Exclusive Interview

As a Child, Ingrid Wanted To See Her Name in Paper

Ed. Note: Eddy Gilmore, AP staff writer in London, obtained the following interview with Ingrid Bergman, the actress. It is one of the few occasions in which she has consented to a personal interview.

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)— Ingrid Bergman said today she wished the world would judge her as an actress and leave her private life alone.

"I'm starting a new life," she announced, without a trace of bitterness, "and I do feel that I have some right to privacy."

The interview took place in a small restaurant near the studio where she is making her new movie "Indiscreet" with Cary Grant as costar.

She had just swallowed her first bite of food when a photographer bobbed up beside her table.

"But you are an actress. One whose private life has hit the headlines in bold type," she was told.

"Oh, yes," she nodded as the flashbulbs illuminated the strong and beautiful features of her face. "I know that all too well."

Only Gave Answers

The twice-married mother of four children—three by Italian director Roberto Rossellini and one by her first husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom—spoke about her troubles only in answer to questions.

As to Rossellini, from whom she legally separated on Nov. 7, she politely refused to discuss him.

"People keep telling me that a million housewives would like to change places with me," she said. Then, after a pause, she added: "I wonder."

With a quick little laugh, she pecked at her bacon and eggs.

"I've had troubles. Yes. But, if I had to live my life all over again, I'd still want to be an actress and be this one—Ingrid Bergman."

"But, are you happy?" she was asked.

There was only the slightest hesitation.

"Yes. Yes. I'm happy."

She lifted her eyes.

"There are my children. I miss them terribly, of course."

Then she smiled again.

At Christmas Time

"But I shall be seeing them at Christmas. We have five days holiday from picture making. I expect to visit them in Italy. Or, if I find a house or an apartment here, to bring them to London."

She said she found it difficult going house hunting and keeping up with the grinding pace of a movie studio.

"I want something modern. Something with at least new furniture."

She is living in a downtown hotel.

"I hate to move the children into a hotel. Not that they mind it. They've lived in hotels a lot in their lives and they like it. It amuses them, you know, pressing the buttons and all that."

Did she plan to return to America?

"No, I have no plans for that. I don't want to bring my children up there. I want to give them a European education. After all, I'm European."

The actress explained that after she finishes "Indiscreet" she will go to Formosa—probably in February—to make another movie.

"I may stop off in Hollywood then."

Back to Italy

Her mind flipped back to Italy. She said one of her toughest moments was just after her recent separation from Rossellini, whom she married in 1950.

"I was feeling very upset. You know, leaving the children and all that, and they—Italian reporters—kept firing all those ugly questions at me."

She bit her lip.

"Some of the questions were pretty horrible."

She shrugged her shoulders and added: "But that's the way it goes. That's life."

A faraway look came into her eyes.

"You know, I remember telling my father when I was a child that I wanted to be something when I grew up—something that would get me a lot of attention in the newspapers."

She waved away a coffee and laughed.

"Well, I certainly succeeded in that."

Former Red Author Fast Cuts Russ Ties With Book

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP) — Author Howard Fast, winner of international communism's highest honor, the Stalin Peace Prize, has signed and sealed his renunciation of communism with a book declaring the Communist party is a prison.

Fast, probably the most widely read American author in Communist-bloc countries, says in a volume telling the story of his disillusionment with the Communist movement:

"Whatever the Communist party once was, today it is a prison for man's best and boldest dreams. Tomorrow belongs to those who break down the prison walls that enclose the minds of men, not to those who support such walls. For mankind the promise of tomorrow has been and always will be the widening of intellect and horizon — in ever greater vistas of individual freedom."

'Found Freedom'

Fast announced: ". . . I have found freedom."

He affirmed his faith in American democracy after 13 years of membership in the Communist party, in which at the last stage he remained virtually the only American intellectual of distinction to support the Kremlin-directed movement.

Of his decision to leave the party, Fast says in his book, "The Naked God," to be published tomorrow:

It is "not because the United States of America is a perfect democracy — its history of imperfection has filled many a book and will continue to do so — but because it is a land where the individual, in his work and in his rights, is recognized and defended. Sometimes better, sometimes worse—but always defended."

Crimes of Stalin

Fast tells of the impact upon him of the revelations by Nikita Khrushchev about the crimes of Joseph Stalin in Khrushchev's speech of Feb. 25, 1956, at the 20th Party Congress:

"There was the evil in what we dreamed of as Communists; we took the noblest dreams and hopes of mankind as our credo; the evil we did was to accept the degradation of our own souls. And because we surrendered in ourselves, in our own party existence, all the best and most precious gains and liberties of mankind, because we did this we betrayed mankind, and the Communist party became a thing of destruction."

Fast is 43 years old. He is the author of more than a dozen novels, some of them, such as "Citizen Tom Paine," well known to American readers. Most of his writing dealt with American historical themes, and some of it was frank propaganda for the Communist party. He joined the American Communist party during the war in 1943 and stuck with it until 1956.

"The Naked God" is published by Frederick A. Praeger of New York.

NATO to Consider Far-Reaching Plans, Spaak Says

THE HAGUE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak today indicated that far-reaching integration of NATO military forces and of supporting industries would be proposed at next month's meeting of NATO chiefs of state in Paris.

The NATO secretary general, on a three-day official visit here, told a news conference that NATO should progress from being a mere alliance into a community where "the chiefs of state will accept the principle of interdependence."

Fishermen Plea For Crab Season After January 1

PORTLAND, Nov. 20 (AP) — The Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission today was told the crab season in Oregon and Washington should not be opened until Jan. 1 of each year.

Fishermen from four coastal Northwest towns said that crabs shed their shells in the winter and do not recover their full flesh before Jan. 1.

The fishermen made the plea as the commission ended a three-day hearing here.

OIL ROYALTIES

UNBELIEVABLE PROFITS! NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY! Under a Federal Ruling, Oil Companies have been reaping profits from public lands for years. You, too, can profit from this little known opportunity. These speculative leases are unusually attractive because of the Booming Area in which they are located. Utah's incredible discoveries have led to description of the Fabulous Paradox Basin as one of the LARGEST POTENTIAL OIL RESERVOIRS in the country. A total investment of only $150 (time payments if desired) has a potential pay-off in Royalties which is nothing short of fantastic. For information write: Wm. S. Burness, 1017 American Bank Bldg. Agency Admits Russ Education Book Revision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Welfare Department said today changes were made in the initial draft of an analysis of Russian education for the purpose of improving it.

Mrs. Eleanor S. Lowman, 29, who prepared the initial draft, yesterday made public a letter to Secretary of Welfare Folsom protesting what she said was "suppression, inaccuracy, distortion and delay of material of national import."

The department, asked for comment on Mrs. Lowman's letter, issued this statement:

"Mrs. Lowman was employed temporarily to prepare a draft manuscript for the publication 'Education in the USSR.'

Diligent Work

"She worked very diligently on this project and did some good work. As is usual in the normal process of handling such publications, the draft manuscript was reviewed and substantially revised for the purpose of improving it from the point of view of clarity, accuracy, and objectivity.

"There was of course, no suppression or withholding of significant, accurate and objective information.

"Mrs. Lowman's public statements concerning the preparation and content of the book involve matters of opinion. The final publication represents the best judgment of the officials and staff directly responsible for this project in the office of Education. Their only purpose was to produce the most reliable, up-to-date, and objective analysis possible within the limits of the time, staff, funds, and source materials available."

Changes Misleading

In her letter, Mrs. Lowman said that changes made in the initial draft contributed no new data on Soviet education and "sometimes resulted in misleading and completely erroneous information."

She said one change deleted her statement that Soviet education is free from the first grade through post graduate training.

The 225-page book was published by the department Nov. 11.

Suspended School Principal Wins Reinstatement

ROSEBURG, Nov. 20 (AP) — The Dillard School Board last night reinstated Clyde Foster, principal, of Douglas High School.

Foster was suspended two weeks ago after the district superintendent, John Cox, told the board that Foster once had been charged with a felony in Oklahoma. Foster was cleared of the felony charge.

The board's action was taken after an advisory vote in the district. Voters balloted 369-103 to reinstate Foster.

Census Bureau Reports Gain in Total Employment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — Seventy - six million persons worked during all or part of last year, a gain of seven million civilian workers since 1950, the Census Bureau reported today.

Most of this record total reflects the rapid expansion of business since 1954, the bureau said, and women accounted for two-thirds of the additional workers.

The figures included 62,600,000 wage earners, 9,800,000 self-employed persons, and 3,400,000 who worked without pay in family-operated enterprises.

Of the 76 million, some 48 million were men and 28 million were women.

Neuberger Defends Need For Taxes

PORTLAND, Nov. 20 (AP) — Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) today said the United States may have to make new sacrifices to meet the rising challenge of Russian science and technology.

Neuberger told the East Side Commercial Club "President Lincoln said that his generation could nobly win or meanly lose the best hope of earth. Such a warning applies to our generation," he said.

If the United States should abandon its foreign aid program, vital areas of the world would be lost to Communism, Neuberger said.

Neuberger said he was replying to an earlier speech given to the club by former Utah Gov. J. Bracken Lee, who advocated that foreign aid be cut and federal income taxes stopped.

If taxes were stopped, Neuberger asked, "How would we pay for our atomic weapons which have held the Soviet colossus at bay for more than a decade?"

U.S. Reports Satellite Rocket Test

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — Government officials reported today there was a test last week of one stage of the rocket designed to put up the first, experimental, six-inch U.S. satellite.

J. Paul Walsh, deputy director of Project Vanguard, said the rocket stage was "static tested," meaning it was fired while fastened to the launching pad so that it could not take off.

Walsh told a news conference it was the second stage of the three-stage rocket that was tested.

Uusually, there are two static tests before a rocket is launched. Walsh declined to say when the second static test would take place.

It has been announced that an attempt to put up the six-inch satellite would be made in December.

The Navy has indicated that if this rocket is successful in placing its six-inch satellite in an orbit, then two other planned launchings of six-inch satellites may be dropped and an attempt made to launch a larger 20-inch satellite ahead of the original objective of March.

Stock Decline Ends in Rally

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A late rally pulled the stock market out of a decline today and produced its first advance of the week.

A feature of the day was a good rise by rails which have been battered for six sessions in a row.

Elsewhere in the list, gains stretched to as much as 2 or 3 points among key stocks while some specialties did better. But some leading issues dropped 2 or 3 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.10 to $154.30 with the industrials up $1.30, the rails up $1.90 and the utilities unchanged.

Volume totaled 2,400,000 shares compared with 2,240,000 yesterday.

Grain, Bean Futures Drop

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—All grain and soybean futures declined today, influenced by improved crop weather, slow demand and a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Benson that caused increased selling of wheat.

Wheat and rye prices dropped sharply on the Board of Trade after Benson told the National Grange at Colorado Springs that this country cannot now widen export markets for wheat without breaking world prices.

Wheat fell back more than a cent a bushel. Earlier wheat was only slightly lower than yesterday's close. Limited export demand and slow domestic flour business also were factors in the wheat trade.

Wheat closed ¾ to 1⅛ lower, corn ⅞ to 1¼ lower, oats ⅜ to ⅝ lower, rye 1½ to 1¾ lower, soybeans 1 to 1⅝ lower, and lard ended 22 to 30 cents a hundred pounds down.

The grain trade gave the Benson statement a bearish interpretation and substantial selling resulted.

Earlier, exporters bought wheat futures against the sale of 335,000 bushels of red wheat to Poland for December shipment.

When an ad is ordered three or six times and a Sunday issue is included (for example Friday Saturday Sunday) the lower Sunday rates apply because only The Statesman publishes Sundays.

Classified ads will start in the morning Oregon Statesman, conclude in the evening Capital Journal—but ads will be accepted for Sunday Statesman only

The deadline for classified ads is 1:00 p.m. the day before publication except for Sunday when deadline is 5:30 p.m. Friday. Emergency ads and small line ads received after 1:00 p.m. weekdays and until 12 noon Saturday for Sunday may be placed in the 'Too Late to Classify' column.

Ads for Monday papers must be in by 5 p.m. Saturday.

The Statesman-Journal Newspapers reserve the right to reject questionable advertising; it further reserves the right to place all advertising under the proper classification.

The Statesman-Journal Newspapers assume no financial responsibility for errors which may appear in advertisements published in its columns and in cases where this paper is at fault will reprint that part of an advertisement in which the typographical mistake occurs and is responsible for only one incorrect insertion.

A "Blind" Ad—an ad containing a Statesman-Journal Newspapers box number for an address—is for the protection of the advertisers and must therefore be answered by letter. The Statesman-Journal Newspapers are not at liberty to divulge information as to the identity of an advertiser using a "Blind" ad.

Ads in other columns which require investment in stocks, samples, equipment or cash bond should be thoroughly investigated before paying out any money. Advertisers requiring a cash investment for samples or merchandise sales aids, etc. must so specify in their ads.

THIS NEWSPAPER STRIVES to protect its readers against fraud, deception, or injuries. Readers are cautioned to make NO PAYMENTS to get a position advertised in the help wanted columns. All help wanted ads MUST SPECIFY THE NATURE OF THE WORK. Sales help wanted ads must state if the pay is in the form of salary, commissions, guarantee, or include firm name. Bona fide offers of employment with pay belong to the "Help Wanted" columns. Kindly report any exception to this rule to the classified advertising manager.
