

Vikings Eye Upset At Albany Tonight

District Go Starts at 8; Saxons Idle

The North Salem Vikings and Albany Bulldogs lure the District 8 A-1 football spotlight to Albany tonight, where the resident crew will be after a virtual title clincher, and the visiting Viks will be after a major upset victory. The game starts at 8 p.m.

Although they are idle tonight, the South Salem Saxons will be vitally interested in the outcome of things at Albany, and will have top brass present for the game on scouting roles. South Salem goes against North Salem next week, and Albany plays Corvallis in the district finale.

Albany in Command
Coach Bud Gibbs' Bulldogs currently have things in command with a record of three wins and tie in district play. South Salem is in second place with a 4-1 mark and Corvallis is third with three wins, a loss and a tie. It will take an Albany loss either tonight or next week in order to get the Saxons and Spartans fully into the title picture. The Saxons and Spartans will of course have to win their final games also, and even then the Corvallis chances will be remote.

Albany has a season record of five wins, one loss and a tie. The loss was to Eugene 7-6 and the tie was with Bend 13-13.

Bulldogs Have Backs
In 182-pound fullback Pat Emmons, 150-pound scabbards Gary Grill and Dave Sease and 165-pound quarterback John Wilson the Bulldogs have a formidable prep backfield. Also, there is adequate line strength, led by 200-pounders Jim Richards at end and Wayne Bradley at guard.

Coach Mel Fox' Vikings are out of the district title picture with a record of one win, one loss and two ties. But the Northsiders fully aspire to upset Albany and then hang on to the Saxons next week, thus ending the season in grand style.

Probable Starters
Probable starters for the Vikings will be Grant Todd at quarter, Bob Burnside and Mike Patton at halfbacks, Herb Graves at full, Gary Kanz and Jerry Hawley at ends, Rod Kitchen and John Socolofsky at tackles, Mike Youngquist and Dean Posvar at guards and Len Hayes at center.

Another district game tonight pits Lebanon at Sweet Home, the district final for both. Bend has already completed district action and plays at Redmond tonight. None has a chance for the title.

Marion Teams Set for Play

Marion B League football teams go into action in five games today and tomorrow, three of which will be loop counters.

The leading Jefferson Lions play the Santiam Wolverines today at Jefferson, at 2 p.m., Colton is at Scio for another two o'clocker today and Chemawa goes to Siletz for a 2:30 o'clock clash tomorrow.

The Philomath Warriors play out-of-league Amity today at Philomath, 2 p.m., and the Sublimity Saints take on the McLaren Boys School club at Sublimity, also today at 2.

Go in after 'em...
Last Wednesday morning found a few more ducks in the Willamette valley, including quite a few big northern mallards. More pintails were in evidence and in the Rickreall area numerous bands of lesser Canada geese were seen circling the fields. Ripper shooting along the gravel bars and back waters should improve now with the arrival of the mallards. Although the main body of waterfowl have not yet left the north country, enough of them are dribbling into the valley to make the shooting interesting. Many geese are now reported at Summer lake and by the weekend the new arrivals should have rested enough to begin leaving the lake in daily flights to the feeding fields. Shooting should be much better this coming weekend at Summer lake than it has been for the past two weeks. Weather will have an important part in the shooting luck and rough, bad weather which is good weather for hunters, should give the scatter gunners plenty to do. More birds are moving into the Malheur shooting grounds and with a little care in choosing a shooting site, hunters should do well at that less frequented spot. The canvasbacks are beginning to show up in greater numbers although many more will arrive before the shooting is tops.

Strong Wind Often Not Good at All
Contrary to some beliefs, a strong wind is not necessarily a good wind for duck shooting. The experts on waterfowl look at it this way. In a strong wind everything looks a bit out of focus to the waterfowl. By nature, the waterfowl are suspicious creatures and they are afraid of unnatural movements. When a strong wind is howling and some ducks approach a pond they are met with several problems. First of all, most pond shooters will use a decoy anchor cord that is too short. The decoys do not "swim" back and forth as they should. In a strong wind the short anchor cord makes lice being declared as the "JV's" from North and South Salem High battled to a 6 to 6 tie on a muddy Bennett Field last night. It was a battle of the fumbles as North dropped the ball nine times and South fumbled the slick pigskin five times. The boys had a hard time standing up, but Saxon back Art Krueger finally kept his feet and after breaking loose from two or three tacklers, went 67 yards around his own right end for a TD with 5 minutes and 43 seconds left in the second period. The try for point was no good.

With just 41 seconds left in the second quarter, the "Baby Viks" unfolded their secret weapon. They unfurled their secret weapon. They were on the Saxon 22 and on an attempted off tackle slant, the ball carrier fumbled and the ball squirted toward the goal-line. Two South-enders dove for the greased pig and succeeded in knocking the ball closer to the goal where three of the Vikings tried to trap it. They in turn booted the ball into the end zone where Mitchell Billings fell on the ball for the northsiders' score. Glen Vanderhoof's kick for the PAT was no good.

The only other threat of the game was by the Saxons as they recovered the Viks' fumble on the second half kickoff and then drove 55 yards to the North Salem 16. Here they were held on downs and the Viks took over.

Chisox Job Resigned By Marion

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Marty Marion today quit as manager of the Chicago White Sox, apparently under pressure, and it was strongly suspected his successor will be former Cleveland Indian pilot, Al Lopez.

In resigning with still a year to go in a two-year contract, Marion said "they (White Sox officials) were not happy with my work."

Marion's resignation came two weeks to the day after Stan Hack quit as field manager of the cross-town Chicago Cubs and marked the fourth such big league action since the 1956 season ended. Bucky Harris quit recently as Detroit Tiger manager. Harris was replaced by Jack Tighe and Bob Schaffing succeeded Hack on the Cubs. The Cleveland job still is open with Leo Durocher and Kerby Farrell rated top candidates.

Lopez Not Approached
Lopez was quoted from his Tampa, Fla., home that he had not been approached by the White Sox, but emphasized he still would like a job in baseball. Vice-President Chuck Comiskey of the White Sox said "you might say Lopez would be on our list of prospective candidates." He said a new manager probably

Three Clashes In WV Circuit

All six Willamette Valley League football teams will be occupied in three loop games tonight, starting at eight o'clock. The leading Central Hi Panthers move to Estacada for their tussle, the Dallas Dragons are to be at Sandy for a go with the Pioneers and the Molalla Indians try the Canby Cougars at Canby.

Ukes Will Know He's Around

CORVALLIS, Oct. 25 (Special) — Tom Berry, above, 5-foot, 9-inch and 183-pound senior fullback from Los Angeles has been having his finest season for the Oregon State Beavers, and will be called upon for much of the offensive load in Saturday's big game here with UCLA. Berry was tremendous against the last California school the Beavers played, the Cal Bears.

OSC, UCLA Lock Door To Drills; Ducks Land

Oregon State College, which has followed the patterns of UCLA in many ways since UCLA assistant coach Tommy Prothro became head man at OSC, again followed a UCLA mannerism yesterday as the Beavers held a secret practice session. It was one of the few closed practice sessions Prothro has ordered since coming to Corvallis in 1955. Coach Red Sanders of UCLA has been holding secret practices all week long.

The two football teams, both using the single-wing attack, will clash in an important Pacific Coast Conference game Saturday at Corvallis. Game time is 1:30 p.m. For the second day, Sanders handed the Bruins a soggy football to practice with. He expects rain at Corvallis during the game. The 37-man UCLA team will fly into Salem's McNary Field today at 2:30 p.m. They will stay at the Senator Hotel overnight and go on to Corvallis Saturday morning. A light workout at 3:30 is planned today on Willamette University's McCulloch Stadium.

Injuries Hit Ducks, Pitt
PITTSBURG, Oct. 25 (AP)—Injuries have handicapped both Pitt and Oregon for their intersectional gridiron battle here Saturday. Bob Pollock, senior left tackle, probably won't start and will see limited action, if he does, because of an injured leg. Quarterback Jack Crabtree, who has led Oregon's passing attack, twisted a knee in scrimmage yesterday and didn't make the trip. The Oregon squad arrived here by plane earlier today. The Webfoots worked out at the Air Force Academy after a stopover in Denver. Colo. Coach Len Casanova planned a light drill tomorrow.

Saturday TV Tilt Pushes Rivals to Play Friday

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press
The growing influence of television on college football is reflected today when Kansas and Oklahoma A. and M. meet at Stillwater, Okla., in a game originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon. This probably is the first time two major colleges have changed the date of a game because of a TV conflict. The Aggies and the Kansas figured that while some people might turn out to see their hardy-successful teams, most of the fans in the vicinity would prefer to spend Saturday afternoon watching record-seeking Oklahoma University go against Notre Dame in the national television game of the week. Kansas, a team with a rather porous defense, scored on Oklahoma last week but took the usual beating and has won only one game this season. Oklahoma A. and M. has a 2-2-1 record. Two other Friday contests send George Washington, tied but unbeaten pace setter in the Southern Conference, against victory-less William and Mary and New Mexico against Denver in a Skyline Conference game. The big ones, as usual, come Saturday with Oklahoma - Notre Dame topping the list in spite of the disparity of their records. Oklahoma, winner of 34 straight games, was bumped out of first place in the national ratings last week when Michigan State piled up a 47-14 score in handing Notre Dame its third defeat. Although Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson insists injuries and lack of manpower will keep his team from piling up a big score, some observers think the Sooners will be out to improve on Michigan (Cont. page 35, col. 2)

Season on Elk Open Saturday

Weekly Report Given By Game Commission

Elk hunters will take to the woods en masse next Saturday, October 27, with the opening of the general elk season in Oregon. In the coastal area the season will extend through November 12, while the remainder of the state will be open until November 21.

Hunters in the coastal areas will be limited to one bull elk with three points or more, including the brow tine, on one antler. Those hunting the Cascades and north-eastern areas may take one bull elk with antlers, while southeastern Oregon hunters may take an elk of either sex.

Hunters are urged to consult the hunting synopsis carefully to determine the boundaries of the open areas. Area descriptions may be found in column seven under the heading "General Elk Season."

Anglers attention! The Oregon Game Commission reminds anglers that only one more weekend remains of the summer fishing season. On October 31 the summer angling season will close in all (Cont. page 35, col. 1)

Machen Will Beat Hurricane Jackson

By DUSTY PLOG
Statesman Sports Writer

Will Eddie Machen, presently ranked No. 7 among the heavyweights, move up in the ranks of the boxing world by beating Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson? If the former world's middleweight champion is correct, Machen will do just that.

We were in Portland Wednesday night to watch the match in which young Machen knocked out eighth ranked Tommy Holman. The man sitting next to us at ringside was Carl (Bobo) Olson, who for two years ruled the world's middleweights.

Olson, somewhat heavier but apparently more at ease than in his fighting days, was managed by Sid Flaherty, who also manages Machen. Olson praises Machen. Bobo had plenty of praise in his voice as he discussed Machen, a 24-year-old heavyweight who has won all 18 of his pro fights, 14 of them by knockout.

"If Eddie gets to fight Jackson, I think he can whip him," said Olson. He explained this by saying he thought Jackson's style wouldn't fool Machen and that Jackson

Crucial Also Faces Beavers

Stanford, OSC Both Need PCC Victory

By BOB MYERS
The Associated Press

Stanford's Rose Bowl favored football team gets its severest test this weekend in the top game involving Pacific Coast Conference elevens.

The Indians tie into Southern California, a non-eligible bowl machine, at Palo Alto in a game that pits the passing artistry of Stanford's John Brodie against the running skill of Jon Arnett and C. R. Roberts. Corvallis Bowl Fever

USC can't even dream of a visit to Pasadena against the Big Ten New Year's Day, but the Trojans can put a serious crimp in the Indians' battle plan. There is a bowl twang at Corvallis, too, where Oregon State (Cont. page 35, col. 2)

Archie, Floyd Sign for Fight

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, who may be as old as 43, and 21-year-old Floyd Patterson formally signed today for their Nov. 30 heavyweight championship bout which could be worth $150,000 to each fighter.

Moore, who claims to be going on 40 in December, exuded much more confidence than the youthful Patterson as photographer's flash bulbs popped in a fancy ceremony at a downtown hotel.

President Jim Norris of the sponsoring International Boxing Club said the Chicago Stadium (Cont. page 35, col. 1)
