STALINVAROS, Hungary (U)—Nikita Khrushchev warned the West Saturday to keep hands off Hungary. But he told Hungarians

Purge Urged Of Hungarian Non-Commies

WASHINGTON (U)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently has ordered Red leaders in Hungary to broaden and speed up a purge of non-Communists from positions of potential power or influence. That was the probable significance seen by experts here Saturday in Khrushchev's declaration in a speech at Stalinvaros, Hungary, that that country's Communists must not count on Soviet help if a new revolt develops. Washington authorities did not interpret this as a reversal by Khrushchev of the Soviet policy of October-November, 1956, when Moscow's armored divisions were used to crush an anti-Communist revolt.

They took Khrushchev's words to mean, instead, that he wants to impress on Hungary's Communist ranks that they must be ruthless in eliminating what the Reds call bourgeois or middle class influences in Hungary's political life—in other words, speed the process of consolidating Communist power. If this is true and new waves of arrests follow, there is little likelihood of any early change in the strained relationship which has existed between Washington and Budapest since the unsuccessful revolt.

Communists they had better be ready to fight their own battles if another revolt breaks out. The Soviet premier said his government had thought long and hard before it sent troops to crush the 1956 uprising. He told Hungarian Communists to toughen up.

"You should not think that if the counter-revolution comes again you can depend on the Russians to come again and help," he declared. "You must help yourselves."

No Strict Ban

Apparently Khrushchev did not mean to imply he was imposing a strict ban on Soviet armed help. Rather, it seemed he was speaking as a father telling his son that he was getting big enough now to take care of himself. Then he implied that if the son got into real trouble, the father would be there to help.

Shaking his pudgy fist, Khrushchev warned the West: "We tell the enemies of socialism and communism that we do not care if you curse us, but if you touch us, you will regret it." (In Washington, authorities saw

Stiff Blow Jars Weather Bureau

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—The Weather Bureau staff Friday got its worst blow from the weather during this year's series of storms. The paychecks didn't arrive from Washington, D.C. as scheduled.

Reason: Transcontinental trains were delayed by heavy snows in the mountains. Weathermen made no forecast when the checks would arrive.

in Khrushchev's speech an order to speed up a purge of non-Communists from positions of potential power or influence. They expected Khrushchev's visit to Hungary would be followed by a wave of arrests.

Though Khrushchev said he had not intended to make a speech here in this industrial city named after Stalin, he ended by giving the Hungarian Communists both a lecture and a crack on the knuckles. He spoke with great seriousness and with some ferocity about putting down the 1956 decided we could not stand by to watch the hanging of Communists and the best sons of the working class."

The Russians recently ordered many of their troops home from Hungary, but foreign military observers here estimate that from 60,000 to 80,000 will remain.

Urging the Hungarian party led by ex-Premier Janos Kadar to tighten up its ranks, the Soviet leader said: "I advise you not to look just in front of your noses. Look beyond. Your class consciousness should be stronger, and you should see more clearly who is a friend and who is an enemy. You must be tougher, so tough that your enemies will always know that the Hungarian working class will not waver for a minute."

Tax Collections Fail to Reflect Business Slump

PORTLAND (U)—Property tax collections reflect no business downturn, Multnomah County Sheriff Francis Lambert said Friday. He said tax delinquencies are running about 10.4 per cent, the same as last year at this time.

U.S. Joins in Issue

WASHINGTON (U)—State Department officials said Friday the United States has joined with border clashes between Syria and Israel over Israeli activities in the Lake Hula zone.

Hungarians to increase their productivity and strengthen their labor discipline to raise living standards. He said he had been urged in a message from a non-Communist overseas not to come to Hungary, but that if he did to go with a strong bodyguard.

He has one with him. "Our delegation came here, and we were very proud to come," he said. "We helped you. It was unselfish help. As part of our help our soldiers had to shed their blood for your freedom."
