Fire Levels Farm Sheds, Brush Area

Statesman News Service
SUBLIMITY, Oct. 6 — Two unoccupied farm sheds on the Don Fisher place eight miles northeast of Sublimity were destroyed Saturday in a brush fire. It was one of two fires extinguished during the day by the Sublimity Fire Department, Assistant Chief D. J. Ditter said.

The fire, which burned the sheds reportedly started on the LeRoy Rue farm adjacent to the Fisher place. The flames burned through about 75 acres of brush, small trees and some stumps. Firemen from the Silverton fire district helped fight the blaze.

The second fire which drew the Sublimity department Sunday burned over about two acres of pasture grass on the Andrew Larsen farm three miles east of Sublimity. It started from brush-burning operations, firemen said.

Willamette 'Volunteers' Clean Up School Site

Airman 1/c Phillip Willmarth, with the U. S. Air Force in England the last four years, has arrived in Salem to spend a 30-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Willmarth, 1495 Saginaw St.

Willmarth is accompanied by his wife, Freda, to whom he was married while in England, and daughter, Beverly, 11 months. A Salem High School graduate of 1951, Willmarth has re-enlisted in the Air Force and will be stationed at the Portland International Airport.

The Willmarths drove across country from New York, and will spend a few days with friends from Mrs. Willmarth's home town in England, who now reside at Vacaville, Calif.

John W. Hunt, 89, Succumbs

John William Hunt, 89, who had resided in the Salem area for more than 60 years, died Saturday at a Salem nursing home. He had lived at 2610 Hollywood Dr.

A retired butcher, Hunt was born April 4, 1867, at Joplin, Mo. He was married to Ella Mitchell in 1900 and she died in Salem in 1944. The couple came here to live in 1896.

Survivors include daughters, Mrs. Ralph Jackson, Salem, and Mrs. Foy Cole, in Canada; a son, Kenneth J. Hunt, Salem; eight grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 3 p. m. Monday at W. T. Rigdon Chapel, with interment following at City View Cemetery.

Fire Prevention Program Slated By Salem C of C

A special luncheon sponsored by the Salem Chamber of Commerce, will be held Monday noon in the downtown Salem fire station in recognition of Fire Prevention Week, which starts today.

Expected to attend are fire chiefs from surrounding areas who will hear an address by Jay W. Stevens, chief of the bureau of fire prevention, National Board of Underwriters.

Stevens now heads a national committee working on home fire prevention.

Also attending will be the 18-piece pep band of South Salem High School.

Salem Post Office Official Attends Training Session

Participating in a regional conference to modernize post office accountant programs this week was S. B. Leslie, chief accountant at the Salem Post Office.

Held Oct. 3 to 5 under the supervision of R. H. Pursifull, regional controller, the special training conference was held for the purpose of extending the industrial-type controllership system to the larger post offices in this region, according to Albert C. Gragg, Salem postmaster.

Leslie also attended a national controllers' conference at St. Louis, Mo., in mid-September.

Voters in Oregon to Decide On Seven Ballot Measures

By PAUL W. HARVEY Jr., Staff Writer, The Associated Press
(Following is a complete summary of the measures which will be on the ballots in the Nov. 6 general election. Seven affect all voters in the state. The eighth pertains only to Marion County.)

While the voters are concerned about who will win the General Election on Nov. 6, they should remember that they must do some important legislating, too.

Seven measures, five of which would amend the Constitution, will be on the ballot.

Voters of Marion County will vote on an eighth bill that would divide the county into subdistricts for election of State Representatives.

Here's a rundown on the measures:

1. To permit the legislature to place emergency clauses on tax bills. The effect of this constitutional amendment would be to prohibit referendum attacks on legislative tax measures.
2. To permit the legislature to place emergency clauses on tax bills. The effect of this constitutional amendment would be to prohibit referendum attacks on legislative tax measures.

Long Illness Takes Life of Mrs. Krostag

Statesman News Service
WOODBURN, Oct. 6—Mrs. Margaret Krostag, 86, died Saturday at a Grand Ronde nursing home following a long illness.

She was born in Wisconsin on March 16, 1870, and came to Woodburn 38 years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Neuhill, and Mrs. Clara Tatom, both of Sheridan; brother, John Engmann, of Wisconsin; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Folz, of Wisconsin; 11 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Luke's Catholic Church in Woodburn.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at Ringo-Cornwell Funeral Chapel at 7:45 p. m. Monday. Requiem Mass will follow at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday at St. Luke's Catholic Church and interment is to be at St. Luke's Cemetery.

Man Reports Knife Threat

A Salem man reported that a juvenile "about 10 years old" pulled a knife on him Saturday morning and said, "I'm going to stab you," city police said. The threat failed to materialize.

John Buechler, 605 S. 22nd St., told officers he was returning from a nearby mailbox about 9:20 a. m. when the boy approached, pulled out a hunting knife and voiced the threat. Buechler said he grabbed the knife away from the boy and the latter fled.

Police said Buechler was inclined to relate the incident to the time about two weeks ago when he said he surprised three boys trying to take a watermelon from his garden. Buechler said a knife also was pulled on him in that episode.

The matter was turned over to the city juvenile department for investigation.

Wildlife, Fish Aid Allotted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—Washington and Oregon will receive nearly one million dollars of the $21,062,000 federal money apportioned to aid in the development of state wildlife and sports fishery projects in the year ending next June 30, Secretary of the Interior Seaton announced Saturday.

The allocations will be on the matching basis of one state dollar for each three federal dollars. The federal funds come from excise taxes on sporting arms and ammunition, fishing rods, creels, reels, artificial lures, baits and flies.

Oregon will receive $410,673 for wildlife resources projects and $103,599 for sports fishery projects. Washington's share will be $349,256 for wildlife and $97,344 for fisheries.

Fraternity Pledges Air City Cause

A group of 20 freshmen pledges from Beta Theta Pi fraternity at Willamette University voluntarily helped clean up a city school site at Margaret and Engel Streets on Saturday.

The group, under the direction of Donald Miller, fraternity house manager, was to have helped city park employees rake leaves at Pringle Park, but plans were changed at the last minute.

Earlier in the week, the fraternity asked Mayor Robert F. White of Salem what they could do to help the community. White suggested the clean-up detail. The property is for possible school use.

Police Probe Fire Complaint

City police said Saturday they were investigating the complaint of a Salem man that five fires have been set on his premises within a month.

Earl H. Duncan, 2630 Brooks Ave., told officers the latest fire, which was quickly extinguished, started in grass and a rubbish pile near his garage about 8 a. m. Saturday. Duncan indicated the fire was of suspicious nature because inflammable excelsior from a ripped-open hassock had been dumped on the rubbish pile, officers reported. The garage was not damaged.

Police said they were told by Duncan that two other fires have been set in grass at rear of his property in the past month, two others have been started at the rear of the garage and one fire was found burning on the parking of the Duncan premises.

Twins Born To Hatrups

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hatrup, 2685 Broadway, became the parents of twins—a son and daughter—Friday night at Salem General Hospital. They were the couple's first children.

The little girl, weight 7 pounds, 14 ounces, came along at 11:03 p. m. and her brother followed at 11:10 p. m. His weight was 8 pounds, seven ounces. Attendants said mother and babies were "doing nicely."
