Jet Rams Airliner Over Maryland; Death Toll 12

(Picture on Wirephoto Page) BRUNSWICK, Md. (AP) — An Air National Guard jet trainer hurtled out of a cloud into the side of a Capital Airlines passenger plane Tuesday, killing 12 persons. Only the pilot of the military plane survived.

Seven passengers and four crewmen aboard the Chicago-to-Baltimore Viscount plane perished in the crash. The body of a second person in the Air Force T33 jet trainer was found in the wreckage.

The lone survivor, Capt. Julius R. McCoy of Baltimore, a full-time flight engineer assigned to the 104th Fighter Group of the Maryland Air National Guard, parachuted to safety.

IT SEEMS TO ME By Charles F. Spurgeon

The showdown nears on integration in the schools of Virginia. Monday the Supreme Court rejected an appeal from the decision of District Judge Albert V. Bryan of Alexandria that seven Negroes be admitted to present white schools in Arlington County. This is in a county where many of the inhabitants work for the federal government, either in the District of Columbia which is just across the Potomac, or at the Pentagon and other federal installations on the Virginia side. It is by no means the "deep South." Left alone the districts doubtless would comply with the court order. However Virginia, pursuing a policy of "massive resistance" has passed a law which orders closure of public schools wherever integration takes place. If they try to operate on a segregated basis state aid will be cut off. A similar test looms in Prince Edward County, Virginia.

Some states have made plans to set up private schools on a segregated basis, using churches or other available buildings for holding school. Without support of public tax money these schools would not reach all the children for parents of many would be too poor to pay the tuition, and some would be indifferent to the need of providing "schooling" for their youngsters. Few communities can support good schools without tax funds. Assuming the state laws halting operation of integrated schools go into effect, what will be the next move? If attacked in court it (Continued on Editorial Page 4.)

Rain Forecast For Thursday

More sun will bathe the Salem area today, McNary Field weathermen said early this morning. Skies may be partly cloudy tonight and Thursday with some chance of scattered showers Thursday afternoon, they said. High temperature today was expected to be 85, and the low tonight 52. Northern Oregon beach predictions indicate night and morning clouds but sunshine during the day, Associated Press reported.

Woman Stays in Chamber 7 Days

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Will man lose out to woman as the first traveler in space? A woman staff member of the Wright Air Development Center's aero-medical lab recently completed a seven-day period in complete darkness and isolation, a WADC spokesman said Tuesday. He emphasized, however, that it was not a simulated space mission.

Kim Cool to Declaration Of Love by Trujillo Jr.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Generous Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr.'s declaration of love for Kim Novak was given a less than enthusiastic reception Tuesday by the blonde actress. "I liked Gen. Trujillo from the first moment we met," Miss Novak's studio quoted her as saying, "and I'm sure I always will. "But at this time there is nothing I can add except my gratitude

Pflimlin's Authority Bolstered

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Pflimlin Tuesday night bolstered his hand at the helm of France with a ringing parliamentary triumph over the challenging but numerically thin forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The National Assembly voted a Pflimlin special emergency powers to fight the Algerian Nationalist rebellion. But paradoxically Algeria remained in the firm grip of military-colonialist forces, opposed to the Pflimlin government.

And the military commander at Algiers—dictator over the whole great French North African region—got a new endorsement of faith from Pflimlin.

Thus the French on the European side of the Mediterranean were firmly under civil and quasi-military control of the Paris government.

The French across the sea in North Africa were in rebellion against Paris and in the midst of the 3½-year-old Algerian Nationalist rebellion—also against Paris rule.

The Assembly vote was 475 to 100. It was the Premier's best showing yet in a busy and turbulent six days in office.

In effect the vote provided the Assembly's answer to De Gaulle's bid to take the reins.

Military Pay Bill Signed By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A majority of men and women in military uniform will get pay raises next month under legislation signed Tuesday by President Eisenhower.

Just about everyone with over two years of service—including active reserves and retired personnel—will benefit. The boosts range from $6.20 a month for some privates and apprentice seamen to $599 more for the five members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Seattle Fire Rages

SEATTLE (AP) — A raging fire flared in a lumber plant in Seattle's Ballard industrial area Tuesday night and was burning uncontrolled despite the all-out effort of the Seattle Fire Department.

Dulles Warns Russ U.S. to Aid Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles served notice Tuesday the United States might act to help Lebanon put down anti-government rioters despite Soviet threats against outside interference.

The Assembly vote was 475 to 100. It was the Premier's best showing yet in a busy and turbulent six days in office.

In effect the vote provided the Assembly's answer to De Gaulle's bid to take the reins.

Morse to Head Anti-U.S. Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) was picked Tuesday to head an inquiry into the anti-American feeling in Latin America that erupted into mob attacks on Vice President Nixon.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved the investigation by its Latin American subcommittee, of which Morse is chairman.

Morse said the inquiry will get under way next week and will be thorough, lasting several months.

He told reporters that members of the full committee had unanimously rejected his offer to resign the chairmanship of the subcommittee if they thought he would be politically motivated in conducting the inquiry.

Morse said a charge of political motivation had been made by Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md), not a member of the committee. Morse said he told the committee the charge is false, and that all he wanted was a proceeding to find the facts in an impartial, nonpolitical way.

Plane Lands on Belly At Salem; None Hurt

A Civil Aeronautics Administration plane cracked up a couple of propellers when it landed without its wheels down, at McNary Field Tuesday afternoon.

Why the wheels weren't down was a moot question. So were lots of other "whys." One of its occupants, none of whom appeared to be hurt, said his name was William Farris. That was about all that was said.

From the hush-hush, it would appear the plane was on a vital military mission for which secrecy was essential.

From what the Statesman learned from its own sources, the plane was checking the instrument landing equipment at the field.

Amalambance and fire engines were called to the field but weren't needed. How badly damaged the plane was remained to be determined. So did why the wheels weren't down on landing.

Added details uncovered hours after the crash from other sources showed the pilot to be Farris, E. Bowen, co-pilot and Robert Switzer, radio operator, all of Seattle.

R. E. Groh, 1130 Chemekeka St. NE, said he saw the plane coming in with wheels up. He said it skidded for about 500 yards before coming to a stop on the runway.

The $50,000 plane is equipped to check radio and navigation facilities for accuracy for airlines and private airfields, according to one official source.

This same official said there have been a number of similar crashes with this type of craft. He added, sometimes it's pilot error and other times failure of the landing gear to function.

Leo H. (Ace) Demars, owner of Ace Flying Service at McNary Field, said he saw the plane approach the landing strip with the wheels up. Before the plane belly-landed, airport employees notified Salem emergency equipment and then rushed to the scene with fire extinguishers.

CAA officials will be in Salem today to make an investigation, they said.

Cardinal Stritch Slightly Improved

ROME (AP) — Samuel Cardinal Stritch was reported slightly better Tuesday night after a stroke which has restricted his speech to a whispered "yes" and "no."

The 70-year-old archbishop of Chicago showed no loss of memory. His mind was clear. His American physician, Dr. Ralph Bergen, said he had regained some use of his partly paralyzed right leg.

Willamette Ambulance Submits Plan To Operate City's First Aid Service

Willamette Ambulance Service put in writing Tuesday its proposal to take over the city first aid service on a contract basis.

The private company's plan, which aroused hot opposition from the city first aidmen when it became known two weeks ago, will now go before the City Council next Monday. Mayor Robert F. White received the letter from J. Harold Brown, operator of the ambulance service, Tuesday morning.

Brown maintained in the letter he could operate the first aid service for "about half" what it now costs the city. He didn't give a firm figure as he also suggested the city submit the matter to bids. But Brown estimated the first aid service costs the city $36,000 now.

Larger Portion of Salem City Budget Going to the Dogs

The cost of dog food will be higher this coming year for Salem taxpayers, an estimated $100 higher.

But that's good, not bad, explained City Manager Kent Mathewson to the Budget Committee Tuesday. It means more dogs are fed, because more dogs are caught, because enforcement is improving.

Which in turn means more people are claiming dogs, with the result city dog pound revenue is higher. In less than a year revenue is up from $350 to $1,190. The pound has a $5,571 budget for next year.

79-Year-Old Solon Seeks Marriage End

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—The three-month marriage of 79-year-old Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-ND) and his 30-year-old bride headed for the courts Tuesday.

Burdick, in a complaint filed here by his son, Quentin, seeks to annul his Feb. 28 marriage to his attractive secretary, Jean Rodgers Jackman.

"She had no intention of consummating the marriage," the complaint said. It also alleged Mrs. Burdick's divorce from Donald Jackman more than a year ago in Reno was inadequate and that her marriage to Burdick at Arlington, Va., is void.

The lawmaker said in Washington he assumes Mrs. Burdick, his third wife, will contest the annulment proceedings.

Fong Sentenced to 20 Years in Prison

PORTLAND (AP) — Wayne Fong, 29, who once was charged with killing a school girl, Tuesday was sentenced to 20 years in prison for selling narcotics.

The sentence was imposed on the Portland man in U. S. District Court here.

Fong was arrested late last month. The government charged he sold heroin to an undercover agent. Fong pleaded guilty shortly before he was to go on trial.

Several years ago, Fong was charged with first degree murder in the death of Diane Hank, a high school student here. He was acquitted after two trials.

Efforts to Solve Lebanon's Bloody Crisis Fall Through

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A mediator's efforts to work out a compromise between opposition leaders and Lebanon's pro-Western government collapsed Tuesday.

Former Premier Saeb Salam, the top opposition leader in Beirut, denied he had agreed to any negotiations.

"We are standing firm on our demands," he declared. The opposition has warned that the bloody turmoil which has shaken Lebanon for 11 days will continue until President Chamoun resigns. About 200 persons have been killed.

Stassen Fails Pennsylvania Governor Bid

Ex-Presidential Aide Buried Under Vote for Manufacturer of Pretzel

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arthur T. McGonigle, pretzel manufacturer backed by the Pennsylvania Republican organization, has wrecked Harold Stassen's try for the state's governorship.

A primary election count of 4,710 of the state's 8,857 precincts gave McGonigle 319,721 votes to 149,394 for Stassen, former Minnesota governor and Eisenhower aide, in the Republican contest for the gubernatorial nomination.

In a second closely watched race of the two state primaries held Tuesday, that in Maryland—George P. Mahoney, contractor, conceded defeat to Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro in the Democratic race for nomination to the U.S. Senate.

A count of 1,011 of the state's 1,377 polling places gave D'Alesandro 90,651 votes to Mahoney's 74,974. It was D'Alesandro's first bid for a statewide office.

As was expected, Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence was making a runaway race in the Pennsylvania Democratic gubernatorial primary. A count of 4,305 precincts gave Lawrence 315,480 votes to 65,430 for his closest opponent, Roy E. Furman.

Speaking from far behind, Stassen acknowledged that it would be very difficult to overcome the tremendous lead which the GOP state organization turned out for McGonigle in Philadelphia. It was this vote which was largely responsible for McGonigle's tremendous lead.

In the Pennsylvania Democratic race for the Senate, Gov. George M. Leader had buried Clarence P. Bowers by a vote of 306,001 to 98,375, in a count of 4,305 precincts. Hugh Scott led by a wide margin in the GOP senate race, 285,151 to 86,892, in 4,403 precincts.

The Maryland vote is really determined by the unit system, and on this basis D'Alesandro had won enough counties and Baltimore city legislative districts to list 78 apparent nominating unit votes in his column to 49 for Mahoney.

From a national standpoint, the most interesting question in the two state primary elections was how Stassen would fare in his bid for governor, which was opposed by the state GOP organization.

President Eisenhower, who voted at his Gettysburg home, gave no indication of his choice.

As he has done repeatedly during the last few weeks, Eisenhower said the federal government is carrying part of the load in efforts to end the recession. But he also said once more the biggest part of the task must be shouldered by private business.

In predicting recovery and in calling for a rallying of all the nation's forces to promote an early upturn, Eisenhower said: "Our economy has grown strong because our people have made jobs for each other and have not relied on the government to try to do it for them."

6 Teen-Agers Die in Crash

DENVER (AP) — Six high school boys were killed Tuesday when a sedan in which they were riding crashed at high speed into a steel marker pole at the northeast end of Denver.

Five boys were dead when officers reached the scene, four of them in the twisted wreckage and the other at the bottom of an embankment 75 feet away. The sixth died in a hospital two hours later.

Detective Sgt. Tom O'Neill estimated the southbound car was traveling at 90 miles an hour when it swerved to the left shoulder on a curve, skidded in the gravel and hit the steel pole.

All six youths were students at the suburban Adams City High School.
