The winners of eight major events at the Olympic Games in Australia last November are pictured in the latest commemorative series by the Dominican Republic. The new stamps jointly honor the victorious athlete and his country. Each adhesive shows the athlete in action and the national flag. Eight different countries are so honored with the five lower values for regular mail and the three higher for airmail.

The 1-cent stamp brown, yellow and blue pays tribute to Lars Hall of Sweden, winner of the pentathlon. 2-cent orange, blue and red—Betty Cuthbert of Australia, winner of the 100 m and 200 m dashes. 3-cent ultramarine, red and blue—Egil Danielsen of Norway, winner of the javelin throw. 5-cent olive, blue and red—Alain Mimoun of France, winner of the marathon. 7-cent brown and blue—Norman Read of New Zealand, winner of the 50 km walk. In the airmail group: 11-cent green, blue and red—Bobby Morrow of the United States, winner of the 100 m and 200 m dashes. 16-cent purple, red and blue—Chris Brasher of England, winner of the steeplechase. 17-cent brown, green, blue and yellow—A. Ferreira Da Silva, winner of the 100 m dash and 200 m dash.

The 6-cent U.S. stamp which will commemorate the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Air Force as part of the national defense system will be first placed on sale Aug. 1 at Washington, D.C. The color will be Air Force blue.

Stamp collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 6-center may send their addressed envelopes, together with money order remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington, D.C., prior to Aug. 1.

Exact details as to the design of this stamp will be given here soon, but I wanted to alert collectors of first day covers in advance.

The Republic of Korea has issued four new stamps. The 1 hwan aquamarine depicts planting trees. The 40 hwan violet shows King Se-Zong. The 100 hwan deep purple pictures Chum Shung Dai, an observatory in Silla Dynasty. The 200 hwan red brown illustrates deer.

STAMP NOTES France has issued a new 12 franc bi-colored stamp commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Chambres des Comptes. Egypt has issued a set of five stamps marking the fifth anniversary of the overthrow of King Farouk. Each stamp is 10 mill. A 40 kurus stamp has been issued by Turkey to mark the 10th anniversary of the Truman Doctrine.

Dear Ann Landers:

'Egg-Heads' Will Have Last Laugh

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann, My father is making life miserable for me. He doesn't seem to understand that not everyone can be a red-hot success. He's a well-made man and doesn't let me forget it for a minute.

I'm in my second year of high school and I get along o.k. He keeps pounding me to excel, to be a leader, to be "tops." It doesn't occur to him that some people don't want to be "tops." I just want to be an average guy.

The "eggheads" at our school are laughed at behind their backs. They are considered creeps. Average people are a lot happier and better liked. I'm satisfied to just get by. Is there anything wrong with a guy who doesn't want to be a "world-beater"? Please wise my old man up. Ann, so maybe he'll lay off me.—JUST PLAIN BILL.

Don't waste time worrying about becoming a "world-beater", Bill—with your attitude, there's not much danger.

True, not everyone can be a leader. There must be a certain number of Indians for every chief. Some people don't have the desire to excel. They lack the inspiration and won't put out the perspiration. And this is not to be criticized, BUT, your dad is trying to let you know that this is a rough and tumble world, Bill. The guys who are willing to fight to succeed will make it. The others will "just get by."

If you're content to "just get by," be prepared to accept whatever goes with mediocrity. Don't complain when you see your ambitious, hard-working buddies reaping the rewards that come with plugging away in a competitive world. Remember when you wind up working for one of those "creepy egg heads," that you wanted it that way.

Dear Ann, When I was married last February, I was about five months pregnant. The baby is expected in July and I want to let the family know when it arrives, but I'm uncomfortable about the date.

My husband and I are very much in love, and we have a good marriage. We realize it would've been better to have waited before we started a family, but things didn't turn out that way. Now we both intend to make the best of it.

Shall we send the relatives a birth announcement, or wait a while and then tell them? What is your advice?—A B C

Your relatives can count, can't they? Don't complicate matters by keeping the baby's arrival a secret.

Let them know when the baby is born and make no apologies. If you try to lop five months off the baby's age, a relative is sure to drop in unexpectedly and notice your "three-month-old" infant has a mouth full of teeth. Play it straight.

Ann Landers will be happy to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Rejoins Family BALTIMORE, July 26—Mrs. Mary Leona Gage Ennis, the deposed "Miss USA," arrived home today to the waiting arms of her husband, Air Force Sgt. Gene N. Ennis and their youngest son, 2-year-old Nathan David Ennis. They met her at Friendship International Airport along with about 100 others. If she had it to do over again, "No," she said she wouldn't again pose as a single girl. (AP Wirephoto)
