Optimistic Note Seen in Cattle Report

By LILLIE L. MADSEN
Farm Editor, The Statesman

New confidence in the cattle market was expressed this weekend following release of the report on the fed cattle division for the first three weeks in October.

The optimistic note for those feeding cattle stems from the new evidence that the nation's feedlots hold fewer cattle and calves at this time than in any October for several years. A reduction of 11 per cent over the 13 principal cattle feetings states is reported, with 15 per cent smaller in the four western states including Texas, and a 9 per cent drop in the cornbelt states.

Marketings Lag

Marketings are expected to lag last year by 8 per cent in October; 18 per cent in November and 15 per cent in December.

M. D. Thomas, extension agricultural ecpnomist, interpreting the trend said this week-end that the situation in California appears to be especially significant to Oregon cow-calf operators who supply many weaner calves and feeders. California feeders' inventories early this month were down 12 per cent from last year.

Thomas also said there are signs that many of the cattle to be fed have been contracted and that improved range conditions are keeping the animals on western ranches longer than usual.

"Even so," said Thomas," current conditions including the strong local demand from owners of low-priced hay and grain, keep the cattlemen with something to sell, in the strongest bargaining position he has enjoyed for several autumns."

Poultry Steady

In the poultry market, prices have held steady to firm during the past two weeks. Fryers' prices held about even but hens gained from 1 to 2 cents.

The turkey market at Portland has been somewhat unsettled, but prices show very little change.

Turkey marketings were reported heavy from the nation's farms so far this year. The number yet to be sold is estimated at smaller than in the same months of 1956. This year's production increase was in early-hatched birds, and these have, for the most part, already been slaughtered. Cold storage holdings of turkeys increased by almost 48 million pounds in September. On Oct. 1, storage stocks of turkeys totaled close to 150 million pounds, which is almost 50 per cent above holdings in early October a year ago and almost double the average October holdings. Agricultural economists estimate this to be the highest on record for this month.

W. E. Percy, Ex-Railroad Employe, Dies

Will E. Percy, 2250 Lansing Ave. NE, died Sunday in a Salem hospital after a brief illness. He was 79. The retired Union Pacific railroad employe had been hospitalized for three days, relatives said.

Percy was born Dec. 18, 1877, in Wisconsin. He and Daisy Hinkle were married in Monroe, Neb., in November of 1905. They celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary two years ago.

They moved from Nebraska to Salem after Percy's retirement nine years ago.

Besides his widow, he leaves one son, Herbert Percy, Hayward, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Florence B. Jelden, Salem, and Mrs. Norm Schoenborn, Willamina; two brothers, S. J. Percy, Omaha, and Roy Percy, Monrovia, Calif.; niece, Mrs. John Noren, Seattle; 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services will be 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Howell-Edwards chapel. Burial will be in Restlawn Memory Gardens.

Salem Women Expected at GOP Fund Tea

A number of Salem area women are expected to attend a fund-raising tea of the Republican Women's Federation in Portland on Wednesday. Five hundred persons from over the state are expected.

Plans for the affair were made at a state board meeting held over the weekend in Portland. Among those attending were Mrs. Paul Van de Velde and Mrs. Clark C. McCall, both of Salem. Mrs. McCall is state campaign chairman.

Proceeds from the tea will be sent to the Republican National Committee.

Air Reserve Cadets Receive Awards

Willamette Cadets Earn Commendation

Two cadets from Salem and Portland have received distinguished AFROTC awards at Willamette University—awards which entitle them to apply for regular Air Force commissions upon graduation.

The pair, Gerald G. Ackerson, Salem, and William G. Weaver, Portland, were selected for the honor on leadership qualities, aptitude for military service, moral standing and being in the top 25 per cent of their graduating class.

The two received the awards from Lt. Col. Edward M. Fritsch, professor of air science, at a recent ceremony.

Ackerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ackerson, 597 Knapp St. N. E., is group commander of the Willamette Air Force Reserve detachment. He holds the rank of lieutenant colonel, is president of Arnold Air Society and was named outstanding member of that group.

Weaver, son of Mrs. Helen Weaver, Portland, is a cadet lieutenant colonel and inspector general of the Willamette detachment. He will become group commander in the spring.

Weaver was named outstanding basic cadet in the spring of 1956 and outstanding Air Science cadet in spring of 1957. He also was selected as second most outstanding cadet at Hamilton Air Force Base summer camp this year.

Weaver is executive officer of Arnold Air Society and commander of the Order of Silver Wings at Willamette.

Salem brothers, ages 14 and 16, were cited Sunday afternoon after trading places on a motorcycle, city police said. The 14-year-old was charged with driving without a license and the older boy, riding behind him, was charged with allowing an unlicensed person to drive.

The boys attracted the attention of police about 5:30 p.m. in the 3100 block of Silverton Road NE.

Demos Favor Restrictions On Session Bills

As a means of speeding up a special legislative session starting next Monday, Democratic state representatives went on record Sunday in favor of restricting the number of bills to be introduced.

The feeling prevailed in a caucus here that no bills should be set up in type until after approved by either the rules or taxation committee. The group also wants minority reports and "do not pass" reports eliminated as a speed-up measure.

The caucus agreement to slice special session operational expenses would involve reduction of employee staffs under the size used during regular sessions. Affected would be such positions as doormen and workers in such facilities as mail and billing room.

It was announced that Cornelius Bateson Jr., Salem, will take the job of House reading clerk at the short session, replacing George Bruns, Depot Bay, who resigned. The job of assistant chief clerk in the House will be left vacant as its holder, Ruth Renfro, becomes journal clerk. Mrs. Edith Bynon Lowe will remain as chief clerk.

Demo House members felt that in order to avoid possible legalities committee members should be newly appointed or reappointed when work starts on the 28th. This stemmed from a ruling by the attorney general that House legislative committee cease to exist when a session ends—unless they be of the interim type.

Valsetz Area Fire Battled For 7 Hours

Statesman News Service

VALSETZ, Oct. 20—Ten men led by Marvin Alstott, Valsetz Lumber Co. superintendent, battled for seven hours tonight to conquer a fire that burned a strip one-half mile long through slashing and new plantings on company holdings ion North Fork Siletz River.

The fire apparently started in high wind and low humidity about 3 p.m. from slashing burnings made Saturday in the area, about four miles northwest of Valsetz, it was reported. Damage was minor, Alstott said.

Portland Attorney Named To State Board of Education

Allan Hart, Portland attorney, who was named to the State Board of Higher Education Sunday by Gov. Robert D. Holmes.

Portland Attorney Allan Hart, who has had an active hand in drafting Oregon school legislation, was named Sunday by Gov. Robert D. Holmes to the State Board of Higher Education.

Hart, a former general counsel for Bonneville Power Administration and now a member of the Portland law firm of Hart, Davidson and Veazie, will fill the vacancy left by the recent resignation of Eastern Oregon rancher and banker Herman Oliver.

A Democrat, Hart is Governor Holmes' third appointee to the nine-member board which controls Oregon's eight universities and colleges and general extension division. His appointment, subject to confirmation by the State Senate, is for Oliver's unexpired term. The term expires March 2, 1958.

Born Oct. 7, 1909, at St. Paul, Minn., he was educated at Lincoln High School at Portland and Moran School, Wash. He graduated cum laude from Stanford in 1931 where he was chosen for Phi Beta Kappa, the national scholastic honorary. He received his law degree from Yale in 1934 and served as instructor for a year before returning to Portland to begin the practice of law.

Hart was assistant U. S. Attorney with the Department of Justice in 1936-38 and special assistant to the attorney general in the U. S. Department of Justice in 1938-39 before becoming assistant general counsel for BPA. After two years he became general counsel for BPA, serving that post until 1942.

Following overseas service in the Army in World War II in which he became a Captain in the judge advocate general department, Hart returned to Portland practice.

During the 1957 session he drafted the bill to amend the rural school district organization law.

He is married to the former Ruth Patterson of Portland and they have three children, Martha, Sally and Teddy.

War Vets Offered Land In Arizona

War veterans are being offered 16 farm units comprising 2,903 acres in a public land sale in a section of the Gila project in Arizona, the Oregon Department of Veterans' Affairs has announced.

Veterans of the Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection and World War I may participate in the drawing for land, as well as World War II and Korean Conflict veterans.

Vere A. McCarty, service division manager of the department, said applications must be filed by Nov. 27 with the project manager, Yuma Project Office, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Ariz. Application forms are available at the Department of Veterans Affairs here or at county veterans' service offices.

The farm units, located from 28 to 60 miles east fo Yuma, range in size from 114 to 162 irrigable acres and in price range from $495 to $787. Applicants must possess assets worth at least $5,000 in excess of liabilities and must have had at least two years of farm experience.

Dear Ann Landers:

Boss' Wife Pushy, Chatters Constantly

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband was promoted to a job in a new city. We like it here and it offers a great opportunity for advancement. But the boss' wife won't let us alone.

She's the over-bearing, pushy-type—an authority on every subject. Her loud, bellowing voice drowns out everyone and she chatters constantly. When we were brand new in town I appreciated her help, but she's taken over so completely it's imposible to get out of her clutches.

This woman is also overly attractive to my husband. She's always straightening his tie and picking lint off his suit. When I asked him if he noticed this he said "yes" but he hoped I wouldn't "boil over." He explained that in the present economic rat race, one way to get a break is to be on friendly terms with the boss and his family. How shall I handle this?—IN-A-DILEMA

Tell your husband another way to get a break in the "economic rat-race" is to work hard to contribute something to the business and to apply himself to the best of his ability.

Treat the boss' wife as you would any other "over-bearing, pushy woman." If you wouldn't choose her for a friend under ordinary circumstances, don't knock yourself out for business reasons. "Commercial" friendships are at best unstatisfactory, and nobody fools anybody—for long.

Dear Ann: My second cousin is a girl I grew up with. She was always a liar and I guess time hasn't changed her much.

This woman is exactly five months older than I am. In fact, we used to be in grammar school together. Yet she told the ladies of our church auxiliary she is 34 when actually she's 41 (born in 1916). I said nothing although I could have shown her up for what she is.

Do you think I ought to spill the beans at the next opportunity or let the matter drop?- At times I feel I shouldn't bother myself with such foolishness but then again, why let her get away with it?—FORTY-PLUS-ON-AND UNASHAMED

And exactly what is she "getting away" with? Do you think it means a particle of differece to anyone whether she's 34 or 134? As a wise gal remarked many years ago, the years a woman subtracts from her age are not lost—she adds them to the age of other women.

(Ann Landers will be happy to help you with your problems. Please send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY:

We will come right to the point as to why we are writing this letter. As you are aware, there have been many food plans in this area during the past few years. We would like to explain why Rich Plan is DIFFERENT.

We are a NATIONAL FOOD COMPANY. In the past, many national appliance companies have used the food plan idea as a means to sell freezers. Many are still doing so. Quite often they will affiliate with a retail grocery store to supply the food. Rich Plan believes this method is not entirely satisfactory to the customer. The grocer is in business to make a profit; therefore, the prices are not as low as all would like, or the quality standard is not maintained or, as quite often occurs, the source of food disappears completely.

Our interest here in the Willamette Valley is to establish a volume food route. Buying and selling in volume, Rich Plan uses a central purchasing agency to buy quality food for all Rich Plan customers nationwide. Rich Plan customers enjoy rock bottom prices at all times. We pledge to you, Rich Plan will always have top quality food at the lowest possible prices. We want your food business!

You are aware of grocery store prices! Call EMPIRE 2-5481 after 5 P.M. in Salem for courteous factual information about Rich Plan service and Rich Plan prices. An inquiry on your part will put you under no obligation of any kind.

Yours for a better way of living.

Rich Plan of Willamette Valley, Inc.
R. E. Firth, President

C. M. Osborne, Assistant Sales
Manager In Charge of Salem Branch

P.S. To any RICH PLAN MEMBER from anywhere in the United States, welcome to Rich Plan of Willamette Valley. You will find the same outstanding quality food and service and the same low prices you have always enjoyed with Rich Plan. Just give us a call.
