

Oregon Statesman

No Favor Sways Us... No Fear Shall Ave... From First Statesman, March 28, 1851

Member Associated Press... The Associated Press is authorized exclusively to use for reproduction of its material news printed in this newspaper

More Cotton Goods To Great Britain

For the first time in 200 years, Britain imported more cotton goods than it exported in 1957.

"Carrying coals to Newcastle" is no longer the height of the absurd for Britain imports a lot of coal these days.

This shift in production to the Far East was forecast by the German philosopher, Oswald Spengler.

This industrialization of countries like India and China is often viewed with alarm.

Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, ruffled some feathers when he made a talk at the banquet of the Arkansas Press Association.

Pinching Shoes

Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, ruffled some feathers when he made a talk at the banquet of the Arkansas Press Association.

Hoyt was introduced by Gov. Faubus, the man who touched off federal intervention by using the national guard to prevent integration.

Hoyt's reputation for courage and candor is well enough known that he wouldn't be expected to dodge the issue precipitated by the Little Rock affair.

Billy Mitchellism may become catching in the armed services. Lt. Gen. Gavin wangled an offer of four stars and a promotion in command if he would stay in the Army.

At least we can be thankful there's no Friday the 13th until June. It's the only one all this year.

Moscow Starts Early to Attack Acheson's Forthcoming Book

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst

Even in advance of its publication date, Moscow has begun assailing a new book by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Acheson's book is a collection of his recent series of William L. Clayton lectures for the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

President Truman's secretary of state says three major world developments dominate world politics now: the decline of great European empires and the emergence of two pre-eminent powers, the United States and the Soviet Union.

"No matter how plainly the Russians talk and act," says Acheson, "we simply refuse to believe what they say and to understand the meaning of what they

Maybe Harmless But Expensive

Now wouldn't this sound pretty enticing to those of us whose waistlines are big and will power small?

"Lose pound after pound of ugly fat, while continuing to enjoy sizzling steaks, savory soups, hot breads, butter, gravy, rich creamy desserts, ice cream, etc."

This is just a sample of the increasing problem facing the three federal watch-dog agencies—Food and Drug Administration, Federal Trade Commission and U. S. Post Office Department.

Medicine men the nation over, it seems, are falling all over themselves to help with pill, capsule, lotion or salve—for whatever ails us.

Well, short of putting all such things on prescription, there just isn't much that can be done about it except try to reduce the extravagant and impossible claims like the one above.

Perhaps we shouldn't worry about it. Perhaps so long as it can be assured nothing is being marketed that is actually harmful, we'd better let things ride.

The best advice we can give is to rely on the counsel of the professional men charged with safeguarding the nation's health.

Anyway, Parents' Plea Was Heeded

Jane Russell's "The French Line," reputedly the type of film which does not uplift young minds, delayed its scheduled appearance on a Portland TV station two hours.

We don't purport to assess the film as such but we think Miss Russell misses a point, perhaps purposely, when she suggests it would have been simpler just for parents to turn off the TV set if they didn't want their children seeing it.

However, Miss Russell raises a perennially moot question—"who's running the family—children or parents?"

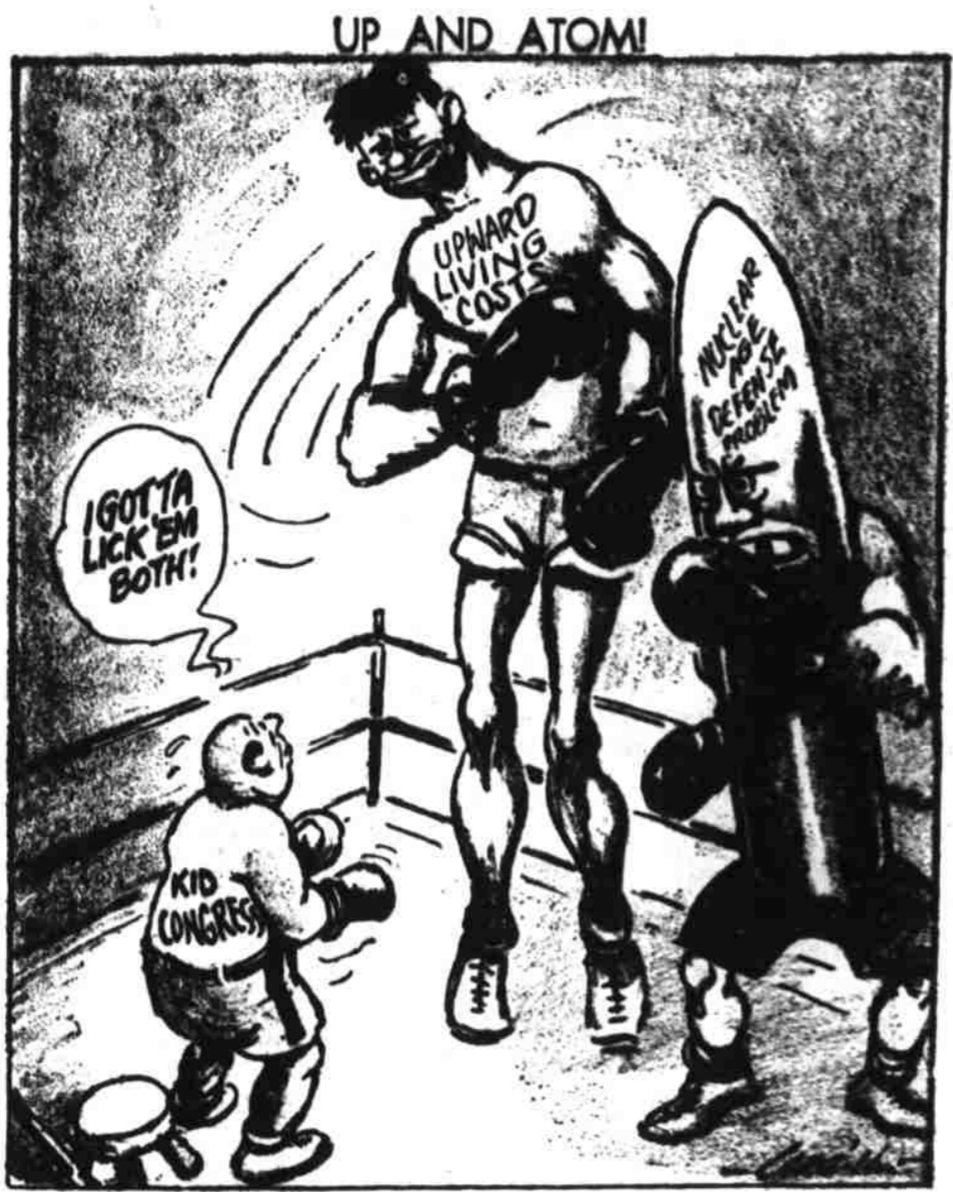

The critics are pushing responsibility for the tardiness in weapons development to the policies of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, the man appointed by President Truman to succeed James Forrestal.

We'd suggest that reflectors be put on the ends of each raised street-divider strip on 12th Street in mid-Salem before someone gets hurt.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "After the entire corner deep-dish apple pie and a cup of the best coffee."

1. Say, "After the entire COME, etc." 2. Pronounce saccharine, accent on first syllable. 3. Deficient. 4. Praise; commendation. "Extolment" of his work came posthumously."

IT SEEMS TO ME

(Continued from Page One)

is "good hope" of progress in the cause of world peace.

Then the President throws fresh challenges at the USSR:

- 1. Renounce warfare in outer space. 2. Abandon use of the veto in United Nations over peaceful settlement of disputes. 3. Call off testing of nuclear weapons under a program of halting their manufacture.

Observers anticipate that before the year is out a summit meeting will be held.

The Willamette Valley flood of the past week caused $11,000,000 in damage.

Resignation of Lyle L. Leighton, local Boy Scout executive for the past five years, was accepted by Cascade Area Council.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

Police disclosed that a crudely penciled note demanding $30,000 for the safe return of Lee Schlesinger, prominent Portland merchant.

UP AND ATOMI

Space Conquest Hinges On Big Rockets, Solid Fuels, Expert Thinks

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—The conquest of space depends now on big rocket engines using solid fuels, a missile expert said today.

The report was published just two days after the Army announced it had been ordered to design a new solid fuel rocket to replace its huge liquid-fueled Redstone, a 200-mile-range missile.

Harold W. Ritchey, writing in Astronautics, a magazine of the American Rocket Society, said in a current issue that the Recruit could provide a first-stage vehicle to enter space.

The Recruit is a relatively small missile measuring nine inches in diameter and weighing about 350 pounds.

Ritchey is technical director for Thiokol Chemical Corp., Huntsville, Ala. Huntsville is home for Redstone Arsenal, where Army missile development is located.

Ritchey said solid fuels are now largely outdated by progress in the field. One of these arguments was that solid fuel rockets were hazardous and unpredictable bombs full of explosive.

With liquid fuel engines, Ritchey said, many mechanical devices must be used to pump the fuel into the combustion chamber.

So far, liquid engines have failed to prove they were very reliable, Ritchey said.

In addition, he said, solid fuel missiles can provide more thrust, while the liquid-fueled missile is inherently poor in this capability.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Further, Ritchey said, as the search goes on for high energy fuels beyond the capability of either liquid or solid petroleum fuels, most of the promising materials are solid in nature.

Truman Says Ike Great General Because He Was Told What to Do

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today President Eisenhower was a great military commander because "he had someone to tell him what to do."

Truman also told newsmen, "I do not think Eisenhower is a good policymaker nor is he a good budgetmaker."

Interviewed in a hotel lobby, Truman said the President "was a great military commander in Europe and in NATO, when he had someone to tell him what to do."

A reporter asked Truman, "Who told him what to do? Was it You?" "The commander in chief," Truman replied.

"You were commander in chief," Truman was reminded. "Yes," the former President said.

Truman said a good policymaker "is one who knows where he is going and carries out his program; Eisenhower doesn't carry out the policies that he proposes."

Three Years Too Late On the President's State of the Union message, Truman said Eisenhower "is about three years too late with his proposals."

Truman did not take his usual morning walk. He said he was not deterred by the 4-degree temperature, but was busy preparing speeches for two dinners—one tonight and one tomorrow.

Truman also said Eisenhower should be able to curtail rivalry among the defense services.

"I didn't have any trouble, as they understood who was commander in chief," he said. "Eisenhower should be able to handle the military, as no one has had more experience than he."

Truman said, "I tried to make a coordinated military set-up, but there were some in Washington who felt they would lose power if the services were coordinated." He did not elaborate.

Truman rapped the proposal by George F. Kennan, his former ambassador to Moscow, that the Western Powers should withdraw their troops from Europe in return for a Russian withdrawal to her own borders.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Truman said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

was (Secretary of State) Dulles' boss, and both did pretty well under him. Dulles needs a boss. He doesn't have one."

Acheson yesterday also criticized Kennan's proposal.

Dulles formerly was a consultant to the Truman administration.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Acheson said the proposal was made during a recent visit to Moscow.

Runaway British Diplomat Said Anxious to Go Home

LONDON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Guy Burgess, one of two high-ranking British diplomats who defected to Russia, today was reported anxious to come home.

Michael Ingram, a television official who spent four months in the Soviet Union making films, says Burgess is asking British visitors whether he would be accepted here.

Donald Maclean, the other diplomat who crossed the Iron Curtain with Burgess, also came back into the news after months of obscurity.

The mass circulation Sunday Pictorial reported he has split with his 41-year-old American wife, Melinda, and that she wants to get their three children out of Russia.

The report said Mrs. Maclean has appealed for help to British and U. S. authorities.

Ingram brought no word of Maclean except that he lives in a pleasant house in a Moscow suburb with his family and that the three children, who go to a state school, speak only Russian.

The television official told newsmen Soviet authorities let him mix freely with the people and he met a small colony of "runaway Britons."

"I refused invitations to attend their parties and to meet Burgess," Ingram said. "But they talked a lot about him. They told me he was most unhappy and looking very old."

"He is keen to meet British visitors because he wants to get back to England. He is continually asking people from this country if they think he would be accepted here."

Ingram added that Burgess is drinking heavily and has only one close friend, a Russian miner.

Burgess and Maclean disappeared from London in 1951. Russia never officially admitted they had crossed the Iron Curtain, but the two diplomats finally held a news conference in Moscow in 1956 to confirm reports that they had gone to work for the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Mrs. Maclean and the children went to Russia from Switzerland in 1953.

Rep. Martin Says U.S. Ahead Of Soviets in Missile Field

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) said today that "America today is stronger than the Soviets in the missile field."

Asserting he spoke "as one who has had information available that would make me make this statement," the House Republican leader added: "We are well able to protect our country if the need should come."

In a television interview filmed with Rep. Keating (R-NY) for Update New York stations, Martin said the reason the Russians were able to launch an earth satellite first was "because they stole the secrets from the United States that gave them that advantage."

Martin did not elaborate on this, charges have been made that the Rosenberg atom spy ring gave U. S. space secrets to Russia in 1947-48.

Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were executed on espionage charges in 1953.

Martin branded as probably politically inspired the allegations that the Eisenhower administration lacks a sense of urgency in the cold war.

He said "if there is any complacency, it was in a previous administration when little was done to stimulate that battle for the conquest of space. Now we realize that it's not only urgent but is a necessity."

The Republican leader said Democrats last year killed by straight party vote a move to restore 300 million dollars in appropriations for missiles.

Martin touched on a broad range of subjects, including: 1. He is opposed to reorganizing the defense setup to the point where there would be one chief of all services, because then "we are getting along to where Hitler was."

2. He is "not too optimistic" about balancing the new budget.

3. He favors a small increase in the 275-billion-dollar debt limit as far preferable to an increase in taxes.

Man Defies Court Order 131 Times

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 12 (AP)—Marius Larsen, a 75-year-old farmer, has been arrested for the 131st time in the waiting room of Denmark's attorney general.

For 38 years Larsen has tried to see the attorney general about a complaint he has against the government. Under a 1921 court order, he is barred from going to the official's office. He now has defied the order 131 times and the cops have been called every time.

They take him to the police station until the attorney general's office is closed for the day.

Buenos Aires Cost Of Living Steadies

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 12 (AP)—Buenos Aires newspapers have reported happily there was no increase in the cost of living last month.

The government's Statistics Bureau said the figures for November and December were practically the same. It was the first time since 1944 a monthly increase was not recorded.

Hollywood Publicist Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (AP)—George Lait, 51, former newspaperman and later a top Hollywood publicist, died today of lung cancer. He had been ill for several months.

Lait, son of the late Jack Lait, editor of the New York Daily Mirror, worked in the Hearst newspaper chain for 21 years, most of them with International News Service. He was wounded in North Africa as a war correspondent for INS during World War II.

He came to Hollywood after the war and ultimately became head of publicity at Columbia Pictures. He was assistant director of publicity at Universal-International Studios at the time of his death.

Police Capture Fox Escapee From Portland Zoo Cage

PORTLAND, Jan. 12 (AP)—Three red foxes and one gray fox escaped through an unlocked gate at the Portland zoo sometime last night. Three other silver foxes stayed in their cages.

A police captured the runaway gray fox about a half-mile from the zoo and returned it to its cage at 7 a.m. That was the first inking the foxes had escaped.

Zoo keepers put food in the empty cages of the still-missing red foxes tonight in the hope of enticing them back into captivity.

Red China Coal Industry Expands

HONG KONG, Jan. 12 (AP)—Red China predicts that its coal industry, both in output and construction of new pits, will be the biggest in the country's history this year.

Peiping radio put the anticipated production at more than 1.5 million tons, 16.1 per cent more than 1957.

Women Over 40 Worst Drivers, Institute Says

LONDON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The British Institute of Advanced Motorists says women over 40 make the worst drivers.

The institute issued a report compiled from more than 8,000 advanced driving tests. The statistics showed women in the over-40 group made the lowest marks.

The institute was formed 10 months ago to promote a higher standard of driving than is required to pass the normal British driving test.

Film Star Leaves Hospital After Surgery

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (AP)—Actor Burt Lancaster checked out of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital today. He underwent an appendectomy last Thursday.

Dental Plates Repaired While You Wait Painless Parker

Dentist 11 N. Liberty - Salem

SAVINGS Account Book

- Easy to open • Easy to "add to" • Easy to use • Better earnings • Insured safety up to $10,000

"SAVE where saving PAYS" Planned Rate 1958 3 1/2% Per Annum Convenient Downtown Location EM 4-6711

First Federal Savings And Loan Association

of Salem, Oregon 129 N. Commercial

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

... and while we admit our proposed space program is an expensive gamble, gentlemen, we prefer to speak of it as 'shoot for the Moon'... NOT 'go for broke'...