

Easter Ham, Dessert Use Canned Pear

A baked ham for Easter dinner is as traditional as a roast turkey for Thanksgiving. Canned Bartlett pears are a welcome accompaniment to that ham just as cranberry sauce goes with roast turkey. Methods of serving the pears may vary but you'll find one of the easiest and most delicious ways is to drain well, chill, and serve with a dab of mint jelly. The gleaming, ivory color of the pears is accentuated by the shimmering jelly, and both point up the pink and white of the baked ham.

Flavor-wise, ham needs the light, refreshing contrast provided by spicy canned Bartletts. Just as a glass of ice-water increases the enjoyment of a warm day, so the juicy goodness of canned Bartletts improves the rich flavor of the ham.

Later in the week when you're using up what's left of that Easter ham, you'll find a dish of chilled pears is the perfect dessert after a ham sandwich. Or for an interesting salad, combine diced ham, diced celery and cucumbers with mayonnaise and top with a pear half nestled in a bed of salad greens. Or top a slice of ham with a pear half and broil for a few minutes to make an exciting breakfast.

These are just a few of the many ways you can serve canned Bartletts and ham. But don't confine this excellent combination to the Easter season alone. It's good any time of the year. In fact, a baked ham in the refrigerator and several cans of pears on the kitchen shelf could be regarded as essential spring gardening equipment!

Look at salads, for instance. For each salad plate, cut a thin slice of orange in half and lay on lettuce leaf. Soften cream cheese with cream; mold into balls; roll in chopped nuts. Place a canned Bartlett pear half, core cavity down, over the nut-crusted cheese ball. Dressing is half salad dressing and half whipped cream. Over all put a generous sprinkling of coconut.

A molded ginger ale and lime pear salad is quick and can be made ahead. Drain one package lime gelatin in 1 cup hot water; add a 7-ounce bottle of ginger ale; chill until thick and syrupy. Dip a canned pear halves in juice of one lemon; arrange in shallow pan or mold. Pour thickened gelatin over the pear halves. Chill until firm. Unmold in crisp lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise.

For Main Course Honey-glazed canned Bartlett pears make a quick, delicious, meat accompaniment. Place pear halves in pan and pour about 1 tablespoon honey and 1 teaspoon lemon juice over each. Broil just long enough to heat the pears. Serve immediately, with your favorite chops or roast. Sprinkle grated cheese on canned Bartlett pear halves and place under broiler until cheese is crisp, lettuce and slightly browned. Serve with ham slices or pork roast for a tasty "go-along."

When children come home from school asking for a snack, give them a dish of chilled canned Bartlett pears to satisfy their between-meal appetites. Add a party touch to brained pork chops by serving with canned pears filled with mint, currant, or grape, jelly.

Homemakers will appreciate a dessert that can be made ahead, ready-to-serve. Freeze a custard pie shell with six canned pears. Then spread in a filling of grated chocolate folded into whipped cream. Chill in refrigerator overnight.

A superb pear sundae can be made with two canned Bartlett pear halves and a scoop of vanilla ice cream. This is a tasty combination when topped with Peppermint Fudge Sauce or Chocolate Rum Sauce. Use 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon rum or peppermint extract, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. A distinct dessert for special guests is canned Bartlett pear halves, topped with whipped cream into which crushed peppermint has been folded. For a festive touch, arrange chilled canned Bartlett pear halves in dessert dishes; sprinkle each serving with 2 tablespoons red wine or grape juice. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream and a dusting of nutmeg.

Simple, elegant For a simple, but elegant, party dessert, freeze a can of Bartlett pear halves in a dessert dish; sprinkle each serving with 2 tablespoons red wine or grape juice. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream and a dusting of nutmeg.

Simple, elegant Canned pears are perfectly shaped to make many interesting designs for children's parties. You can serve clever, facet salads, Peter Rabbit desserts—and many other fascinating animals using canned Bartlett pears, marshmallows, and cloves.
