Advertisement for Johnson's clothes. Text: "We're progressed! When sweet little Agnes drove to school in grandma's Model T, she had to have a tent like duster to ward off dirt and weather. You could hardly find Agnes in amongst the folds. Then along came Little Red Riding Hood and capes were all the rage. There was also the time when no self respecting teen-ager could appear without a slicker. The more adhesive tape patches the better. Looked like a whole band of refugees. But with the advent of the eraser, the latest are the pretty practical car coats. For the benefit of uninformed mothers, the car coats must meet certain rigid standards before being purchased or you're just throwing money down the drain. It must, of course, be water repellent. It also must have alpaca or an equally fancy lining. And it absolutely simply has to have a collar convertible into a hood, or just a hood of some kind! Our new shipment (12.98 to 14.98) naturally meets these requirements to the letter. And while we're on coats, something new, Johnson's is going to have the first "trunk showing" of Columbia coats this Thursday and Friday - August 22nd and 23rd - on our 2nd floor. Which means that Mr. MacLaughlin of Columbia will be here with his sample trunk containing every coat they make. We can't stock them all but during these two days you can choose any style, any fabric, any color and have it made to order. Prices range from $9.95 to 129.95. And if you watch the newspaper, you can clip a valuable $5 coupon and apply it toward the purchase price. But I've got you here. Know what "intarsia" means? Webster says "decorative designs produced by inlaying wood in a background of wood." Just thought I'd throw it in for what it's worth. It pays to increase your vocabulary! No—actually it does have some bearing on this column. Bernard Altman calls the beautiful designs he makes on sweaters "intarsia's." No word here, tho. Our new shipment just arrived... the softest lambswools ever... luscious cashmeres in exciting new styles. Besides new intarsias you'll see the darling double collars in contrasting colors and a flock of other styles. And the latest in the matching skirt is a new back-wrap (guaranteed not to fly open for one of life's embarrassing moments). We can't seem to keep these in stock so I'll just whisper that another shipment of Pendleton reversible skirts just arrived. Yep—all the colors, all the plaids, and the one and only Pendleton "Turnabout" label. Better hurry. You've the time to shop for school. We're stocked full from top to bottom so I'll meet you at Johnson's—Salem's Leading Fashion Store—corner Liberty and Court.
