Pitchers Lament 250-Foot Foul Lines in LA Coliseum

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—Leading National League pitchers issued a loud lament today over the Dodgers' 250-foot left field fence in the Los Angeles Coliseum and blasted what they called a growing tendency in baseball to favor the hitters.

"It's the biggest farce I ever heard of," said Johnny Antonelli, the San Francisco Giants' ace. Bob Friend, star of the Pittsburgh Pirates' staff, termed the situation "ridiculous."

Complaints also were heard from Warren Spahn of the world champion Milwaukee Braves and other pitchers, past and present, who said the game was turning into a "hitters' paradise and pitchers' nightmare."

Some suggested that the game's greatest need was uniformity, or near uniformity, in outfield measurements.

The commotion was raised by the announcement that the 101,000-capacity Coliseum, new home of the transplanted Brooklyn Dodgers, would have a 250-foot left field line bulwarked by a 40-foot wall. The rightfield foul line will measure 300 feet from home plate and center field will stretch to 440 feet at its farthest point.

"This Coliseum park is the biggest farce I ever heard of," said Antonelli, bitterest of the critics. "With the Dodgers' righthand strength, they'll be much tougher than they were at Ebbets Field.

"More and more accent is being put on hitting strength, and I think it's a shame. A pitcher has to change his entire style in a park like this. I am in favor of uniform parks, wherever possible, and I'd personally like to see all of them measure about the same as Milwaukee, which is around 320 down each line and 404 in center field."

Friend said the layout of the Coliseum should give the Dodgers a distinct advantage in the race.

"It's ridiculous," he added. "Every club has good righthand hitters, but the Dodgers have the most. It's going to be tough on pitchers."

Spahn, who won 21 games for the Braves last season, said he believed the Los Angeles park will affect the fastball pitcher more than the sinker ball thrower, of which he is one.

"Know what I'd like to see?" Snahn asked rhetorically. "I'd like to see the day when the baseball people pass a rule making it mandatory for a ball to travel at least 300 feet for a home run. The minimum now is 250. That's no minimum at all."

Lew Burdette, who won three World Series games for Milwaukee in helping beat the New York Yankees last fall, said the short left field wall would not affect his pitching style. "I pitch my own strength rather than a hitter's weakness," he said. Remember you still have to get the ball up in the air to hit a home run. When a ground ball can become a home run, that's when I'll begin to worry."

Basilio Gets Pro Award

Burdette Second, Williams Third

By MURRAY ROSE

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 20 (AP)—Middleweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio tonight hauled in another big prize when he was named winner of the eighth annual S. Rae Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" Award.

The 30-year-old ex-Marine from Chittenango, N.Y., was presented with the $10,000 diamond-studed, gold-buckled belt that goes with the award at the annual Rochester Press and Radio Club dinner for the benefit of the polio fund.

Basilio, who moved up from welterweight champion to middleweight king by dethroning Sugar Ray Robinson in a fierce, close 15-rounder, beat out baseball's Lew Burdette and Ted Williams in a three-way balloting battle for the valuable trophy.

Carmen collected 218 points to edge Burdette, Milwaukee's pitching star of the World Series, by 32 points and Williams by 88½ points. Golf champion Dick Mayer was a trailing fourth and National League batting champion Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was fifth.

Basilio received 48 first place votes from a national panel of 114 sports writers and sportscasters who voted for first, second and third choices.

Green Wins In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 21 (AP)—Mike Green of Miami today fought his way into the quarter-final round of the Australian National Tennis Championships with a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Rod Laver, a 19-year-old Aussie.

Defending champion Ashley Cooper of Australia defeated countryman John Pearce, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0 in a second round match and will meet Green in the quarter-finals Thursday.

Laver pulled into a 3-0 lead in the first set and had the American worried but in the second set Green moved ahead quickly when he forced the redheaded Aussie into numerous errors.

Green again forged ahead in the third with quick breaks.

In the fourth, with the score at 4-4, Green passed Laver as he came to the net and broke service. Green then safely served the next game to close out the match.

Gambees Have Son

CORVALLIS, Jan. 20 (AP) — Mrs. Dave Gambee, wife of the leading scorer on the Oregon State College basketball team, Sunday gave birth to a seven-pound son.

Gambee was with the team in Palo Alto, Calif., at the time his son was born.

Canby	0	1	.000	36	67
Estacada	0	1	.000	22	46

Tonight's games: Canby at Dallas, Central at Molalla, Estacada at Sandy.

The Willamette Valley League basketballers put forth with round No. 2 tonight, following the openers for the season last Friday.

In tonight's fare the Dallas High Dragons are at home, with the visiting Canby Cougars, Central Hi's Panthers face the Molalla Indians at Molalla and Sandy plays Estacada at Sandy.

The openers turned out to be just as expected last week. Dallas stormed over weak Estacada. Central was too much for Sandy and Molalla had no trouble with Canby.

Dallas and Sandy will be favored to win their outings handily tonight, but Central appears to be up against a tiger in the big and talented Molalla club in the feature game of the round.

All varsity mixes start at eight o'clock, following the usual prelims.

sitting in the club house, biding his time and wondering what the young guys were doing. Nearly two decades in tournament golf is old hat to Dutch.

Crowded into the 283 bracket were Mike Souchak, Grossingers, N.Y., who rallied in the last two rounds to get into the money with 69-70; Leonard, from Vancouver, B.C., and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah.

Leonard hit out of bounds on the seventh for a seven that killed his chances.

Goosie's doom came on the 16th when he hooked to the left, belted over the green, took three to get down and settled for six strokes.

Eagles Get New Field

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Penn's 68,000-seat Franklin Field today became the new home of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League in a move league Commissioner Bert Bell said "saved pro football for Philadelphia."

Frank McNamee, president of the Eagles announced the switch from the 39,000-seat capacity Connie Mack Stadium where the club has played most of its games since 1940. A few contests — mostly exhibitions — were played at Franklin Field, Municipal Stadium and Temple Stadium.

The use of Franklin Field provides the Eagles with one of the largest seating capacities in the league. The move is expected to silence the complaints of other teams about the small checks picked up here by visiting teams.

Under the university's tax structure Penn is not allowed to rent its facilities, but the Eagles will get around that by making a substantial donation at the end of each season. McNamee said the club will pay maintenance costs under the verbal agreement with university authorities.

While no figure was disclosed it was learned that the use of the stadium will cost the Eagles well under the 15 per cent of the gate paid the Philadelphia Phillies for the use of Connie Mack Stadium.

Owen Names Mat Lineup

Matchmaker Elton Owen yesterday completed the bookings for his Wednesday night Armory wrestling card by naming the participants for three prelim battles, first of which will start proceedings at 8:30 o'clock.

In that one Bob Hess, 210-pound newcomer from Seattle who is rated on a par with young Eddie Sullivan, faces Jap villian Professor Shiroma. Then in the next mix it will be the other Jap hootable, Haru Sasaki against rugged Bill Fletcher.

The semiwindup special will be a rematch between the masked "Bat" and Henry Lenz. The Bat last week used his controversial "claw" hold to scramble the proud Lenz, and blond Henry wants at him again.

The mainer is also the big rematch between Karl von Himmler and Herbie Freeman, which could be adequately called "The Battle for the Beards." The loser in this one will be forced to submit to a shave in mid-ring and is to loose his whiskers completely. Both "Von" and Freeman proudly sport beards.

Seen over the weekend was one of the redhot candidates for a spot on this season's All-Coast cage squad. He's Gary Simmons, the Idaho guard. You won't find a better one on the coast . . . The hard driving, quick shooting Vandal leader tallied 25 points each night against WSC, and when you can do that against Jack Friel—particularly on the second night—you're accomplishing something . . .

What does 30-year man Friel index as the best basketball team he's ever had at Washington State? He's had some good ones, we'll all agree. But he says the outfit of 1941, which had such men as the 6-7 Paul Lindeman who in those years was considered an absolute giant in basketball; Ray Sundquist, Vern Butts and Bob Olson was his best. That squad went to the finals of the NCAA playoffs after topping Stanford here on the coast . . . Lindeman, Sundquist and Butts all landed on the "All Northern Division" team, and both Lindeman and Sundquist not only made the All-Conference squad but were named to some of the All-American units too . . .

Vic Townsend Led Scorers That Season

The 1941 season was a pretty good one hereabouts also. Oregon's Vic Townsend led the Northern Division in scoring with 174 points and Oregon State's John Mandic, himself an All-American, was a close second at 171 . . .

Many folks in this area are saddened to learn of the sudden death of Joe Dispenziere in Medford last week. He succumbed to a heart attack despite being no more than 40 years old . . . Joe was one of the many great "small college" athletes who performed at Willamette U during the Spec Keene coaching regime, and played both football and baseball. In recent years he had been a regional director for the State Board of Parole, and had his office in Medford . . .

Leading Academy '5' Plays Yamhill Tonight

The Salem Academy Crusaders and their shiny, new Yamawa League basketball leadership go to the post again tonight for another big one, this with the strong Yamhill quint in an eight o'clock clash in the Academy Gym. Yamhill is now a single game behind the leading Crusaders of Coach Bob Funk.

Elsewhere in the loop tonight Sheridan is at Dayton, Amity at Philomath and Willamina at Banks.

YAWAMA LEAGUE

	W	L	Pct	PF	PA
Salem Academy	5	1	.833	313	229
Sherwood	5	2	.714	342	318
Yamhill	4	2	.667	281	235
Willamina	4	2	.667	263	241
Philomath	3	3	.500	245	258

Dayton	2	4	.333	253	269
Amity	2	5	.286	262	349
Sheridan	1	5	.167	257	313

Tonight's games: Yamhill at Salem Academy, Amity at Philomath, Willamina at Banks, Sheridan at Dayton.

The Crusaders roared into the league lead last Friday with a 43-32 victory over Sherwood, knocking the Bowmen from the top rung. Also helpful on Friday was the 36-34 Philomath win over Yamhill, which kept the Tigers from sharing first place with Salem Academy.

Willamina downed Amity and Sheridan nipped Banks in other Friday action.

If Funk's athletes are up to the task at hand tonight, they will take a full game lead over the idle Sherwood, and will drop Yamhill two games off the pace.

A starting lineup of Dave Zweigart, Dick Voth, Vern Drung and high-scoring Larry Dyck and Roger Carter will face off for the Crusaders, while Yamhill is expected to go with Dave Hermans, Bob Light, Jim Loggins, Vern Rollins and Dale Crawford.

Honor Goes To McIntosh

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20 (AP) — California's center Don McIntosh today received the Northern California basketball writers and broadcasters commendation as player-of-the-week because of his defensive work.

McIntosh, 6-6 was outstanding last Saturday when the Bears moved into a first place tie in the Pacific Coast Conference with a 61-51 victory over Oregon State. Both California and UCLA have 5-1 records.

Coach Pete Newell of the Bears termed his current crew as the "best defensive team I've had for years."

Oregon State's coach Slats Gill praised McIntosh and added, "Cal's George Sterling did a terrific job on our Dave Gambee, who is one of the best."

"I think we played our best games last week in getting over Stanford and Oregon State," Newell said. "I think our team plays as close to its potential as any team I've had."

Coach Howie Dallmer of Stanford said the Cal-OSC game was brilliantly played on both sides and served to illustrate the importance of defensive basketball.

set Corvallis. That would be 6-3 center Wayne Roberts, who scored 29 against the Spartans; 6-1 forward Jerry Miller; 6-0 forward Doug Seiber; 6-0 guard Mike Edgely, and 5-7 guard Gary Jones.

Over at North Salem, the Vikings, ranked No. 4 in last week's Associated Press high school poll play host to the Willamette University junior varsity. The Viks have won 11 and lost one so far this season.

Although technically listed as the JVs, the collegians will use only freshman and some sophomores who didn't play ball last year, according to coach Jerry Long.

His all-freshman starting lineup will include 6-2 Fidel Gaviola of Woodburn, 6-1 Bob Olinger of Milton-Freewater, 6-7 Pete McDowell from Juneau, Alaska, 6-0 Dick Krebs of Madras, and 5-10 Jerry Winner of Olympia, Wash.

North Salem coach Ward Paldanius will pick his starters from among 6-8 Grant Harter, 6-6 Dick Scoggin, 6-2 Jim Litchfield and Kent Lammers, 6-1 Homer Wood, 5-10 Dale Drake, and 5-7 Val Barnes.

vote, nine for second, etc. reflected the Mountaineers' domination of the poll. West Virginia received 925 points out of a possible 970. Kansas drew a second-place total of 728 while Kansas State took third with 638 points.

Kansas, after losing two games during Chamberlain's injury-forced absence, bounced back to whip Colorado and Missouri while Kansas State, second last week, knocked off Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Another switch in the standings saw Cincinnati's Bearcats move ahead of idle San Francisco into fourth place. While the Dons were resting on their 12-1 record, Cincinnati routed Houston and St. Louis in the tough Missouri Valley Conference and made their season record 12-2.

Maryland, taking over the Atlantic Coast Conference lead as North Carolina suffered its third defeat and its second conference loss, moved up from eighth to sixth in the ratings. North Carolina suffered a corresponding drop, Oklahoma State in seventh place, Kentucky, ninth, and Bradley, 10th, retained their places.

North Carolina State, overtime winner over North Carolina, made a fresh bid for a first-10 ranking after dropping to 20th place a week ago, but couldn't oust Temple from the top of the second 10 listings.

Tonight's games: Chemawa at Deaf School, Valsetz at St. Paul, MacLaren at Falls City, Detroit at Perrydale.

It will be one of four circuit clashes tonight, but it won't be the most important one. That particular item falls at Falls City where the loop leading Mountaineers and their unblemished record face the second place MacLaren Hawks who have lost but one game.

In other games the St Paul Bucks, who are tied with MacLaren in second place, play the Valsetz Cougars at St. Paul and the winless Detroits meet Perrydale's Pirates at Perrydale.

Last Friday's round saw St. Paul top MacLaren 42-38, Falls City beat Chemawa 64-48, Valsetz ramble over Perrydale 74-41 and Oregon Deaf trip up Detroit 51-40.

Round Table Handed Top

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 20 (AP)—Weights for the rich Santa Anita Maturity were announced today and to the surprise of no one Round Table was handed top impost of 126 pounds.

Willie Harmatz probably will get the job of piloting Round Table in the mile and one-quarter test next Saturday, which should have a value of around $160,000.

Trainer Willie Molter said definite decision on Harmatz will not be made until owner Travis M. Kerr arrives from Oklahoma City. Willie Shoemaker, who was to have ridden the nation's top 3-year-old money winner of 1957, has been grounded all week by the stewards.

"It probably will be Harmatz, but the final decision is up to Mr. Kerr," said the stable.

Hirsch Jacobs, trainer for Promised Land, sensational eastern campaigner who won five stakes last year, has signed Bill Boland for one member of his two-horse entry for the Maturity.

"I won't know until tomorrow whether Willie Hartack is coming out from Florida," said Jacobs. "If he does come, he will have Promised Land and Boland will be on Roscoe Maney, but if Hartack can't make it Boland will have Promised Land and we'll have to get another boy for the other horse."

Prothro Is SBC Guest

Oregon State football coach Tommy Prothro, who has just completed signing a new five-year contract as head boss of the Beavers, is to be the principal speaker Friday morning during the weekly meeting of the Salem Breafakst Club at the Senator Hotel, SBC chief Ed Lewis announced yesterday.

"We are very happy to have such a man as Prothro as our special visitor," Lewis said, "and I am sure we have a great many folks in this area who will want to hear him speak."

In his three years at Oregon State, Prothro's teams have finished second once and first twice in the Coast Conference grid race.

Friday's meeting is open to the male public and will start at 7:30 a.m.
