

English War Bride Bids for California City Council Seat

ONNAID, Calif. Feb. 23 (AP)—A spirited English war bride has fallen in love with American politics.

So much so that she has become the first woman candidate for the City Council in this southern California city of 30,000.

Mrs. Elsa Hubbard, 35, mother of two daughters, is campaigning along with nine men for three Council seats. The election is April 8.

She and her husband, Ray, now a carpenter, met in England during World War II. They came to the United States 11 years ago. She became a citizen in 1953.

"I got my feet wet in politics during the last presidential convention campaign when I was county manager for Estes Kefauver," Mrs. Hubbard recalls.

Since then she has served on election boards, civil service ex-aming boards and the County Dog Commission.

Of her Council campaign, Mrs. Hubbard said in an interview today: "I've been warned that a woman wouldn't stand a chance. Even so, I decided to run. I have no particular axe to grind. I have no grudges. I think it would be good to have a woman's point of view on the Council."

"Since Ray and I were married, I've wanted to be the best kind of American citizen that I could be. I consider political activity and interest is the right and duty of any good citizen."

Mrs. Hubbard said her efforts in the Kefauver campaign convinced her that "the most wonderful thing about the United States is that ordinary people can get out and work for candidates and that they are free to help make our communities better through politics."

Does she encounter resentment that a new citizen has jumped into politics?

"Yes," she says. "I find resentment comes from the most surprising places. Sometimes a person I considered a friend would get up at a meeting and say, 'Why don't you go back to England?'"

"I just tell them, 'I don't have to.'"

"The ones who are unkind are the ones who take no active interest in our community. They are small in everything."

"The people who are interested tell me, 'We need you.'"

Mrs. Hubbard's husband is all in favor of her political activities. "Women should have a bigger hand in politics," he says.

Ex-Indonesia Leader Acts to Restore Peace

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Feb. 23 (AP)—Former Vice President Mohammed Hatta moved today to throw his enormous influence behind efforts to restore peace to revolt-torn Indonesia.

It was learned that Hatta, whose popularity among the Indonesians is second only to President Sukarno, met with a youth delegation at his home yesterday.

Hatta pledged he would use his utmost efforts to settle the unrest in Indonesia.

It was Hatta's first public comment on the nation's troubles since a revolutionary government was set up in Central Sumatra Feb. 15. The rebels have demanded that Hatta be made premier, but he rejected the idea.

Hatta, who has conferred privately with Sukarno, told the delegation the main point now is to restore the integrity of Indonesia. He declared that foreign intervention should be avoided and that the constitution and laws should be observed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) said today he believes a law to curb wire-bugging on Federal Communications Commission decisions was "inward" in the Miami Channel 10 case and in other cases too.

He said Congress itself left the gate open for abuse when it passed the law in 1952. He said Congress members feared the legislation would shut off their own access to the FCC on pending cases.

Harris heads the House Commerce Committee and its special subcommittee which renews tomorrow an inquiry into whether the supposedly independent federal regulatory agencies are doing what the law intended in their rulemaking over far-flung business interests.

The subcommittee slated Florida lawyer Thurman A. Whiteside for questioning tomorrow. Ousted subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz has testified that Whiteside paid $2,650 to FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack. He pictured Whiteside as working for the winner in a contested FCC award of lucrative TV Channel 10 in Miami. Whiteside has accused Schwartz of lying and Mack also has denied the allegations.

So far the hearings have been marked by a swirl of testimony about efforts by both sides in the Channel 10 case to win the FCC's okay. This has led to congressional calls for a code of ethics to cover regulatory agencies.

Rep. Udall (D-Ariz.) today urged the FCC to "adopt rules which would prevent members of Congress—or anyone else—from intervening in commission hearings."
