A hole in one is a very infrequent occurrence in a golfer's life. But it can happen to anyone at anytime. If your shot reaches the green the ball has a chance to dip into the of cup . . . Take the ease of Judge Val Sloper for a fast for instance. The judge is a golfer of the "middle ability" but enjoys his rounds as much as anyone. Last week he was playing in a round with his wife when the magic came to him. A hole in one, no less. But the difficulty came about when the fool ball got confused and dipped into the wrong cup! judge ripped into his tee shot off the 10th tee, and the ball took off with grand intentions. But somewhere along the way it got confused and lost track homer, it was but the third hit off things in general. It headed for the 16th green the tow-headed Salem righthander and plunked into the cup... But then the judge can The only other hit came in the look at it this way; He played seven holes in one ninth, by Padilla, and he was on

Doc Gordon Shot His Good One-at Wrong Time Finally Beat a Letty

Dr. Ralph Gordon got his big thrill Sunday more when he holed out his second shot on the par-four No. 2 at SGC. The doctor had a very fine round with the help of the eagle deuce, and finished with a 76. His only complaint was that his regular tormentors. Harv Quistad and Bob Powell were not around to pay for the privilege of witnessing the deuce and the 76 . . . Speaking of inspired shooters, we had one for a partner in the Pro-Am Sweeps here Monday, in the person of Harry Miller, Senior golfer par excellent. Harry played very mediocre golf (for him) on the front nine, turning in a 45. But on the back nine the Lebanon pill roller really scorched up a bit, carding a 35. Our best ball of 28 for that side must be in the vicinity of a record of some sort. We teamed up like Mutt and Jeff on that nine, with Harry chipping in with three very timely holes. He parred No. 11 while we were taking a very snappy 5. He got a birdle 3 at the 13th with a stroke, was good for a bit more help to go with our

The course was what we call "let out all the way" for Monday's contest, but the boys still shot the eyes out of it. We did a little research among the visiting pros and ams as to why they acored so well at SGC, and they were almost unanimous in their opinions. The greens were just very easy to putt. They were as amouth as glass and holding very well Monday. If the putts were hit well, they went in. Most greens have some sort of grain to them, but for some reason or other ours don't. Hence there

Monday's field of 152 was one of the largest for many seasons in Pro-Am play in Oregon. They played the new fourth hole on the course, but found that the green is not yet ready for steady play. Still a little thin, but it's going to make for a great hole when it's ompletely ready, that will require a little paying. You won't just be abe to bang the tee shot anywhere. It will have to be placed to the left of center in order to later avoid the huge trees guardin

Senators Crack Chiefs' Jinx

Win No. 15

Lefty Bailey Victim 4-3 Despite Home Run

WENATCHEE July 16 (Special) The Salem Senators finally snapped their jinx in this ball park tonight, by defeating the Wenat-chee Chiefs 4-3 in the opening game of a Northwest League ser es. It was the first victory of the season for the Senators here, after losing six straight in previou

And it was an ex-Chief who hurled the victory. Chuck Lybeck, who has done nothing but win for Salem since being transferred from Wenatchee to the Solons, held his former club to five hits and registered his 15th triumph of the season, against only three losses.

Bailey Whifts 13

The loser despite striking out a whopping 13 Senators, was Jim Bailey, a rookie lefthander. Singles by Karl Kuehl and Cal Bauer, followed by an error and a basesoaded walk to Harv Koepf gave Salern its first run off Bailey in the fourth. Then in the seventh Jack Dunn doubled, Kuehl walked, Bauer singled to score Dunn and Gene Tanselli doubled to score both Kuehl and Bauer for the other three Solon allies.

The Senators needed all four, for the Chiefs broke loose for a quick three runs in the eighth on a single by Marty Rosell, a walk to Roy Parker and Chico Alvarez lofty homer over the left field fence.

Lybeck Fans 9 Chiefs

Lybeck had a good night in the "K" department too, whiffing nine Chiefs. They didn't have a legitimate hit off him until the seventh with two out, when Jose Padilla beat out a slow roller to third. At this point the scorekeeper made turnabout and changed, what had been ruled an error on Bobby Campbell in the fifth, to a hit for Alvarez

Thus when Rosell got his eighth inning single, prior to Alvarez' second base when Lybeck fanned Luis Zayas to end the game.

The Senators had eight hits off Bailey, one of the few lefties the Salem have been able to beat this season. Kuehl and Bauer each had two of the safeties.

Bailey lost his third game of the season, against four wins. Salem beat the kid by the same 4-3 count at Salem in his debut in this league Lybeck had not walked a batter
