March 29 and 30 will mark the first Salem Golf Club men's Short Stop tourney. The men's club decided to take over the event when no other sponsor came forward at the time the American Legion decided to drop the affair. Short Stop tourneys are so popular with the group we just couldn't stand to see it go. Each year it will be the first of our major activities . . .

Entries opened Thursday with the 16 low handicappers being seeded into the championship flight. Glenn Cushman is the defending champion, having won the last of the Legion-sponsored meets last year. Glenn will be seeded No. 1 in the championship flight . . .

For those of you who don't know what a Short Stop tourney is, we offer a simple explanation. It is simply a two-day match play event where the matches consist of nine holes instead of the usual 18 holes. The first day everyone plays two matches. We will call the players A, B, C and D. A plays B and C plays D in the first match, with A and C winning. In the match A plays C in the championship flight, while B plays D in a consolation flight match. The winners of the second match then advance to the third round on Sunday. The second round losers can plan a picnic with their families—they're all through . . .

This year's tourney will be dedicated to ex-men's club prexy Med Ingram. Med's many friends wanted to do something in the way of a memorial and this was decided on as the best method. Entry fee will be $3.00, with the banquet included in the entry price. Pat Miklia is in charge and entry can be made by phoning the SGC. If you want to play, but are not a member of the club, you are more than welcome to join in time for the tournament . . .

Quite an Exhibition by Specht . . .

Oscar Specht may take a little time to get the ball on the green, but when he gets there he certainly knows what to do with it. We had the pleasure of Oscar's assistance in a little match this past Thursday a week ago and he honored Mr. Bob DeArmond and Mr. V. D. McMullen with the most fantastic putting exhibition we have ever seen. Twenty-one putts for 18 holes. Not bad. Two chip-ins on the front nine and at the end of 11 holes he had but 10 putts. After that he went all to threads and two putted four greens out of the last seven. Not a bunch of cheezy four-footers for Specht either. He holed putts from all over Marion County. Believe me, it would have been a disgusting exhibition had he not been our partner . . .

Billy Casper isn't the worst putter we have ever seen. In his Saturday golf match with Tommy Bolt he holed a flock of 10-footers under the most extreme pressure. No accident, either. He is just a great man with that short game. Both of the boys spent a great portion of the day looking for the balls in the bullrushes, but that didn't seem to bother corpulent (meaning rather fleshy—look it up) Billy . . .

You will get plenty of chance to study his putting style as he will be around for some time. Notice how he swings the putter hard on the practice stroke to get the feel of hitting the ball firm. Very seldom does he leave anything short without giving it a chance to drop . . .

Finsterwald Finally Out of the Money . . .

Dow Finsterwald finally finished out of the money in a 72-hole event when he failed to pick up any gelt at New Orleans. There is a good reason behind his failure, though. He had spent the previous three weeks at his club job in Florida and had lost the fine edge the good players must maintain. They just can't teach and play it seems . . .

His partner, Doug Ford, who has been riding along on Finsterwald's performance, must have smelled a wolf at the door because he took up the slack by winning the next tour tournament with his only decent performance of the year. The two have always split their winnings equally and we assume they are still doing the same as it has proved successful for both boys. Kind of takes the pressure off . . .

FISHING REPORT

NORTHWEST — The Wilson river has been a fair producer the past week with prospects for the weekend good. About half of the fish hooked have turned out to be spent fish. Most of the unspawned steelhead have been ripe or nearly so. Some green fish are being taken, mostly in the lower river. Water conditions are excellent. Good flounder fishing is reported from Salmon river bay. Excellent catches of perch are being taken at Pacific City, and dory fishing for kelp bass, ling cod, and snapper is good. Barview reports good perch, ling cod, and bass angling on incoming tides. Netarts is fair for flounder. Steelhead fishing has been good on the Alsea from Fall creek downstream. Fish being taken are bright and fresh run. Above Fall creek fishing has been slow to fair. Salmon angling has picked up considerably in the Willamette river and slough. Some good catches have come from Coon Island, the Tank hole, and holes in the Milwaukie-Oregon City area. The mouth of the Clackamas has been yielding a few chinooks along with some large steelhead. Steelhead are also being taken above to Oregon City falls. The Sandy is low and clear. Best steelhead catches are being made on small lures and single eggs.

NORTHEAST—A few crappie and bullhead catfish are being taken at Cold Springs reservoir. A few sturgeon are being taken in the Columbia river below McNary dam. Steelhead angling in the Columbia has been slow. The Umatilla and the north fork of the John Day have been producing good catches of steelhead. The main John Day river has been producing god catches of steelhead in the Kimberly area. The upper Grande Ronde is low and clear, and steelhead angling success has slowed but remains good. Catfish angling has been good in the sloughs of Union county. A few steelhead are being taken from the Wallowa and Minam rivers and the lower Imnaha has been excellent. Pine creek has also been producing excellent catches of steelhead. Best success in all waters is with bait, either shrimp, fresh eggs, or night crawlers. Lure anglers are taking some fish.

Knights of Columbus Meet . . .

Ron Delany Goes After 24th Straight Mile Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ron Delany goes after his 24th straight indoor mile victory Friday night at the Arena here against a field lacking Phile Coleman but including Arnie Sowell, the 1,000-year-run specialist.

Coleman was second to Delany when the Irish Flyer from Villanova set a new indoor mile mark of 4:03.4 at Chicago last week and also ran second to him at Madison Square Garden March 8. But the Chicago miler is skipping the 18th Annual Knights of Columbus meet here to undergo an appendectomy.

With a 12-lap track here, compared with the 11 laps in the Bankers Mile a week ago, the odds are long against Delany matching his record Chicago run. But the steep banking of the turns on the Arena boards makes possible a fast mile if Delany feels like stepping one off. Last year he won in a slow 4:10.4.

Sowell, now an Army lieutenant at Fort Ord, Calif., has been away from competition this winter but has been tuning up in his home city of Pittsburgh this week. If the former Pitt star can retain over the longer distance some of the form he showed in winning the 1,000 here a year ago, he and Burr Grim may make Delany step on the gas. Grim set the early pace for Delany in New York and Chicago.

A duel between Pitt and Ohio State will feature the University Mile Relay. Illinois, Manhattan and Michigan State in the University Two-Mile Relay could provide the major thrill of tomorrow night for the fans.

ketball's longer major winning streak. Maryland and then Dartmouth fell to the Owls in the Eastern regional at Charlotte.

The Owls, cheered by All-America Guy Rodgers' full recovery from back trouble which hospitalized him earlier in the week, are anxious to avenge the Kentucky loss.

"We'll have no trouble being up," said coach Harry Litwack of the Middle Atlantic Conference representatives. "We know Kentucky is strong. Hatton we have special reason to remember. It was his 47-foot set shot that tied up our December game in regulation time."

Kansas State, the big, bruising Big Eight champion, made good use of its height with 6-9 Jack Parr, and 6-8s Bob Boozer and Wally Frank in topping Cincinnati and Oklahoma State in the Midwestern regional at Lawrence, Kan., last week.

Boozer, scoring 50 points in the two regional games, lead K-State against Seattle, the first at large entry to advance as far as the semifinals since Penn State in 1954, and surprise winner over San Francisco and California in Far Western eliminations.

As goes Baylor, so goes Seattle—and the 6-6 "Rabbit" is usually very good. He has scored 87 points in three tournament games, including the last second, 35-foot jump shot that beat San Francisco.

U.S. Hockey Team Falls

VIENNA (AP)—The United States National Ice Hockey Team was beaten by Czechoslovakia 5 - 2 Thursday night in Prague's Winter Stadium.

A crowd of 14,000 fans saw the Czechs dominate during the first two quarters of the game, while the Americans rallied only at the end of the final period, scoring both goals within seconds of the end.

Hoop Pilots Want No Major Rule Changes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The nation's college basketball coaches Thursday night voted 77-6 against recommending any major changes in the rules of the game.

W. H. (Tippy) Dye of the University of Washington, spokesman for the National Assn. of Basketball coaches, said the vote was taken after results of a questionnaire were read to the group.

The questionnaire had asked the coaches if they approved of (1) the present rule on what constitutes a foul, (2) the one-and-one rule which goes into effect after a team has committed six fouls in a half (3), the goal tending rule and (4) the overall present rules.

The first three were approved overwhelmingly, Dye said, and the fourth by about a 5-2 ratio.

Several other proposals also drew heavy negative votes, including two current professional rules: a 24-second limit on time an offensive team is permitted to get off a shot, and awarding two free throws for a foul committed in back court.

The coaches favored one minor proposal — a modification that would speed up the entry of a player into a game. There have been suggestions that the clock be stopped on an out-of-bounds play and/or after a field goal to permit substitutions. Under present rules, which permit no interruption of "continuing action," substitutes have been kept waiting on the sidelines as long as three or four minutes.

This, presumably, would be the only recommended change made to basketball's rules-making body, the National Basketball Committee of the U.S. and Canada, which meets Sunday.

The NABC, meeting in conjunction with the NCAA championships here, elected Cliff Wells of Tulane its president, succeeding A. T. (Slats) Gill of Oregon State. Others chosen were: Everett Shelton, Wyoming, first vice president; W. E. Henderson, Baylor, second vice president; Harold Anderson, Bowling Green, treasurer; Wilbur (Sparky) Stallcup, Missouri, secretary; and Lee Williams, Colby, bulletin editor.

Gill was named to the board of directors along with Forrest Twogood, Southern California; Bee Carnevale, Navy; Floyd Stahl, Ohio State, and Hank Iba, Oklahoma State.

Longden Rides 3 Winners

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Longden, Mr. Indestructible of the racing fraternity, splashed in with three winners Thursday and was out of the money only once at Golden Gate Fields.

The track was sloppy as Longden ran his lifetime record to 5,107 winning rides.

The winners were May Not Run, $5.40, in the first; Brief Interlude, $4.20 in the fifth and Mintaka, $8.80, in the sixth. Longden was second with Riverbottom and third with Fair Dawn and Flying South. He was out of the money in the eighth with Calgary.

Jocky Henry Moreno, who won the $3,500 feature on Solid Fleet, was handed a five-day suspension for careless riding Wednesday. His enforced vacation begins Saturday.

Solid Fleet won by 1½ lengths over Pasteur, an Argentine import still seeking his first victory.

Auto Club Names Board

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club announced election of William J. Smyth of Dallas and R. C. Wilke of Milwaukee to the board of directors of the Race Sanctioning Organization.

Smyth has been chief steward of the Florida Grand Prix of Endurance at Sebring for three years. Wilke for many years owned cars entered in the 500-mile Indianapolis race.
