

Big Favorites for Olympic Victories

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Sandor Iharos, left, of Hungary, and Parry O'Brien, right, of the U. S., are expected to win gold medals for their efforts in the Olympics in Australia. Because of upheaval in Hungary, Iharos may not be able to get in top shape for his 5,000 and 10,000 meter specialties. But O'Brien is a sure bet, and breaks his shotput record in almost every meet. Hungarians May Miss Olympics

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Hungary's bloody revolt today appeared to have hamstrung the little country's hopes of Olympic glory even if the Hungarian team with its many stars ever get to Melbourne. A London report said that Tata, the country's Olympic training camp, has been the scene of heavy fighting. Jozsef Caermak, who won the Olympic hammer throwing title at Helsinki in 1952, and Ferenc Puskas, Hungary's world-famed soccer captain, were reportedly killed. A later broadcast, however, reported Puskas was alive and uninjured. There have been contradictory reports whether Hungary, which won 16 gold medals in the 1952 Olympics, still would take part in the 1956 games. The first radio reports indicated the team had been withdrawn, but a late news broadcast from radio Budapest, monitored in Vienna, quoted the Hungarian Communist party newspaper, Szabad Nep, as saying the team will take part in the games although its start may be delayed. Late Arrival Planned This agreed with the cable word received by Hungarian Olympic officials who already are in Melbourne. They said the team would arrive Nov. 10 instead of Nov. 3. The games start Nov. 22. Thomas De Margy-Mantuano, captain of the Hungarian Olympic team before World War II and now living in London, said his reports indicated the Hungarian athletes were fighting on the rebel side. That left outside athletic officials wondering how many Hungarian stars, such as runners Sandor Iharos, Istvan Rozszoivgyi and Sandor Rozsvyoi were uninjured and fit for the Olympics. "All the world's athletes will hope that the Hungarians will compete in the games," Jack Crump, manager of the British Olympic track and field team, said.

UW Studies Fumbles; Trojans Make Switch

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—The big switch took place today on the USC Trojans' scrimmage field. Jon Arnett and six other seniors out of the first string, having played five games to which they were restricted by the Pacific Coast Conference penalty against the school for alleged illegal aid to athletes. All seven joined the Spartans, the junior varsity team, and scrimmaged against their replacements and other members of the first squad. The saying on the campus was that the Spartans now will be one of the strongest teams in the country. Passing defense drill was followed by a heavy, 40-minute scrimmage as the Trojans prepared for their encounter next weekend with Washington State.

Sax Need Spart Win For Playoff

(Cont. from preceding page) they tied the Saxon junior varsity. Lee Gustafson's Southenders will have one big advantage in the game. They had no action last week, resting with a weekend off while the Vikes were occupied in their tough game at Albany. But Fox will no doubt have his athletes so high for this one that they won't care if the Saxons had a month of rest. Rawlings Pulls Muscles Gustafson sent the Saxons through offensive and defense drills against the North Salem style of play in yesterday's practice on a wet field. Jim Rawlings, Saxon halfback, came up with a pulled muscle and Gustafson said it's questionable whether he'll be in shape for the game Friday. Saxon reserve end Al King is back practicing with the Saxons and should soon be completely recovered from his sprained ankle. Fox said yesterday that his Vikings would be in top form for the game. No one was injured in the Albany contest. "I think South Salem has the best team in the district and should be much stronger than we are," Fox reported. His Vikings ran through offensive plays in the Monday practice and also worked on defense against South Salem. Mike Kelley and Grant Todd are expected to fill the air with passes when North has the ball Friday night—providing the weather isn't too wet.

No Decision Made In Big Ten Meet

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—A special six-man committee labored today on a new recruiting and subsidizing Big Ten athletic code. It will take at least two days to draw up and no announcement will be made until late tomorrow. The new code is in answer to a recent report on Big Ten athletics which revealed abuses and called for a change to curb them or leave the conference open to all kinds of charges and criticisms. The main part of the new set of rules lies all aid to athletes to proven need calculated by formula.

What is Wayne Morse's real character? Don't take our word for it — take the words of a man who knew Wayne when, Democratic Senator Richard Neuberger. They were written in the days when Mr. Neuberger was a free-lance writer — using his lance to make mincemeat of his future colleague. Mr. Neuberger may regret these comments, but he can't retract or deny them. They stand as an accurate estimate of the man who, under a new

How Neuberger made Hamburger of Morse

"This lean man with the swarthy black mustache and lantern jaw has reduced to an exact science the technique of leading a political double life. "No Parisian roue ever dashed more expertly between boudoir and counting house than does Morse between the dinners of the ADA and the annual banquets of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association." —Richard Neuberger, Frontier Magazine, May 1930

"The advantage of having the breadth of a vast continent separating his spheres makes it possible for a man as nimble witted as Morse to carry off the Jekyll and Hyde performance." —Richard Neuberger, again in Frontier Magazine, May 1930

"Morse's political trail is dotted with the snowshoe tracks of broken alliances." —Richard Neuberger, American Magazine, April 1933

"As the attacker, the denouncer of others, the militant critic, Morse has few peers in the Senate. But he himself mixes little mortar to close the breach which he thus exposes." —Richard Neuberger, American Mercury Magazine, July 1947

Let's make Morse's latest flip-flop his biggest flop of all. Let's send to the U. S. Senate a man of proved character, ability and integrity—your former Governor, DOUGLAS McKAY.
