

Miss Norma Hamilton Bride Of Dr. Raymond Martin at Church Nuptials Saturday

By JERYME ENGLISH
Statesman Society Editor

One of the beautiful autumn weddings was solemnized Saturday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic Church when Miss Norma Rae Hamilton, youngest daughter of Mrs. Ralph Stump Hamilton and the late Mr. Hamilton, became the bride of Dr. Raymond George Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Martin of Walla Walla, Wash.

The 11 o'clock nuptial mass was performed by the Rev. Joseph E. Vanderbeck before a large group of relatives and friends of the couple, many of whom came from out-of-town. Mrs. Charles Nelke and Verne Each were the vocalists and Mrs. Raymond Barton was the organist. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white asters with accents of garnet roses.

Seven attendants and a flower girl preceded the bride to the altar. Miss Ethel Reeves of Springfield was the maid of honor and the Misses Frances Wald of Seattle, Charlotte Martin of Walla Walla, sister of the bridegroom, Sharon Brown, Joan Marie Miller, Mrs. James Wiemals and Mrs. William Drips of Portland were the bridesmaids. The attendants wore waltz length gowns of trico chiffon in shades of aqua and turquoise. The rounded necklines were edged in turquoise extending in back to form floating panels to the hemline. They wore halos of turquoise and aqua net and turquoise shoes. They carried white butterfly frames centered with garnet roses.

The flower girl, Sheila Martin, niece of the bridegroom, wore a turquoise nylon tulle frock and carried a miniature butterfly with roses.

Bridal Gown of White Nylon
For her wedding the bride selected an exquisite gown of white nylon sheer with flowing skirt terminating in a train. The bodice was made with short, shirred sleeves and sweetheart neckline. The gown was enhanced with shirred panels and scallop trim from bodice to hemline outlined in silver embroidery and small flower design. Her illusion fingertip veil cascaded from a half pillbox headdress of lace with seed pearl flower trim. She carried a prayer book covered with seed pearls and topped with a white orchid. Clarence J. Hamilton gave his niece in marriage.

Robert Martin stood with his brother as best man and seating the guests were Howard Martin and Donald Martin of Walla Walla, also brothers of the bridegroom, Joseph Wolvek of Portland, Dr. Charles Gray, Dr. Thomas Stack of Portland and James Wiemals.

Mrs. Hamilton chose a mink brown crepe sheath dress with brown leather hat for her daughter's nuptials. She pinned a corsage of green and brown cymbidium orchids to her gown. Mrs. Martin attended her son's marriage in a Dior blue satin jacket dress enhanced with beading, a black velvet hat and corsage of pink and garnet cymbidium orchids.

The newlyweds and members of the bridal party were honored at a wedding breakfast at the Marion Hotel immediately following the rites. In the afternoon the couple greeted their friends at a large reception in the Gold Room of the hotel between 2 and 4 o'clock.

Assist at Wedding Reception
Pouring were Mesdames C. Kenneth Bell, Walter Kirk, Ronald E. Jones, Earl Day of Central Point, Donald Brandon, Edgar T. Pierce, Theresa Crockett and Velma Farmer. Cutting the cake were Mesdames William G. Stacey, E. A. Davis of Seattle, Clarence J. Hamilton and Karl G. Becke.

Assisting were Mesdames E. A. Erickson, Charles Gray, Howard Martin, Robert Martin, Keith Cochran, Joseph Wolvek of Portland, sister of the bride, Steven Benson, Misses Ada Bewley of Riverside, Calif., Silvia Ozolek, Bernice Day, Margaret Wilson, Robin McAllister, Ginn Campbell, Judy Erickson, Norma Peterson, Margaret Stump and Marjorie Becke. Passing the dream cakes were Melissa and Julie Nichols, Kathryn Miller and Sheila Martin.

The couple will go north on their wedding trip and for traveling the new Mrs. Martin donned a brown suit with beige blouse and hat of the same material as the blouse. Dr. and Mrs. Martin will make their home in Salem.

Married at Morning Ceremony

Dr. Roy Lieuallen Engaged to Speak at YWCA Annual Dinner

The board of directors of the YWCA announces that the speaker for the annual meeting will be Dr. Roy E. Lieuallen, president of the Oregon College of Education at Monmouth. Mrs. William Crothers, president of the board, announced that the board decided to return to a past custom of holding a dinner meeting in order that husbands of members and friends of the YWCA may attend. The dinner will be at 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday, October 9 at the YWCA.

The fall schedule of activities is getting under way, with some classes filled and closed, and several started but able to take additional members. Contract bridge classes, each of which can take a limited number of additional members at the second session only, are the Monday morning beginners in the Gordon method, the couples' class in Gordon on Monday evening, the beginners' class in Goren point-count on Thursday evening, and the Tuesday evening intermediate bridge class.

Other classes already started which can take additional members are both morning and evening slymnastic classes, the Monday evening class in creative writing, and the oil painting and textile painting classes.

Seven women who want a class in flower arranging with Mrs. Jack Bartlett are waiting for two or three more registrations to make this class possible.

From Roberts' Decorating Studio

To stand on a hillcock and gaze across the clean sweep of the valley below, and to rest in that emotion of space and beauty is a pleasure one should not deny themselves these autumn days. The details of our over-crowded lives lose themselves and living narrows down to only this experience of enjoying the gentle pattern of fields and woods with their changing fall colors. If you would fashion your home around clean cut lines that give a feeling of space, choose modern interior equipment and furnishings. This style was born out of a revolt for over-crowded rooms and is an expression of a desire for unpretentious and simplified living. Used with a few really fine oriental or traditional pieces, or even with a scattering of family heirlooms, it emphasizes an appreciation for them. Mixing it in this way relates it to the past, giving a like security as our own older family relatives. We think of using our sleek, new sofa and chair covered in bright turquoise elasticized nauticalide, certainly the latest in design, in a home where modern and traditional are blended. Let's place it in a room where walls and floor coverings are held to varying shades of nature and where furniture, predominantly modern, is covered in simple textures, all in shades of turquoise. Against this background, and above our leather-like sofa, a large portrait in a wide, carved gold frame and a small, round, Regency coffee table drawn off center, would add character and be truly appreciated. Accessories in plum and gold would complete our decoration.

Among the new arrivals, The beautiful pillows of Siamese silk in vibrant, iridescent colors shot through with gold threads. The Austrian import ivory puckered fabric and our new line of shades made up of this cloth. Beautiful fur sale curtains, using it with the puckered fabric, running either horizontally or vertically. We'll tell you more.

WATCH EACH SUNDAY FOR A DISTINCTIVE design for LIVING

By Henry Meyer

If somewhere in our evolution, mothers had failed to pass to their daughters the know-how of all that goes to make the physical aspects of the home, men would have a rough time in the business of homemaking. It takes years of training and study for a man to do what comes naturally to most women.

The element of training, or training by showing, is so important in our modern living. We must continually show by association to the younger generation the finer things of life so they will accept them as part of normal living.

So often we hear people remark that they will not furnish the home properly because the children are growing. This approach is unfair to the children; the parental reasoning being that when a child becomes 18 years of age they will furnish the home. This, of course, is too late for the child, who will certainly not acquire an appreciation for finer things by the wave of a magic wand.
