Better Speech Clinic Slated At Monmouth

MONMOUTH, Nov. 11—A series of six meetings for parents who are interested in helping their children to better speech is scheduled to begin January 9 at 9:45 a.m. in the library lounge, Oregon College of Education.

The meetings will be conducted by Dr. Robert L. Mulder of OCE, director Western Oregon Cooperative Speech and Hearing Center, with the assistance of Dr. David Body, Director of Psychological Services at OCE, and Bill Wensley, state speech consultant, State Department of Education, Division of Special Education.
During the meeting discussions, demonstrations, and movies will cover such topics as: "How to teach a child to make his sounds correctly," and "What to do about a lisp." A session will be devoted to help for the stuttering child and another, how to reward speech success and failure.

Dr. Mulder, coordinator of the program, states that these meetings have been planned because of numerous inquiries for advice about helping children talk better.
The meetings will be informal and there will be no charge for the series. Dr. Mulder cannot work with children with speech problems at the time of the meetings, but parents attending may make arrangements for diagnosis and possible treatment in the Speech and Hearing Center at the Oregon College of Education.
To assist in planning, it would be appreciated if all who plan to attend would inform Dr. Mulder in advance by mailing a card or letter. All inquiries about the program should be addressed to Dr. Robert Mulder, Oregon College of Education, Monmouth.
