend were Ulrich Ahrend, who arrived in Woodburn from Germany, and Terje Strom from Norway, due to attend school in Silverton this year. (Picture on page 11.)

"Highness of American skyscrapers" has been one of the first and foremost impressions of both Miss Hauge and young Frykholm, who traveled to New York on the same ship. They arrived in Portland by plane Sunday night.

Not Demanding
From all they have heard, this pair of alert young Scandinavians is led to believe that studies over here won't be as difficult or demanding as in their native lands.

"However, I hear that your social activities are much greater than ours," smiled blue-eyed Ellen.

Young Frykholm pointed out that a requirement in Swedish high schools are the English, German and French languages. He speaks all fairly fluently.

Neither Ellen or Anders are familiar with American dance steps—a vital part of school social life. But each can expect to pick up plenty of pointers from new-found schoolmates.

Anders will be virtually on a brother-basis with Ian Brydon, also a senior at North Salem this fall. In fact, Ian spent part of Monday showing the young Swede the intricacies of a mysterious game called gold. The new arrival also became quickly acquainted with Durkian Brydon, 9.

Anders admits that the only American sport with which he is familiar is basketball.

Played at Home
"I played some basketball at home," grinned Anders. "but don't believe I know it well enough to make the school team here."

Ellen Hauge in the space of a day already had become close to the Schaefer's two children, Sue, 9, and Steve, 4.

Little Steve was quick to show off pistol and holster to the newcomer Monday. But the cowboy craze is not entirely new to Ellen.

"The movies have made cowboys popular in Norway, also," she commented. "Although not as much as here."

The night-time panorama of the lights of New York City was the most forceful first impression of America for Ellen. She said she marveled at the bigness of Manhattan and also at the number of cars in America.

"But your countryside is much like ours in Sweden, observed Anders. "and your summers seem similar to ours."

Anders ambition is to follow in the footsteps of his father, a Stockholm dentist. Ellen has not yet made up her mind about what she wants to do after schooling. Her father is a lawyer in Oslo.

Young Frykholm has at least one thing in common with a lot of Americans. He is an ardent stamp collector.

2 Teen-Agers Go to Jail for Trespassing
Two Salem teen-agers were sentenced to 60 days in the county jail after they pleaded guilty Monday to trespassing on land owned by Valley Sports, Inc., operators of Hollywood Bowl.

Charles Franklin Thomas, 19, 1375 N. Commercial St., and Arthur Leonard Draper, 18, 2845 Evergreen St., were arrested Sunday by sheriff's deputies.

A 17-year-old boy who was arrested with the pair was conditionally released Monday to his mother's custody after an appearance before Circuit Judge Joseph Felton.

Death Claims Mrs. Hoevet

Mrs. Florence Olive Hoevet, area resident more than 30 years, died Monday in a Salem hospital at the age of 69.

Mrs. Hoevet was born June 15, 1887, at Crawford, Neb. She and Albert Hoevet were married in Crawford Dec. 30, 1908. They moved to Salem in 1926 and also lived at Independence for a time before settling on a farm north of Salem.

They moved from the farm to 1876 South 13th Street in Salem several years ago. Hoevet died in 1954.

Mrs. Hoevet was a member of Women's Relief Corps, War Mothers, Sons of Union Veterans auxiliary and Nebraska Club.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Olive Pence, Salem; four sons, William C. and Paul R. Hoevet, both of Salem; Gilbert J. Hoevet, Jefferson; and Harris L. Hoevet, Portland; two sisters, Mrs. Lura Tandy and Mrs. Blanche Stewart, both of Salem; brother, Harry McDerby, Crawford, Neb.; and 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Arrangements are pending at Virgil T. Golden mortuary.

Harrisburg Man Admits False Pretense Count

A Harrisburg man waived grand jury investigation and pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of attempting to obtain money by false pretenses.

George Kreig, 32, Harrisburg, admitted attempting to cash a worthless check Aug. 8 at a local store. He was arrested last Friday. Circuit Judge George Duncan, who is hearing the case, is expected to impose a sentence this week.

State Hospital Gets Young Theft Suspect

Ronald Eugene Huffman, 16-year-old Silverton boy accused of committing several Salem area burglaries, was committed to the State Hospital Monday for 30 days observation.

Huffman and Raymond Sander Ainge, 16, of MacLaren School for Boys, were arrested in connection with six burglaries committed almost two weeks ago in Woodburn and Gervais. Ainge was transferred Monday from MacLaren to the county jail for a court hearing.

A third Silverton youth, 17-year-old Emory Dwight Lightly, is scheduled for a juvenile court hearing Thursday. Lightly was arrested as an alleged accomplice of the two younger boys in a burglary of the East Side Market at Silverton and Lancaster roads.

The latter burglary occurred prior to the Woodburn and Gervais incidents, of which only Huffman and Ainge have been accused.

Road Roller Bid Okehed By County

An $8,288 bid to supply Marion County's road department with a self-propelled road roller was accepted Monday by County Court members.

The bid, which came from Columbia Equipment Co., Portland, was the only one submitted for the contract.

County Engineer John Anderson described the machine as highly efficient for compacting road fill and patching operations. The roller has been in use by county road crews for several weeks on a "test" basis, Anderson reported.

Two Cornell Medical College scientists discovered, by amplified buzzing, that mosquitoes from different locales have different calls. Their bites are all the same.

A railroad spur reportedly will be constructed from the nearby Southern Pacific tracks to service the new plant.

The firm, now owned by Western Tablet Co., has long been located at Front and D streets.

Remnants of Salem Plane Crash Probed

Remnants of a Navy attack bomber which crashed in flames Saturday night in South Salem were removed Monday for shipment to Seattle and study by authorities.

Meanwhile Lt. (jg) Donald J. Playans, 35, Portland, reservist, who escaped serious injury by bailing out of the burning plane, was released from Salem Memorial Hospital and transferred to a naval hospital at Bremerton, Wash. Playans suffered minor burns on the wrists and neck.

An investigating team from Seattle Naval Air Station, here Sunday to study the wreckage, said it is badly in need of a missing engine cylinder as a possible clue to cause of fire which broke out in the aircraft.

Officials appealed to the public to cooperate in turning up the cylinder, which was believed picked up by someone at the accident scene.

The crash was the first involving a craft from the Salem Naval Reserve facility since establishment of the unit in 1949.

Men from the Salem facility and personnel from Seattle removed the wreckage Monday and packed it on a truck for shipment to Seattle.

Thieves Take Car's Wheels
Hardworking thieves took three wheels from a car in the alley behind 734 Ferry Street early Monday morning, Salem police report.

Ronald Petrie of that address told police his car was found in the morning resting on blocks, except for the one rear wheel. The thieves also left a lug wrench, screwdriver and jack on the ground, police said.

Loss was set at $100, police said.

Man Put in Jail on Non-Support Charge

Leland Ellsworth Clawson, 33, 2045 Fairgrounds Rd., was being held in the county jail Monday night on a charge of probation violation.

Clawson, arrested Saturday by Reedsport police on a Marion County warrant, was returned here Monday by Sheriff Denver Young.

He was placed on one year probation April 18 after he pleaded guilty to a non-support charge.
