

Successful Young Hungarian Rebels Called 'The Kids'

By ENDRE MARTON
BUDAPEST, Oct. 29 (AP)—It appears a few thousand daring young men have defeated Hungary's Communist regime. The people speak of them fondly as "the kids."
The communist regime has acknowledged that the revolution is a great uprising, caused by the grave crimes of the past 10 years. It has in effect thrown in the sponge.

Premier Imre Nagy has also triumphed over the repressive forces led by Ernő Gerő, the former Communist party boss. Gerő is the most hated man in Hungary.

Everyone accuses him of committing the grave blunder of calling in Soviet troops to subdue the revolution.
Depart of Gerő
The announcement Sunday night that a six-man directorate has taken over control of the Communist party indicates the complete defeat of Gerő. On Saturday he had the majority of the Central Committee behind him.
The six-man party directorate is headed by Janos Kadar, who succeeded Gerő as Communist first secretary. Other members are Interior Minister Ferenc Münnich, Antal Apró, Karoly Kiss, Solian Szanto and Nagy.
Nagy no doubt was helped by the calling of Sunday's session of the U. N. Security Council.

to hold out to their last bullet.
Only when Nagy's program was announced did they give up.
All Budapest refers with special fondness to the "kids," the students and other youngsters who fought with only small arms and homemade explosives against a highly mechanized army and the professional sharpshooters of the secret police.

Teen-agers, Tanks
I saw one clash on the Buda side of the city between a handful of teen-age Hungarians, and a few Russian tanks.
The rebels were armed with only hand grenades and Molotov cocktails. They lurked in a doorway close to a primitive barricade.
A girl, a small redhead in slacks, became enraged when she caught sight of the tanks approaching the barricade. When the tanks passed she and the rest of the young rebels disappeared around a corner. Soon there was a tremendous detonation. The girl and the rest of her outfit returned, boasting they had made another Soviet tank useless. Later I saw the tank with its treads torn apart.

Inside TV ...

Anne Jeffreys, Bob Sterling Work Hard

By EVE STARR
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—Anne Jeffreys has long been rated as one of the most beautiful girls in show business. She is now recovering from the tragic death of her mother in an auto accident some months ago and is ready to go back to work.
She and her husband, Bob Sterling, will do the "Steve Allen Show" very shortly. They also are working on plans for a spectacular which, they hope, can later be developed into a film series.

He flew back to Hollywood that night, got in at 7:30 a.m. the next morning, and slipped into bed—only to discover that the painters had one room left in the house to paint. The bedroom, of course.
Dick Powell has sounded off against the rating systems. He says "We're playing a numbers game and don't know how they come up with the numbers."
He cited the rating figures of the American Research Bureau for one evening in Los Angeles. He then pointed out that the total number of viewers reported by ARB to be watching TV that night exceeded the entire population of Los Angeles itself!

Bill Bendix, old Riley himself, will do a "Robert Montgomery Presents" show Nov. 19, titled "The Unluckiest Man in the World."
Nov. 6, election day, will be an official holiday at NBC in Hollywood so that everyone can get out and vote. You, too.
"Cheyenne," the Warner's western with Clint Walker, continues to beat out its Tuesday night competition, none other than Phil Silvers, in the ratings. If you believe the ratings, which Dick Powell doesn't.

Bob has been active as host of the "20th Century-Fox Hour," and just last week co-starred with Hume Cronyn and Geraldine Brooks in "Angel's Ransom" on the "Kaiser Aluminum Hour." One moment from the show is a badly bruised arm, the result of a hectic rehearsal session of a fight scene.

Political Telecasts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Political broadcasts for Tuesday, Oct. 30, as reported by the candidates, their representatives, or the stations:
6:15-8 p.m., Douglas McKay, KOIN-TV.
RAIL AWARD GIVEN
NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—"Financial World," a weekly business magazine, tonight presented a gold award to the Great Northern Railway for publishing the best annual report of the year.

CRS is now negotiating to do Gene Fowler's "Good Night, Sweet Prince," next spring as a "Playhouse 90" entry. The book, of course, is a biography of John Barrymore.
Xavier Cugat and Abbe Lane have just finished a pilot film in Rome. This is for their new series, "Around the World With Cugie and Abbe."
Phil Harris, who owns 300 of his old taped radio shows, may release them for airing on radio next season. Same like Jack Benny!
(Copyright 1956, General Features Corp.)

Search Finds Lost Doctor

ASTORIA, Oct. 29 (AP)—Searchers last night found a Portland doctor who became lost on Sugarloaf Mountain while trailing a herd of elk.
Dr. Forrest Bennett said he became lost in the dark and failed to meet a companion at a rendezvous. The companion, David L. Hawkins, organized a search and Bennett was found an hour later.
The throne room, long and elegant, with tall windows overlooking the garden, was richly furnished and carpeted, but evidently had fallen into disuse.
"I suppose the correspondents must be interested in the changes in Poland," he said.
"The whole world is intensely interested," he was told.
He ended the interview by saying priests from throughout the country were arriving to see him and "Of course, I have much work to do."
Since 1953
He returned to Warsaw last night from the monastery where he had been confined since September 1953. His release followed talks between the cardinal and a delegation from the Polish government, including Leon Klizko, deputy minister of justice and a close associate of Wladyslaw Gomulka, chief of the Polish Communist party.
"In Vatican City, L'Osservatore Romano hailed his release and expressed hope that it might be the signal for repeal of Poland's anticlerical laws. The Vatican newspaper said the church's situation in many Polish dioceses remains abnormal. Through the anticlerical laws, the newspaper said, Poland's Communist state sought to "enslave the church in the arbitrariness of public powers openly inspired by militant atheism."
Rokossovsky Through
While the country's Catholics rejoiced over the cardinal's return, there were growing indications that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Poland's defense minister installed by Stalin, is finished.
Radio Warsaw said Gen. Marian Spychalski, the once-jailed Titoist, is running the Polish Defense Ministry. The broadcast said Rokossovsky has "gone on leave" and that Spychalski is "performing Marshal Rokossovsky's duties." Spychalski was appointed a deputy defense minister after the Polish anti-Moscow upheaval which restored his old friend, Gomulka, as head of the Polish Communist party and ousted pro-Moscow Rokossovsky from the party leadership.
Reports circulating in Vienna said Rokossovsky was under house arrest. Other reports said he had returned to Moscow. Apparently, however, he still retained his post as a deputy chief of the Warsaw Pact powers, whose combined forces are dominating the continent.

Cardinal Wyszynski Welcomed by Poles

By COLIN FROST
WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 29 (AP)—Hundreds of Roman Catholics gave a cheering and singing welcome to Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski today in his first public appearance since his release from three years of house arrest.
The crowd of mainly hushed after the 53-year-old primate of Poland stepped out on the balcony above the main entrance to his palace and told them:
"I thank you for your prayers. Now, when we are sure that we have won, let us work for peace in our country because peace is the guarantee of our freedom."
Looks Healthy
Time and again the freed archbishop appeared on the balcony in response to cheers from the throngs in the courtyard. Despite his confinement in a rural monastery, he looked vigorous and healthy in his long black robes. He wore a red skull cap. On his breast hung a cross of silver and ebony.
After making his final appearance the Cardinal received an Associated Press representative and a Western photographer inside the palace.
Only 30 Seconds
"I can spare you only 30 seconds," he said, then sweeping into an interview in reverse—himself leading the conversation and putting the questions.
"Are there many foreign correspondents in Warsaw?" he asked.
"Indeed there are, from all over the world," he was told. He seemed surprised.
"Have they been here long?"
"For many weeks—since the Poznan incident."
Into Disuse
The throne room, long and elegant, with tall windows overlooking the garden, was richly furnished and carpeted, but evidently had fallen into disuse.
"I suppose the correspondents must be interested in the changes in Poland," he said.
"The whole world is intensely interested," he was told.
He ended the interview by saying priests from throughout the country were arriving to see him and "Of course, I have much work to do."
Since 1953
He returned to Warsaw last night from the monastery where he had been confined since September 1953. His release followed talks between the cardinal and a delegation from the Polish government, including Leon Klizko, deputy minister of justice and a close associate of Wladyslaw Gomulka, chief of the Polish Communist party.
"In Vatican City, L'Osservatore Romano hailed his release and expressed hope that it might be the signal for repeal of Poland's anticlerical laws. The Vatican newspaper said the church's situation in many Polish dioceses remains abnormal. Through the anticlerical laws, the newspaper said, Poland's Communist state sought to "enslave the church in the arbitrariness of public powers openly inspired by militant atheism."
Rokossovsky Through
While the country's Catholics rejoiced over the cardinal's return, there were growing indications that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Poland's defense minister installed by Stalin, is finished.
Radio Warsaw said Gen. Marian Spychalski, the once-jailed Titoist, is running the Polish Defense Ministry. The broadcast said Rokossovsky has "gone on leave" and that Spychalski is "performing Marshal Rokossovsky's duties." Spychalski was appointed a deputy defense minister after the Polish anti-Moscow upheaval which restored his old friend, Gomulka, as head of the Polish Communist party and ousted pro-Moscow Rokossovsky from the party leadership.
Reports circulating in Vienna said Rokossovsky was under house arrest. Other reports said he had returned to Moscow. Apparently, however, he still retained his post as a deputy chief of the Warsaw Pact powers, whose combined forces are dominating the continent.

Freed by Reds

WARSAW, Oct. 29 — Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, poses in Warsaw today following release from house arrest by country's new Communist regime. (AP Wirephoto)

Astoria Span On Columbia Study Asked

OLYMPIA, Oct. 29 (AP)—Oregon and Washington highway officials today recommended that the Port of Astoria again review the feasibility of financing a proposed Astoria-Megler bridge across the Columbia River in the light of a revised cost estimate.
Studies by the Oregon State Highway Commission indicated it would cost about $4 million dollars to build the bridge, an increase of 20 per cent since the original engineering-financial report was submitted in March of 1955.
Officials of the two states also recommended that studies be made of less expensive sites further upstream in the event it is determined the span can not be financed at the Astoria site.
The officials agreed to make their recommendations to their respective highway commissions.
Oregon officials at the conference included W. C. Williams, state highway engineer; Forrest Cooper, deputy state highway engineer; and Glenn S. Paxson, assistant state highway engineer.
Washington was represented by William A. Bugge, state director of highways; O. R. Dinsmore, assistant director; and George Stevens, bridge engineer.
Williams indicated in Salem earlier that while the deficit cost of continued adequate ferry service across the Columbia at Astoria might offset the annual deficit costs of the bridge, the sale of long-term bonds necessary for financing probably would pose some problems.
It appeared unlikely the Russians would move out within the next 48 hours. The new national guard—consisting of soldiers, policemen, armed workers and students—has to be organized to maintain order. It is the successor to the dread secret police.

Search Fails to Find Trace Of Negro Missing From Jail

By BENNETT DE LOACH
WILDWOOD, Fla., Oct. 29 (AP)—Two sisters of Jesse Woods reported today they saw white men in cars follow him on his release from jail at midnight Saturday.
Mrs. Ella Jones and Mrs. Willie Mae Neal said they did not recognize any of the men but most of them appeared to be young.
Woods, a Negro, vanished from his blood-flecked jail cell early Sunday. He was accused of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and of making an insulting remark to a white woman Saturday.
The sisters, their father, MacArthur Woods, and two brothers, MacArthur Jr. and Willie, went to the jail Saturday night to post a $50 bond on Jesse and to take him home.
Mrs. Jones said "We just drove around the block down town and then went back to the jail when we saw the cars following us."
Asked if she became frightened she replied "I sure did."
Mrs. Neal said that they could not tell how many cars followed them.
The sisters said they thought it best for Jesse's safety that he be returned to the jail for safekeeping. Mrs. Jones explained that "my father asked if he (Jesse) had been drinking and he (Jesse) said 'a little.'"
Jesse returned to the jail, but later the cell was found empty with blood stains on the floor.
Deputies and state highway patrolmen hunted all day yesterday for a trace of Woods and continued their search today without success.
Fruitless Tips
Sumter County Sheriff M. H. Dowman said several fruitless tips had been run down but there is still no real clue. He rejected an offer of National Guard help from Gov. Leroy Collins.
Collins said after talking by telephone with the sheriff that it seemed everything possible is being done. All was calm in this little central Florida town, 75 miles north of Tampa.
Jesse Woods, 30, is a World War II veteran, with Army service in the Pacific. He returned to Wildwood about two weeks ago after having worked on farms near Kent, N.Y., for eight weeks.
First Trouble
His mother, Mrs. Della Woods, 68, said "that's the first time he's ever been in trouble. I know that he must have been out of his mind."
He is accused of saying "Hello there, Baby," to Miss Mary Evelyn Hill, an attractive brown-eyed, brown-haired school teacher, as she was taking groceries to her car. He had been ordered from the grocery store minutes earlier for creating a disturbance.
Miss Hill has refused to discuss the matter with newsmen.

McMinville Escapee Still Eludes Police

RED BLUFF, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP)—Police recaptured six of the eight prisoners who escaped yesterday from the Washoe County jail in Reno, Nev., but the other two, one from McMinville, Ore., remained at large.
The six were taken late last night when a policeman halted their car near a feed supply store here because he "didn't like their looks."
Police Chief Marion Clay said one of the men told him he had no idea where the other two had gone. The missing men were identified as Owen Burkhardt, 27, McMinville, and Wilbur Montgomery, 25, Pinedale, Calif.
The eight prisoners dug their way to freedom through the jail walls, using a broken shower pipe to hack a 14-inch hole through the crumbling brick and mortar.

Southern Army Posts End Off-Duty Classes Since Segregation Banned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—An Army report said today off-duty educational classes have been dropped by three Southern Army posts since orders last spring banned racial segregation of the soldier-students.
The report was addressed to Sen. Lehman (D-N.Y.), who had denounced segregation in classes on the bases as a "shocking affront to the law and conscience of our land." It was issued by Carter L. Burgess, assistant secretary of defense for manpower.
Burgess said on-base classes had been terminated at Ft. Benning and Ft. Gordon, Ga., and Ft. Jackson, S. C. He said nonsegregated classes continue at Ft. Rucker, Ala., Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The classes are offered on military bases under contracts with educational institutions for military personnel to attend in off-duty hours. They cover a range from high school to university training.
Burgess' letter to Lehman said the Army's anti-segregation order was issued May 14, and said this was one day before Lehman had raised questions about it.

Lehman, making public today a file of correspondence with the Pentagon, said he hoped the Air Force also would ban racial segregation in such classes if it has not done so already.
Issued May 14
Burgess told Lehman that an "agreement has been reached to permit no segregated classes, university extension or otherwise, on any military post or installation." He added:
"We encourage the advancement of personnel in uniform through enrollment in courses conducted during off-duty hours, such courses, of course, being approved courses offered by accredited institutions (presumably courses on the institutions' campuses). Obviously the military authorities cannot be expected to exercise controls in these academic situations."
Burgess' letter pointed to a memorandum from Col. Harold C. Lyon, chief of the 3rd Army Troop Information and Education Division, reporting on a survey of the integration policies at Southern bases.
At High School
At Ft. Benning, the memorandum said, the University of Georgia "withdrew from on-post activity" on June 1. It said that as of June 7, University of Georgia classes for military personnel were being conducted at Baker High School in Columbus, Ga.
It said classes conducted by Richmond County, Ga., public school at Ft. Gordon were terminated May 31.
It said a contract with the University of South Carolina was terminated "at the close of the spring semester" and added there was "no record of a problem regarding segregation."
Can Earn Credits
It said classes at Ft. Rucker "are conducted on a nonsegregated basis" by the State Teachers College of Troy and that Negro personnel can earn credits in these classes in the State Teachers College at Montgomery.
At Ft. Campbell, the memorandum said a program of college classes has been conducted on the post since April 1953, jointly by the Austin Peay State College of Clarksville, Tenn., for white personnel and the Agricultural and Industrial State University of Nashville for Negroes. It said the classes offered by Austin Peay instructors are nonsegregated.
"Racial segregation has never been an issue" at Ft. Bragg, memorandum said.

Dear Ann Landers: Check With Doctor Instead of Lawyer

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: I'm 50 years old, my wife is 46. I'm sure this is the oddest letter you've had in a long time and every word of it is the Lord's truth.
We have been happily married for 20 years, in fact we just celebrated our anniversary. Two weeks ago my wife packed her clothes while I was at work and moved out. She's living with a couple who were our closest friends.
The day she left she drew $6,000 out of the bank and filed for divorce. The grounds, mental cruelty, and we've never had so much as an argument. I've never denied her a thing and this whole affair is a great shock to me. I love her dearly and can't think of life alone. What shall I do?—L.M.
Your wife's age is a clue. It's my opinion that she should have gone to a doctor—not a lawyer. Some women experience deep depressions during this time and are not themselves. The medical profession has developed new drugs which have proven extremely successful in some cases. Check with your family doctor and ask him to speak with her attorney. Good luck.
Dear Ann: You goofed. You don't know your Greek. You told a certain gal who signed herself "Swiss Miss" that Morpheus was the GODDESS of sleep.
Morpheus is not a the... Morpheus is a HE. All you have to do is look in the dictionary and there it is.—EAGLE EYE JONES.
Dear Eagle Eye: Another twenty lashes with a wet noodle for Landers. I goofed. You are soooooo-right. Morpheus was a male, indeed. I heard plenty of insomniacs on this one, believe me, and it's good to know everyone wasn't as sleepy as Yours Truly.
Dear Ann: I'm married and have two nice children. The reason I'm writing to you is because I'm lonesome. My husband started to drink quite heavily about six months ago. Some days he can't even make it to work.
We used to go out together often but now he likes to go alone and I have to stay at home.
I get tired at housework, laundry, cooking and dishes. It's no fun to look at the four walls while my husband is out having fun. Please, Ann, tell me where can a married woman in her early 30's (not bad looking) go at night?—LONESOME LADY.
A woman in her early 30s (not bad looking) who is married to a man whose drinking is beginning to interfere with his job, can take her husband to A.A. meetings at night—and perhaps save the marriage.
Look in the phone book and find out where the next meeting will be held and be there with that man of yours. Good Luck.
Dear Ann: I read your piece in the paper about the nine year old boy whose mother curled up his hair and put him in dresses.
I'd like to tell this foolish woman to cut the boy's hair and put trousers on him right away. My mother carried on the same kind of nonsense until I was 12 years old. I was the fifth boy and she wanted a girl. It took 10 years and two psychiatrists to straighten her out. Please print this if you think it will do any good.—THE EXPERIENCED ONE.
Copyright 1956, Field Enterprises, Inc.

WARSAW, Oct. 29 (AP)—Searchers last night found a Portland doctor who became lost on Sugarloaf Mountain while trailing a herd of elk.
Dr. Forrest Bennett said he became lost in the dark and failed to meet a companion at a rendezvous. The companion, David L. Hawkins, organized a search and Bennett was found an hour later.
The throne room, long and elegant, with tall windows overlooking the garden, was richly furnished and carpeted, but evidently had fallen into disuse.
"I suppose the correspondents must be interested in the changes in Poland," he said.
"The whole world is intensely interested," he was told.
He ended the interview by saying priests from throughout the country were arriving to see him and "Of course, I have much work to do."
Since 1953
He returned to Warsaw last night from the monastery where he had been confined since September 1953. His release followed talks between the cardinal and a delegation from the Polish government, including Leon Klizko, deputy minister of justice and a close associate of Wladyslaw Gomulka, chief of the Polish Communist party.
"In Vatican City, L'Osservatore Romano hailed his release and expressed hope that it might be the signal for repeal of Poland's anticlerical laws. The Vatican newspaper said the church's situation in many Polish dioceses remains abnormal. Through the anticlerical laws, the newspaper said, Poland's Communist state sought to "enslave the church in the arbitrariness of public powers openly inspired by militant atheism."
Rokossovsky Through
While the country's Catholics rejoiced over the cardinal's return, there were growing indications that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Poland's defense minister installed by Stalin, is finished.
Radio Warsaw said Gen. Marian Spychalski, the once-jailed Titoist, is running the Polish Defense Ministry. The broadcast said Rokossovsky has "gone on leave" and that Spychalski is "performing Marshal Rokossovsky's duties." Spychalski was appointed a deputy defense minister after the Polish anti-Moscow upheaval which restored his old friend, Gomulka, as head of the Polish Communist party and ousted pro-Moscow Rokossovsky from the party leadership.
Reports circulating in Vienna said Rokossovsky was under house arrest. Other reports said he had returned to Moscow. Apparently, however, he still retained his post as a deputy chief of the Warsaw Pact powers, whose combined forces are dominating the continent.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER FOR 1957

Here's the glamorous, low-priced 1957 Chrysler Windsor V-8

Announcing the most glamorous car in a generation!

Other cars have changed models... this one changes motoring. Look at its rich, tony lines... at the long, low silhouette... at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle. A new Pushbutton TorqueElite Transmission teams with a mighty airplane-type V-8 engine, developing up to 325 horsepower, to give you a new high-velocity getaway, matchless passing power when you need it.

Come in this week and visit our showrooms. See and drive the most completely new car of the year!

Try Chrysler's new Torsion-Aire Ride and you'll think some of the laws of gravity, motion and inertia have been suspended in your favor. No more rock and roll. No more pitch when you stop. Chrysler's new torque rod suspension and lower center of gravity give you a brand new ground-skimming "feel" of the road. The wheels ride the contours... but you don't. The road just pours under you.

You never looked or felt as good in anything before!

St. Joseph ASPIRIN
WORLD'S LARGEST SELLER AT 10¢
SAVE MORE—BUY 100 TABLETS 49¢
HOW TO FIGHT ASTHMA
Butterflies are caught when sneezing, coughing and difficult breathing during recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma. Stay Free and Breathe with Ease using new improved, Wonder-Working ST. JOSEPH'S. Quietly helps combat allergy, relaxes bronchial tubes, removes choking phlegm. This aids your breathing and soothes sleep. Get ST. JOSEPH'S at drug stores. Money back guarantee.

MAKE OREGON'S TAX PROGRAM FAIR TO ALL. ELIMINATE 45% SURTAX THIS YEAR. VOTE BALLOT MEASURE NO. 1 YES
Paid Adv. Committee for Proposition 1, W. W. Chadwick, Treas., Salem

Salem Automobile Company
435 N. Commercial Street
Salem, Oregon
Phone 3-4117