Robert Brady, Former Salem Man, Dies

Robert G. Brady, 63, longtime resident of Salem prior to moving to Eugene two years ago, died Sunday morning at a Eugene hospital. His death followed a heart attack suffered Saturday at his home.

Brady was service manager for Valley Motor Company for 30 years up to the time the firm changed ownership several years ago.

Born Sept. 11, 1893, at Dubois, Pa., he came to Oregon with his parents in 1910. He resided at Astoria for a time and attended University of Oregon. In 1917 he married Mary Barker of Eugene and they came to Salem to live in 1923. She survives him.

Brady was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Salem and belonged to the Salem Rose Society and the Salem Men's Garden Club.

Surviving besides the widow are two daughters, Mrs. Mary Ann Siddaway, Salem, and Mrs. Carolyn Lindbeck, Norfolk, Va.; son, Robert G. Brady Jr., Salem; brother, Frank Brady, Philadelphia, Pa.; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Geo. Swift officiating.

C. A. Hoffman, Formerly of Salem, Dies

Chester A. Hoffman, 67, a former resident of the Salem and Liberty districts, died Thursday from a heart attack suffered while driving his car near Newberg.

Hoffman had been a resident of Portland for the past six years after spending his previous years in this area. He was born in Salem and lived in the Liberty district until about 20 years old.

For many years he engaged in the logging industry in this area. Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman, Portland; children, Lloyd, Judy and Elna Cascarden, all of Portland; and Stanley Danielson, Minneapolis, Minn.; brother, Oris Hoffman, Salem; sisters, Birdie Doud and Violet Hoffman, both of Salem.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday at A. J. Rose Mortuary in Portland. Interment will follow at Lincoln Memorial Park.

Consumer Finance Group Honors Banking Officials

PORTLAND, Nov. 11 — A. A. Rogers, retiring state banking superintendent, and Marshall Case, newly-appointed Oregon banking chief, Saturday were honored at the closing session of the Oregon Consumer Finance association's 20th annual meeting held at the Multnomah hotel in Portland.

The consumer finance men elected Richard H. Fields, president of the National Consumer Finance Association, and Ed Kuhnert, vice president, and George Henderson, secretary-treasurer. Dean F. Bryson was retained as executive secretary and counsel.

More than 150 consumer finance men from all over the state attended the two-day session. Jim Simmons, Simmons Finance Co., Portland, was chairman.

Key Speakers
Among key speakers at the convention were Robert B. Taylor, Oregon insurance commissioner; L. W. Merchant, Old Republic Life Insurance Co., Chicago, and George Henderson, vice president, 1st National Bank, Portland.

William B. Paul Jr., president of the National Consumer Finance Association, principal banquet speaker, told the group Saturday evening: "We must get the fact across that whatever may be the potential problem we face in our bulging economy, selective controls of consumer credit are not the answer."

"If we must abandon our free marketing system, selective controls are not an adequate substitute. If we must have a controlled economy in peace-time, and I'm not advocating it, the controls must be extended to all facets that have a bearing on costs and distribution just as they were in times of war," he added.

Paul commented that ceilings on loan limits must be raised in those remaining states where it has not already been done and that adequate regulatory laws must be passed in those few remaining states that don't have them.

Moot Court Contest Won By Montana

A Montana University law school team topped the moot court contest here Saturday in competition with teams from the Universities of Idaho and Washington and Willamette University.

The court, held in the Marion County Court House, was sponsored by the college of law of Willamette University, and the student bar association.

Two preliminary rounds, held Saturday afternoon, were attended by Marion County Circuit Judges George R. Duncan, Val Sloper and Joseph B. Felton. The final round, held Saturday night, involved the Montana University and Washington University law school teams.

Arguments of the teams were based on an appeal in a murder case in which the defendant pleaded insanity at the concluding court session was Judge Gus Solomon of the federal court in Portland. Also sitting in was Judge Walter L. Tootz of the State Supreme Court.

Members of the winning team were Richard Allen and Neil Keeler.

The Willamette University law school team was composed of Duane R. Erckgaard and George L. Wagner.

The winning team will go to New York to participate in the national moot court competition. Justices of the U. S. Supreme Court will preside at the final contest.

Vandals Ruin Upholstery on Second Car

A Salem resident told city police the upholstery of his car was ruined on a recent night when somebody threw a bottle of red-colored medication through a window. It was the second such complaint within a week, officers said.

Robert Hanna, 2205 D St., told police the vandalism occurred sometime last Wednesday night while his vehicle was parked at the residence. He said the reddish liquid apparently was methiodate.

Stevens, associated with Stevens & Son jewelers here, will be given the award by William Koch, representing the Elgin Watch Co. The Salem man was one of six persons over the country to win honors for outstanding watch designs.

Koch also will be the main speaker at the Kiwanis meeting.

Mrs. Runcorn, 92, Succumbs

Kitty Marie Runcorn, who would have observed her 92nd birthday next Friday, died Sunday at a Salem nursing home. Resident of 1675 Wallace Rd., she had lived in the Salem area for 53 years.

Mrs. Runcorn was born Nov. 16, 1864, in New York state and resided in Chicago and Wisconsin prior to coming to this area. She was married to Fred Runcorn in 1902 and he died here in 1928.

She was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Surviving are a son, Glenn Runcorn, Salem; cousin, Fern Runcorn, Nyssa; and several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the W. T. Rigdon Chapel, with interment at City View Cemetery.

Cattle Buyers to Converge On Angus Sale Wednesday

Oregon breeders will be judged Wednesday forenoon starting at 9:30, and the selling will get underway at 1:30 p.m. with Kenneth Conzelmann, Bozeman, Mont., crying the event.

Of the 48 head to be sold, six are bulls, 28 are heifers and 10 are mature cows, some with calves at their side.

One offering will be four weanling steers eight months old, weighing around 500 pounds each. Club Projects

"These would be particularly suitable for 4-H or FFA project work," Loren Hicks, Turner, sale manager said Sunday.

"Steadily improved demands at the sales have brought an increase of 50 per cent in consignments this year," Hicks said. He added that while the sale is aimed to fill needs of small herd owners in western Oregon, each year more buyers come to the sales from various parts of the state and across the borders.

Dick Richards, widely known cattleman of Warren, will judge the cattle in the morning, and anyone interested is invited to come out to see how they are placed and learn a few points on what makes a good Aberdeen Angus animal, Hicks invited.

Annual Supper
Carleton McLeod, Brooks, president of the Oregon Aberdeen Angus Association, reports there will be the annual supper and social hour Tuesday night, preceding the Wednesday show and sale. In connection with Tuesday night's event, which will begin at Chuck's at around 7:30 p.m., there will be some discussion of plans for the spring range bull sale, the summer picnic and the Wednesday sale. Everyone interested in cattle is invited to attend these events, too, McLeod said.

Considers are W. W. Cannon, Hood River; John Cupp, Central Point; Fred Gassner, Kemberly; McLeod, Brooks; Oregon State College, Corvallis; Les Perrin, Oak-

Vessel Left In Canal on Egypt Order

CAIRO, Nov. 10 (Delayed) — Anthony Derx, the Dutch captain of the tanker Statue of Liberty said today Egyptian military authorities ordered him to abandon the trapped ship in the Suez Canal for the safety of its crew.

The 22,400-ton Statue of Liberty is owned by the U.S. Cities Service Co. and operated under Liberian register.

Derx and his crew of 46—all Dutch—now are staying in a downtown Cairo hotel.

The Egyptians, Derx said, promised to protect the vessel. The crew is under protection of the Netherlands Embassy and no restrictions have been imposed, he added.

Derx said his ship was among 12 in a southbound convoy which left Port Said, Oct. 30. The other vessels in this convoy, were 2 Dutch, 1 Russian, 1 Swedish, 2 Norwegian, 3 Italian, 1 Liberian and 2 Panamanian. All now are anchored on the canal's west bank about seven miles north of Ismailia.

He said the convoy was halted first to make way for a northbound convoy, then by closing of the El Ferdan drawbridge.

When British-French planes raided the canal zone Oct. 31, Derx said, "We could not move one inch."

But none of the vessels trapped in the canal was hit.
