

Russ, China Accused of War Risk

By MILTON BESSER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 12.—The United States today accused the Soviet Union and Red China of risking war by illegal shipments of modern weapons, including planes and rockets, into North Korea.

Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) made the charge before the U.N.'s 82-nation political committee, where he declared the North Korean government was not entitled to any more consideration than gangsters who invade a private home.

Judd's use of the word gangster touched off some sharp exchanges in the committee, which opened debate on an issue long unresolved in the United Nations—the unification of Korea.

India Try Fails
India lost out in a Soviet-supported attempt to invite representatives of both North and South Korea to speak before the committee. The vote was 20 in favor, 36 against and 20 abstaining.

The committee then approved 44 to 15 with 16 abstentions a U.S. resolution inviting only South Korea. Ambassador You Chan Yang was seated with the understanding he could talk but not vote.

Judd advanced a four-point program which he said would demonstrate to the world whether "the Communists in North Korea and their supporters in Communist China and the Soviet Union really desire a peaceful settlement in Korea."

Troops Withdrawal
The four points were withdrawal of Communist Chinese troops from Korea, response to U.N. proposals for peaceful unification, a satisfactory accounting for 2,720 missing U.N. military personnel, and return of thousands of abducted South Korean civilians to their homes, "or at least to disclose their fate."

Judd told the committee that the situation in North Korea is "still tense and dangerous. He estimated the Communists have 35 divisions in North Korea, equipped with the latest weapons of war, including 'attack aircraft in massive numbers.' He said there is at least one rocket division. Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev accused some states of following a policy of favoritism that he said only encouraged the 'expansionist aspirations' of South Korea.

Syria's Ambassador Farid Zein-eddine, speaking in support of the proposal to seat North Korea, said objectively demanded a hearing from both sides.

Mexico Rail Traffic Shows Steady Increase

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 12 (AP)—Rail passenger traffic declined? Not in Mexico. The National Railways reports it carried 25 million passengers in the first nine months of 1957, the same total as for all last year. The traffic has risen steadily since 1954, when there were 20 million riders.
