

Model Guaranteed Beauty by Taxmen

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—It's income tax time again, and here is Marjabelle Young saying how right the tax man was when he told her she was beautiful.

"Isn't that wonderful," said Marjabelle.

Six years ago Marjabelle and some other girls formed a cooperative modeling agency called SHY, Inc. One day the girls noticed how other corporations like, say, General Motors, wrote off tax depreciation each year.

Now the models had only their looks. Since they were, unfortunately, aging, why not get a depreciation allowance for fading beauty?

Top Billing Made

As president, Marjabelle was dispatched to the Internal Revenue Service where, in view of the gravity of the case, she got a ruling from the commissioner himself.

No depreciation would be allowed since he said gallantly, there was absolutely no evidence the applicant was getting less beautiful.

"How right he was," Marjabelle said today. "I feel as pretty as ever."

Marjabelle says she has a formula that helps the government verdict look good. She thinks working with youngsters helps anyone feel young.

So she has a girl of her own, Jackie, aged 17, on whom to practice home work. And she has a unique school in which she teaches other girls how to walk, how to meet strangers, how to feel at ease.

Fathers in Act

"The first time the girls come to school," she said, "their mothers bring them. But the girls go home and say, 'Teacher's pretty. From then on, their fathers bring them. It's so cute.'"

Marjabelle has a theory that, socially, most of us are unsure of ourselves. She thinks that lack of ease extends to high places.

"Very few Washington hostesses, I suspect, look upon their parties as a great adventure. They think it's a terrible ordeal. And you'd be surprised how many adults, wives of senators, for example, are terrified when they're asked to take part in a style show."

Marjabelle thinks that if girls are taught young that the social graces aren't so difficult they should grow up into more relaxed adults.

"The Perfect Age"

"From 6 to 10 is the perfect age," she said. "Those who are 12, 13, 14 are very confused."

But all parents can help their youngsters through trying years, Marjabelle believes. She thinks parents should introduce their offspring to interesting adults, so they will be used to meeting strangers. And she thinks fathers should squint their daughters about occasionally, so they'll feel at ease on dates.

The woman whose looks are government guaranteed has a reason for feeling sympathy for young girls.

"I was a weird looking teenager," she says.

Fun Makers Greet Prince At Edinburgh

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Feb. 20 (AP)—A paper dart spanned a royal ear tonight.

And Prince Philip smiled good-humoredly.

A roll of toilet tissue whizzed by him and hit a companion.

The Queen's husband smiled a grin even more broadly, lifted his mortar board from his knee and placed it on his head.

It was a most unusual welcome for Prince Philip, chancellor of Edinburgh University, from the jolly students of his institution attending the official installation of actor James Robertson Justice as rector.

Installations of rectors of Edinburgh University always evoke a riotous sort of evening.

But this year, because Prince Philip was present, some hopeful souls had expected it would be boisterous-vocally only.

They were wrong.

Before Prince Philip arrived, the crowd warmed up with an uproar of buzzes, klaxons, whistles and handbells.

Fireworks burst out of the galleries. Bags of flour, peas, rice and even a tomato and egg fell the first night to arrive. It was all in the spirit of academic fun.

Then came the Prince and the new rector—an honorary post for which a light-hearted and disorderly election campaign is conducted by university students. They were in fact warmly received, despite the paper darts and toilet paper rolls.

U.S. Rejects Canadian Oil Export Plea

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—The United States today rejected Canada's request for exemption of Canadian oil from import curbs imposed on oil for the U. S. West Coast.

The State Department made public a formal reply handed the Canadian Embassy yesterday to Canada's note of Jan. 15.

The Canadians had protested the recent restrictions on oil going into Washington, Oregon and California.

The Canadians argued that the U. S. action, taken to protect the west coast's domestic oil industry, was harmful to Canada's oil industry.

They said Canadian oil should be exempted because it was just as important to protect the Canadian oil industry in wartime.

The argument ran, Canadian oil cannot be pumped through pipelines into the United States without danger of interruption by enemy action—thus equating it with domestic U. S. oil.

The U. S. note today politely dismissed this argument, saying the Canadian request had been carefully considered and would be considered again when the U. S. oil import levels are reviewed this spring.

French Report 50 Rebels Killed

ALGHERS, Feb. 20 (AP)—French headquarters in Algiers said today 50 rebels were killed and seven taken prisoner in a battle with French paratroopers about 10 miles south of Guelma in eastern Algeria.

One French soldier was killed and two were wounded, the announcement said. A store of military equipment including machine guns and ammunition also was taken.

Six Coeds Suspended For Party

ATLANTA, Feb. 20 (AP)—Six university of Georgia coeds have been suspended for going on a Georgia Tech fraternity house party which became snowbound in the mountains last weekend.

But the president of the fraternity came stoutly to their defense, expressing resentment over what he called implications.

Pete Roane, president of Tech's Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter, said the affair was an approved social function, properly captioned as that nothing objectionable occurred.

"Nothing Shady"

"I resent the implication that there was anything shady about our house party," Roane said.

Roane, a senior industrial engineering student from Greenville, S.C., said his date for the party was his fiancée. He added that the party was such that "I wouldn't have minded at all if my sister had been along. We are all very sorry those girls were suspended for attending our party."

Mrs. Edith Stallings, University of Georgia dean of women, announced the suspension of the six Georgia coeds. She said a rule prohibits coeds from attending out-of-town, off-campus house parties during a school quarter.

Did Nothing Wrong

"They are all nice girls," Mrs. Stallings said. "As far as we know they did nothing wrong at the party. We felt suspension was in their best interests. This is not for punishment. It is for instruction."

The six will be permitted to re-enter school at the start of the spring quarter, Mrs. Stallings said.

There were 121 on the houseparty which began Friday and was scheduled to end Sunday. Snow closed the roads and they didn't get back to their homes until late Monday.

"From 6 to 10 is the perfect age," she said. "Those who are 12, 13, 14 are very confused."

But all parents can help their youngsters through trying years, Marjabelle believes. She thinks parents should introduce their offspring to interesting adults, so they will be used to meeting strangers. And she thinks fathers should squint their daughters about occasionally, so they'll feel at ease on dates.

Integration Delay Sought In Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 20 (AP)—The Little Rock School Board late today petitioned U. S. District Court for a stay of an order integrating Central High School.

Grady Miller, clerk of the court, said the petition was filed a few minutes before his office closed.

The petition, signed by all members of the school board and Supt. Virgil T. Blossom, said in part:

"Petitioners heretofore ordered by this court be realistically reconsidered in the light of existing conditions and that in the interests of all pupils the beginning date of integration be postponed until such time as the concept of 'all deliberate speed' can be clearly defined and effective legal procedures can be obtained which will enable the district to integrate without impairment of the quality of education it is capable of providing under normal conditions."

Miller said he telephoned federal Judge Ronald N. Davies, who retains jurisdiction in the integration case, at Davies' home in Fargo, N. D. Davies told Miller that he would confer with Judge Arch Gardner of Huron, S. C., chief judge of the U. S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis, before making a statement on the petition.

Coffee Break Costs Position

DENVER, Feb. 20 (AP)—Coffee breaks are against company rules at the Martin Co. plant where the Titan missile is being built.

Richard P. Woolley, 23, a physicist and senior engineer, thought it a childish rule and began carrying soft drinks and drinking them at his desk.

An official warned him about it Monday, he said. Wednesday Woolley left his $705-a-month job. A company official said Woolley resigned, but declined details.

Woolley claimed he was asked to resign.

"I think I'm engaged in creative work—it is science, engineering or art—resent being told what to do on a childish level, being told that 'This is the way you will behave,'" he said.

TV Stars Invited on Oregon Fishing Trip

By EVE STARR
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 20 (AP)—A rather remarkable Hollywood party was held at the famed Sportsman's Lodge recently.

The hosts were the three Crown Stations of the Pacific Northwest, KING-TV in Seattle, KGW-TV in Portland and KREM-TV in Spokane, who had decided it would be a nice gesture to give a party and some awards in honor of the television stars whose programs were most popular up north. The awards, 23 of them, were in the form of handsome and tastefully designed aluminum (Pacific Northwest aluminum, of course) coasters.

To add an unusual bit of variety to the occasion, the stations went to considerable trouble and expense to bring some real live Chinook salmon down to Hollywood and toss them into the big pond at Sportsman's Lodge where custom-made trout-fishing holds forth every day.

The salmon were loaded in special tanks at the mouth of the Columbia River, given anesthetic to calm them down, and flown to Los Angeles. Salmon this time of the year are strong and full of fight, and ready to chance their 600-mile trip up the Columbia.

The only real fisherman in the whole group was John Bromfield of "Sheriff of Cochise," a man who used to make his living as a commercial fisherman. Fortunately he was able to sublet his honor and his promise by catching the first of four salmon.

Two more salmon were caught, one by Walter Brennan ("The Real McCoys"), television's elder statesman, and the emcee for the awards, the fourth 30-pound Chinook went to one of the lucky hard workers who helped put the show together.

For the awards dinner the stations had flown down an Indian exponent of salmon barbecue in the country. The Indian, Andrew Joe of the Swinomish Tribe, lived up to his reputation. The salmon was excellent.

Honored hostess of the affair was Crown Television President, the charming and attractive Mrs. A. Scott Bullitt, the subject of an article on Seattle in a recent Holiday Magazine spread, where she was reported to be one of the nation's leading businesswomen.

Gov. Robert D. Holmes of Oregon and Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington and their charming wives were honored guests of the stations, and enjoyed meeting new friends and the western heroes. It was quite a switch to see Alan Hale, Jr., and Brod Crawford ask for the Governors' autographs, and were graciously accommodated.

Young fry included Les Aaker ("Rusty of 'Rin Tin Tin'") and Mickey "Corky" Bradlock ("Circus Boy"). Betty White and Lucille Ball with Desi Arnaz promised to visit Oregon soon and were told Oregon is a fishing trip in their honor.

Saw Pat Conway of "Tomboy Territory," Mr. and Mrs. John Hart ("Hawkeye"), 6'6" Clint Walker ("Cheyenne"), the tallest hombre around, Will Hutchins ("Sugarfoot"), all duly crowned, with Jack Kelly ("Bart Maverick") accepting two crowns, one for Jim Garner, who was in the hospital and couldn't make it. The western stars had turned out in full force; there were so many others, it just haven't the space to name them all.
